In a country where the sole employer is the State, opposition means death by slow starvation. The old principle: who does not work shall not eat, has been replaced by a new one: who does not obey shall not eat.

THE INSIDERS..

A fiery near-fatal accident at Los Angeles' Ascot Stadium in 1962 ended Lloyd Corbin's championship racing career, cost him one eye and marred his face for life. Fourteen years later Corbin is on top of the world again in a "second life" and a second "championship" career. See the story in Leisuretime.

"I can't think of anything sadder than being buried in an unmarked grave." It was a deputy county coroner speaking about people who die and are never identified. They simply disappear from the face of the earth. Fortunately, it doesn't happen too often. The county coroner's office does an amazing job of identifying violent death victims, often with very little to go on. It's detective work in the most scientific sense. WRECKAGE OF SWEDISH AIRLINER SMOULDERS ON PARKING LOT NEAR APARTMENT HOUSES

Adamson Admits Bolles Slaying

2 More Arrests Made In Case

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) – John Harvey Adamson pleaded guilty to a reduced murder charge Saturday, three hours after Phoenix police arrested Max Dunlap, a contractor and land developer, and plumber James Robison on charges of murdering Arizona Republic newsman Don Bolles.

Adamson, who pleaded guilty to second degree murder, told Pima County Superior Court Judge Ben Birdsall he placed a bomb under Bolles' car June 2 in a midtown hotel parking lot.

Dunlap and Robison were arrested after Phoenix Police Detective Jon Sellers signed an affidavit detailing their part in the plot to kill the newsman, Arizona Atty. Gen. Bruce Babbitt and Al Lisanetz.

Robison and Dunlap were ordered held without bond following an initial appearance before Maricopa County Superior Court Commissioner Daniel Nastro.

"There is no appropriate bond for this offense," Nastro said. He scheduled a Jan. 24 preliminary hearing before a Superior Court judge to be appointed later.

Adamson, dressed in a white blue and brown print shirt, blue pants and dark glasses, spoke with an even voice when entering his plea.

Seller's statement said Kemper Marley, an Arizona liquor dealer, requested Dunlap to pay Adamson and Robison to kill the three men. Sellers said Adamson related he would be paid $50,000 for the slayings.

Marley has not been charged in the case.

"We want Adamson to testify to everything he knows and about everyone connected with it (the Bolles slaying)," Chief Prosecutor William Schafer III said after the court hearing.

"On the day of June 2, 1976 in the parking lot of the Clarendon Hotel, I placed a bomb containing dynamite under the vehicle of Don Bolles to be detonated at a later time with the express purpose of killing him," Adamson told Superior Court Judge Ben Birdsall.

When asked if he had anything to do with Bolles' arrival at the hotel, Adamson said, "I did sir."

Adamson stood before Birdsall, flanked by his three court-appointed attorneys to enter his plea. The attorneys declined comment after the court session, except to say they were pleased with the agreement.

The plea agreement calls for

Trouble Looms For CIA Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) – Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd said Saturday there could be "considerable difficulty" gaining Senate approval for President-elect Carter's selection of Theodore Sorensen to head the Central Intelligence Agency.

Byrd told reporters he expected the Senate to vote on confirmation of Carter cabinet choices either within hours of the time he becomes president next Thursday or on Friday.

Asked if he thought Griffin Bell, the Atlanta lawyer and former federal judge selected to be the next attorney general, would be among those confirmed, Byrd said, "As of now, I think Mr. Bell will be confirmed."

The Bell nomination has been opposed by a number of witnesses who testified during four days of hearings last week before the Senate Judiciary Committee. The Bell hearings are scheduled to continue on Monday.

Most of the testimony in opposition to Bell has centered on his role as an adviser in the 1950's to then Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia. The committee has heard conflicting testimony on whether Bell supported resistance to school

Radical Fugitives' Plan To Surrender Surfaces

MADISON, Wis. (AP) – Leaders of the radical Weather Underground, including some facing federal charges, have begun to implement a plan to give themselves up, according to statements attributed to dissident members of the clandestine group.

The fugitive activists are sought in connection with numerous acts of political sabotage, including the 1971 bombing of the U.S. Capitol. They have successfully eluded the FBI for seven years.

Dissident members of the Weather Underground, including Bernardine Dohrn, probably the best known of the fugitives, complain that the group's leadership plans to abandon violence and to concentrate on above-ground political work.

The dissidents' criticisms reveal a deep division within the organization, according to Takeover, an alternative newspaper here which will publish the statements this week. The statements, which are quietly circulating among leftists, are unusual because bickering within the supersecret group has rarely been allowed to leak out.

Texts of one of the statements and a transcript of a tape-recorded message by Miss Dohrn were obtained by The Associated Press from Takeover.

Miss Dohrn's message makes it clear that she has split from the leadership committee. She refers to the Weather Underground at one point as "the old organization," indicating the group may have broken up over the plan to "surface."

Law enforcement officials in Washington and in California, where police believe leaders of the Underground may be living, said Saturday they are aware of the split within the organization, but know nothing of plans by the leaders to give themselves up.

It was impossible to authenticate the dissidents' statements through law enforcement officials.

However, Takeover said its sources close to the Underground have confirmed the authenticity of the statements, including Miss Dohrn's message that, "I cannot say this plan (for the leaders to turn themselves in) has been stopped."

The Weather Underground is thought to number several hundred white political activists, who emerged from the antiwar movement in 1970 to create a secret group to wage "armed struggle" against government policies.

The FBI credits the group with a wide array of criminal actions, including the Capitol explosion, the 1974 blast at

Icy Airliner Crashes Near Homes; 22 Die

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) – A Swedish domestic airliner apparently crippled by accumulated ice on its wings crashed and exploded Saturday in a parking lot surrounded by homes, killing all 22 persons aboard, authorities said.

"Only a miracle saved us from being hit," said one witness who just had left his house for work.

The four-engine British Viscount chartered by Linjeflyg airline was on a flight from southern Sweden. It crashed in a densely populated residential area nine miles northwest of downtown Stockholm, showering debris in all directions.

The victims were 21 Swedes and one Finnish woman.

In another apparently weather-related crash, a small twin-engine Canadian domestic airliner crashed Friday night in a snowstorm as it approached an airport at Terrace, 450 miles north of Vancouver in British Columbia. All 12 persons aboard were killed.

The "black box" flight recorder on the Swedish plane was recovered, but experts said it probably would have to be sent to Britain for examination.

Experts theorized that the crash was caused by a heavy accumulation of ice on the plane's wings, causing the aircraft to lose its aerodynamic lift at low speeds as it approached nearby Bromma airport.

This was supported by witnesses who reported seeing the plane lose altitude and stall before diving vertically to the ground.

"I was out walking my dog when I saw the aircraft heading toward the Bromma airport on an unusually low altitude," said Rolf Aaberg, who lived nearby. "Suddenly it fell straight down, crashing

PROTESTS CONTINUE

Gilmore's Death Still Set Monday

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP) – Capital punishment opponents said Saturday it appeared unlikely they could stop convicted killer Gary Mark Gilmore's execution by firing squad at 6:49 a.m. (PDT) Monday.

"Obviously we've used our best shots," said Shirley Pedler, director of the local American Civil Liberties Union affiliate.

Attempts by the ACLU and others to have Gilmore's execution stayed by state and federal courts failed on Friday.

David T. Lewis, chief justice of the 10th U.S. Court of Appeals, upheld a decision Saturday of federal Judge Aldon Anderson who had rejected arguments Friday that Gilmore's execution would hurt others on death row.

Some 25 miles north of the state prison here, a criminologist, a state senator and opponents to the death penalty addressed a rally of about 150 people at the State Office Building.

About a dozen demonstrators picketed the rally, carrying signs reading "Execute Murderers" and "Remember the Victims."

The father of one man Gilmore is charged with killing said in a taped message that he believes in forgiveness and is glad he did not have to judge Gilmore. But David Jensen of Montpelier, Idaho, said in the recording played by a radio newsman after the rally that he wanted justice to take its course. Gilmore was convicted of another murder. He was never tried for the killing of Jensen's son.

More than a dozen religious leaders were scheduled to arrive today for services and an all-night vigil

Gilmore was described by prison officials and his attorney, Ronald Stanger, as calm and "without change or weakening" of his decision not to oppose his execution.

It would be the first death by firing squad since 1960 and the first execution in the United States in nearly a decade.

Since last Nov. 1, Gilmore has said he would not appeal his sentence of death.

There were three brief stays, by the governor, state Supreme Court and U.S. Supreme Court, called "moral cowards" by Gilmore.

Appeals by attorneys representing Gilmore's invalid mother were rejected in November and December

Cyanide Found In Soviet Water

MOSCOW (AP) – Potentially harmful amounts of cyanide and mercury have been detected in the water supply of two Moscow apartment compounds housing American diplomats and other foreigners, the U.S. Embassy said Saturday.

The toxic substances presumably come from nearby industrial pollution, an embassy spokesman said, adding that the Soviets have been requested to correct the problem.

Seven American families, out of about 250 in Moscow, live in the two affected compounds, along with many other foreigners, including Eastern Europeans. All foreigners here are assigned apartments in specially guarded compounds by the Soviet government.

The Americans in the two buildings have been advised not to drink the water at all, the spokesman said.

In an administrative memorandum circulated to American personnel, the embassy doctor said the measured amounts of cyanide and mercury would have to remain at the same levels for six months to prove harmful to persons drinking the water.

The memo also said the doctor so far had found "no clinical illnesses" that could be linked with the toxic substances.

The water report followed another medical notice issued Jan. 4 saying that one out of every three U.S. Embassy personnel tested had abnormally high white blood cell counts.

The Jan. 4 notice said the cause of the higher counts of lymphocytes, one type of

RUSSIANS ESCHEW PRIDE, START GUM FACTORIES

MOSCOW (AP) – Chewing gum, that old symbol of Western decadence, has at last gone into production in the Soviet Union.

The first Soviet-made gum appeared in stores in Armenia and Estonia at the start of the year, and another gum factory will open in Moscow in 1978, the newspaper Moskovsky Komsomolets said Saturday.

This year's production will be just two tons, but the newspaper said technicians are hard at work building more gum-making machines.

The small initial production of Soviet gum, sold in brightly colored packets, has had no effect yet on the clusters of Russian boys who follow Westerners about, as they have for decades, asking for chewing gum.

The boys still gather near hotels and tourist sites begging for gum or offering to trade traditional Russian lapel pins for it.

Convention Center TV Taping Will Aid Register Charities

Register readers will have a chance to contribute to The Register Charities and at the same time enjoy the taping of a star-studded television special to be shown on NBC this spring.

The taping will take place in Anaheim Convention Center at 8 p.m. Jan. 28.

The show will be another form of the "Almost Anything Goes" format on ABC last summer, and the "Junior Almost Anything Goes" show on the same network on Sundays.

The special will be called "All-Star Almost Anything Goes" and will feature two teams of four personalities each competing in events.

Sam Riddle, one-time top disc jockey in the Southland and now a producer for Bob Banner Associates, will produce the special.

Riddle says the stars competing in the special will come from the entertainment, sports and music worlds, with two men and two women on each four-person team.

The program is intended for prime-time on NBC with emphasis on family audience so it is hoped the taping audience will be made of families.

Cost of tickets for the event will be only $1 each, with half of the price going to The Register Charities. Tickets can be purchased at the Anaheim Convention Center box offices from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

OC Informant Target Of Probes

Police Embraced Gene Conrad As 'In' To Organized Crime

By JOHN O'DELL, JOE CORDERO
Register Staff Writers

Secret informant M-19 was "hot property" for Orange County law enforcement.

He was figuratively being embraced by the intelligence community while publicly being hugged by Lou "The Taylor" Rosanova, Eastern organized crime kingpin.

Within law enforcement he was known as either M-19 or "Glen Edwards." He was an informant for the county district attorney's office.

The informant now is the subject of major investigations by the FBI, the U.S. Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, a federal grand jury and the Orange County District Attorney's office.

On the street he was known as Rocky DeRosa, R.E. DeRosa and other aliases.

To the general public he is known as Eugene "Gene" C. Conrad.

However, upon birth, Feb. 26, 1934 in St. Joseph's Hospital, Chicago, he was Eugene Chester Grillo.

Approximately 18 years later in a Cook County, Ill., courthouse he legally changed his name to Conrad, assuming his stepfather's name. His mother had remarried following the death of her first husband.

Conrad became a public name in Orange County Jan. 5 when his attorney filed a $170 million federal civil rights suit against the administration of the county district attorney's office.

The suit alleges that Dist. Atty. Cecil Hicks, Assistant Dist. Atty. Michael Capizzi and John Gier, head of the office's organized crime-grand jury section, violated federal wire tapping laws by bugging Conrad's telephone.

Hicks, Capizzi and Gier have characterized the suit as "silly" and without factual basis.

Conrad's only previous public exposure came last year when he testified for the defense in the trial of former supervisor Robert Battin.

During that trial Conrad revealed himself as a past informant for law enforcement.

Conrad's career as an informant with self-proclaimed organized crime ties can be traced back to midyear 1971 when he met with district attorney's investigators in a private room at the Holiday Inn, Orange.

What followed was a four-year period in which Conrad – now called a double agent by law enforcement – was sought by most major police agencies in the county as an "in" to organized crime.

His falling out with law enforcement came in 1975, following his prosecution by the district attorney's office for issuing checks without sufficient funds and for taking an automobile without permission, both felonies.

integration or advised compliance with federal court orders to end segregation.

Byrd said that "as of now," he would vote to confirm Bell, but that he reserved final judgment until he has time to review the transcript of the Judiciary Committee hearings.

Then the majority leader said he thought the Sorensen nomination was "in a more difficult status" than that of Bell.

Hearings on Sorensen, a former top White House aide to John F. Kennedy and now a New York lawyer, are scheduled to begin on Monday before the Senate Intelligence Committee.

Asked if he was willing to say that "as of now" he would vote to confirm Sorensen, Byrd replied, "No, I wouldn't be willing to say that."

The Sorensen appointment drew quick criticism in the Senate. Sens. Robert Dole, R-Kan., and Robert Morgan, D-N.C., expressed misgivings because of what they called Sorensen's "pacifist background" which they said rendered him unfit to run the intelligence agency.

Morgan, who was a member of the special Senate committee that investigated allegations of CIA wrongdoing, said Sorensen also would face opposition as a result of his role in the Kennedy administration "during the period in which the CIA hatched plots to assassinate foreign leaders."

Sorensen told the Senate committee last year he was certain Kennedy knew nothing of the assassination plots.

There also were reports that members of the new Senate Intelligence Committee, formed after the special panel completed its investigation, have been given a transcript of testimony Sorenson gave at the trial of Daniel Ellsberg in which Sorensen said he had used classified White House material in the writing of his book on the Kennedy administration.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., when asked about the report and whether it might damage Sorensen's chances, said, "that may be one of the problems." Thurmond, a member of the Intelligence Committee, said the nomination "may be in trouble."

Plane Crash

on a parking lot between houses.

"When I arrived at the scene, flames already licked the nearest houses. They were scorched brown by the fire and smoke. It was a miracle that nobody was injured on the ground. Aircraft pieces were flying all around."

Debris landed on rooftops and in gardens of the two-story suburban houses.

"There was no sign of life from the burning plane. Nobody could have survived the terrible heat," said another witness, Nils Forsberg.

Officials said that among the victims was Hans Alser, a Swedish former world doubles champion at table tennis who quit as coach of West Germany's national team three years ago.

It was the second deadliest air crash in Swedish history. In November 1964 another Linjeflyg flight crashed shortly before its scheduled landing at Angelholm in southern Sweden, killing 31 persons.

Anais Nin, Author, Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) – Author Anais Nin, best known for her diaries and sensitive works exploring the woman's point of view of life, has died at the age of 74, a hospital spokesman said Saturday.

He said the author died at Cedars-Sinai Hospital here just before midnight Friday, adding the family declined to release any information about her illness.

Funeral services were pending.

Ms. Nin gained recognition for her series of diaries, which she began in childhood and continued throughout her life. Excerpts were eventually published as a six-volume "The Diaries of Anais Nin."

She was a writer who detailed feelings of feminine independence with sympathy and candor.

Born in Paris, France in 1903, Ms. Nin began writing at age 11, when she came to New York. She dropped out of school at age 15. She studied psychoanalysis under Otto Rank in the 1930s.

Exorcism Death May Be Accident

MOUNT HOLLY, N.J. (AP) – The death of a Brooklyn, N.Y., woman during an apparent exorcism rite on the New Jersey Turnpike now appears to be accidental, authorities say.

They have lowered bail for the woman's mother, charged in the case.

"It is beginning to look more like an accident than criminal negligence," said Asst. Burlington County Prosecutor Thomas McCormick.

McCormick said new evidence gathered by New Jersey detectives in Monks Corner, S.C., last week shows the death of Catherine E. Council, 21, last Sunday probably was the result of actions by "well meaning" people.

He said bail for Inez E. Council, 37, was reduced from $15,000 to $2,500 after detectives returned from South Carolina with the results of their investigation.

Sniper Guilty Of Slaying 3

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) – A jury has found Michael R. Soles guilty of killing three persons and wounding seven others with sniper fire, rejecting the defense contention that he was insane at the time.

Soles, 19, of Sand Springs, Okla., was found guilty of three counts of first-degree murder, all of which carry mandatory life sentences.

The Sedgwick County District Court jury also found him guilty of aggravated burglary, seven counts of aggravated battery and one count of aggravated assault on a law enforcement officer.

Soles pleaded innocent by reason of insanity, and the defense claimed he was in a trance-like state when a sniper fired 40 to 50 shots during a 15-minute span from the 26th floor of a downtown Wichita hotel last Aug. 11. The prosecution said that Soles had conducted a conscious "war against society."

CIA Critic's Hearing Delayed

LONDON (AP) – CIA critic Philip Agee has won a 20-day breathing space in his fight to avoid deportation from Britain on security grounds.

A three-man panel hearing the American's case adjourned Friday until Feb. 3 to allow him to bring six new witnesses from the United States. Agee refused to tell reporters who the six witnesses would be, or to give any information about them.

The 41-year-old Agee, a former Central Intelligence Agency operative who quit in disillusion, says he has been given no details of why the government wants to expel him on security grounds.

Agee lives in the English university town of Cambridge with his wife and children. He is working on his second anti-CIA book.

Czech Playwright Arrested

VIENNA, Austria (AP) – Vaclav Havel, a prominent Czechoslovak playwright who was among the signers of the human rights manifesto "Charter 77," has been arrested in Prague, his wife said Saturday.

Mrs. Havel said by telephone from the Czechoslovak capital that her husband was taken in for questioning Friday morning and she was told later he had been arrested. She said no reason for the arrest was given.

On Friday, informed sources in Prague said former liberal journalist Jiri Lederer also has been arrested. Authorities did not say what the charges were against him either.

The two arrests followed a week of persistent interrogation of at least 20 signers of the manifesto, an initative sponsored by well-known writers and intellectuals. Sources claim at least 300 people, including many workers and technicians, have signed the document.

a prison sentence of 48 to 49 years, but through good behavior and other conditions, Adamson would have to serve a minimum of 20 years and two months.

Birdsall did not accept the sentence portion of the agreement, saying he wanted to review that at a sentencing hearing Wednesday.

Adamson said he also arranged with an unnamed person to have the explosion occur when Bolles returned to his car.

Bolles had gone to the hotel to meet Adamson about a reported news tip involving several prominent Arizonans and a land deal. Adamson did not appear at the hotel, but telephoned Bolles there to cancel the appointment. Bolles was returning to the Arizona Legislature when the explosion occurred.

Seller's affidavit said Adamson purchased a radio control transmitter and receiver in San Diego, Calif., in April 1976. After testing the equipment, Sellers said "Robison took the same from the immediate possession of John Harvey Adamson for purposes of constructing a complete destructive device, that is, a bomb."

Seller's statement said Adamson met Dunlap outside the office of Phoenix attorney Neal Roberts about two hours before Bolles was injured. Adamson, Sellers said, told Dunlap that Bolles would be at the hotel about 11:30 a.m. and it would "be all over shortly thereafter." Police said the explosion occured about 11:35 a.m.

Schafer said it was his decision to arrange the plea bargain agreement, because Babbitt said it was his case.

Gov. Raul Castro took the case away from then interim Maricopa County Atty. Donald Harris in October after Superior Court Judge Frederic Heineman called a mistrial. The action came because of statements by Harris on the case and massive pretrial publicity.

Castro ordered Babbitt to handle the prosecution and he, in turn, turned over the job to Schafer, his chief deputy.

The Arizona Supreme Court ordered the case moved to Tucson after Heineman's action, also listing massive publicity as a reason.

As part of the plea agreement, Adamson will testify against all other persons arrested in connection with Bolles death. "The agreement said Adamson will also testify about "any offers alleged to have been tendered by any officer of the Maricopa County Attorney and specifically Donald Harris which were made without authority."

The defense denied in the agreement that Harris had made Adamson a firm offer of a 10-year prison term if he pleaded guilty.

Schafer said Adamson would probably serve the sentence outside of Arizona, but he did not disclose what state.

Harris was appointed county attorney in August after Moise Berger resigned to assume a California teaching post. Charles Hyder was elected county attorney in the November election, and succeeded Harris Jan. 1.

Schafer said the plea bargain arrangement was under negotiation before the trial was moved to Tucson in late December. He said the final agreement was reached early Friday.

Birdsall had started jury selection on Dec. 30. He was expected to select the final four members of a 37-member panel Saturday morning and after reducing the panel to 12 members, begin hearing testimony Monday.

Babbitt said Adamson also agreed to cooperate in the prosecutions of Robison and Stan Tanner, a Glendale, Ariz., rancher, in connection with an unrelated beating of a Phoenix talent booking agent at a Scottsdale hotel in 1975.

The attorney general said Adamson also agreed to cooperate with other prosecutions "which can't be revealed yet."

Babbitt declined comment on when he first learned he was a target in the death plot. He added, "I hope I have been enforcing the law with vigor."

Robison was arrested Friday morning at a Phoenix construction site and Dunlap at his home.

Police Capt. Don Losier said the two were booked into the Maricopa County Jail on first degree murder charges. He said neither made statements.

Losier declined any comment on the arrests and refused to answer any questions.

Seller's said in his affidavit the plot against Babbitt, Bolles and Lisanetz began in March 1976 when Dunlap met with Adamson outside Roberts office and requested the slaying of Babbitt. A short time later a request was made for the slaying of Lisantez, Sellers said.

Details on why Lisanetz was an alleged target were not revealed. He is a former employe of Marley, 70, and for the past five years had been visiting state legislators often with statements about alleged wrongdoings on the part of Marley and his associates.

Lisanetz adopted the pen name "King Alphonso" in the many letters and news releases he issued.

Sellers said during a subsequent talk between Adamson and Dunlap, Dunlap said Marley wanted Bolles killed as a result of the newsman's giving Marley "a bad time over the Arizona Racing Commission."

Marley was not available for comment.

Arizona Gov. Raul Castro nominated Marley to racing commission in January 1976. Marley was Castro's largest campaign contributor in his 1974 election. The appointment was confirmed by the Arizona Senate even though their judiciary committee had recommended against it.

Marley resigned seven days later after Bolles wrote a series of stories noting he had been charged and acquitted of grand theft while an Arizona highway commissioner in the 1940s. He was also accused of financial mismanagement while a member of the Arizona State Fair Commission, but later cleared.

Seller's statement said when Adamson returned from San Diego with the remote control devices, he and Robison met to test them, and on June 1 Robison gave Adamson a "complete and electronically charged bomb."

Sellers said Adamson and Robison met the morning of June 2 at the hotel parking lot about 20 minutes before Bolles was injured. After Bolles arrived, Adamson "placed the bomb, complete with remote control receiver under the floor board on the driver's side," the affidavit said.

Then Adamson left the hotel and approached Robison, who was nearby with a remote control transmitter. Adamson told Robison they would meet shortly at a cocktail lounge, Sellers said.

When Adamson reached the cocktail lounge, he called the hotel and told Bolles he would be unable to keep the appointment with the newsman.

A short time later Adamson received a telephone call at the cocktail lounge from Robison, Sellers said, and Adamson asked Robison if "it" was done, and Robison said "eyeball to eyeball."

Sellers said on or about June 10 Adamson and Dunlap met in the office of Phoenix attorney Tom Foster, where Dunlap gave Adamson about $5,600 in cash.

Neither Dunlap or Robison would comment following their arrests. A sheriff's department spokesman said the two men were placed in separate cells in an area away from other prisoners.

Dunlap is married and has seven children. Robison testified in an earlier hearing in connection with the beating charges charges that he had lived in Arizona six years and had two children.

During past questioning of the two men, each denied any connection with the Bolles murder but said each new Adamson.

Testimony during a pretrial hearing on the Adamson case revealed Dunlap had taken two lie detector exams in connection with the Bolles death. Police said Bunlap was untruthful throughout the tests, even though he asserted he was telling the truth.

Bolles died June 13 after doctors amuptated both legs and an arm in an effort to save his life.

The reporter, who wrote frequently about land fraud, was married and had seven children. The newspaper posted a $25,000 reward following the explosion.

FORD LOST PRESIDENCY, BUT GERALD LOST LIFE

GARDEN GROVE – It may be that Gerald just didn't have anything to live for after the November presidential election.

Whatever the reason, Marsh Farms' pet baby ostrich Gerald died Friday after a lingering illness.

He was hatched the night President Gerald Ford won the Republican nomination in Kansas City, Mo., in August.

"It's just like losing one of your kids," said Pat Ridens, public relations officer for the game bird farm.

"He rode down to San Diego with me once in the front seat," he said. "He'd lean his head on your shoulder and peck at your glasses as you drove. He'll be missed."

Ridens said the farm management was unsure if Gerald's death, apparently from lead poisoning, was accidental, deliberate, or suicide.

Carter Announces Choice Of 13 White House Aides

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) – President-elect Carter has made known the names of 13 top aides who will assist him in the White House. Six are Georgians and only one did not work in Carter's presidential campaign.

The names were announced by Carter Press Secretary Jody Powell who said it is intended that all will have equal access to Carter and that each will be expected to deal with his own area of responsibility without direct supervision from any chief of staff.

Powell said also that Carter intends to keep his promise to reduce substantially the total number of White House staff members and that he will do that before Inauguration Day, Jan. 20.

In general, the White House staff will be organized along the "spokes of the wheel" concept which Carter used as governor of Georgia.

"The point of a management set up like this one is that you do not impede other staffers of equal rank in getting to the President," Powell said.

"One of the things that is required for a system like this to operate is that those who do have access be judicious in its use and be secure enough in their own positions not to need to be around the President just to gratify their own egos," he said.

Powell said he believed the White House team named by Carter has that quality of restraint.

In a separate development Carter also announced the nominations of a number of persons to fill high-level slots in the State and Commerce Departments.

The nominations include those of two former members of Congress and of a black woman who had been the State Department's highest-ranking woman official until she was fired by President Ford in 1975.

Until Friday, Powell was the only White House staff member to have been announced officially. He will be White House Press Secretary.

The others are:

–Robert J. Lipshutz, 55, a prominent Atlanta attorney who will be counsel to the President. Lipshutz was treasurer of the Carter campaign.

–Margaret "Midge" Costanza, 44, vice mayor of Rochester, N.Y., and co-chairperson of Carter's New York state campaign, who will be assistant to the President in charge of contact with citizen groups.

–Frank Moore, 41, who was Carter's liason to the Georgia state legislature when he was governor and who will serve as President Carter's liason with Congress. He was southern coordinator of the campaign until midsummer last year and then set up a liason office with the Senate and House.

–Hamilton Jordan, 32, who has been associated with Carter since 1966 and who was his campaign director, will be assistant to the President to "act primarily in the area of political advice and activity." Powell said that Jordan "would be to some extent" Carter's administrative assistant.

– Jack H. Watson, Jr., 38, who directed planning for the Carter administration throughout the fall campaign and who is coordinator of the Carter-Mondale transition planning group, to be assistant to the President for intergovernmental relations, including liason with big city mayors, and Cabinet secretary.

– Stuart Eizenstat, 33, Carter's campaign issues director and a principal author of the Democratic platform, to be assistant to the President for domestic affairs and policy. Eizenstat has been issues adviser to Carter since his 1970 campaign for governor.

Carter also announced the following appointments as special assistants: Tim Kraft, 35, director of field operation for the Carter campaign and political co-ordinator for the transition to be appointment secretary; Jim King, 41, who took a leave of absence as director of community affairs and marketing of the Masssachusetts Bay Transportation Authority to be campaign trip director, will be White House personnel chief; Martha "Bunny" Mitchell, 36, a black who is director of the information services division of the Drug Abuse Council and the only non-campaign staffer, to be special projects director.

Also, Joseph W. Aragon, 35, director of voter registration and get out the vote efforts for the Democratic National Committee to be White House ombudsman; Madeline MacBean, Mrs. Rosalynn Carter's campaign scheduling officer, to be assistant to Mrs. Carters, and Dr. Peter Bourne, 37, a longtime Carter worker and drug abuse and mental health expert, to be special assistant to the President on mental health and drug abuse.

Powell said Carter still intends to appoint a special assistant to deal with the problems of the elderly.

The list of 13 top aides includes only three women and one black.

Powell, who said the second ranking White House staff members will include substantially more minority group members, invited a comparison of the percentages with that of previous administrations.

Cyanide

white blood cells, had not been determined. A State Department medical consultant, Dr. Herbert B. Pollack, commented later that the cause might be some kind of viral agent or parasite transmitted in the water supply.

Neither the cyanide-mercury problem with the water supply nor the elevated blood cell counts have been linked by officials with the Soviets' irradiation of the embassy with microwave beams.

The drinking water tests, required by the State Department in all countries where American diplomats live, were conducted in December and will be repeated periodically, it was reported.

The embassy memo said the level of cyanide in one residential block was 250 per cent higher than recommended standards set by the World Health Organization – WHO.

In the other compound, the level of mercury was 35 per cent higher than the safety ceiling set by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the memo said.

Nine residential compounds housing U.S. diplomats were checked. Altogether there are about 17 residential areas for foreigners scattered throughout the capital.

According to the embassy memo, water samples in one building showed 0.5 milligrams of cyanide per liter, exceeding the World Health Organization recommended standard of 0.2 milligrams per liter.

In the other building, the notice said, the water tests showed 0.0027 milligrams of mercury per liter, exceeding the EPA standard of 0.0020 milligrams per liter.

Dr. Pollack, reached by telephone Saturday at his home in the Washington area, stressed that the findings cited in the memo were based on a single sampling from each of the Moscow buildings. The State Department is in the process of repeating the tests to check the results, he said.

Pollack said he thought the levels "could very well be due to sample contamination."

Fugitives

Gulf Oil headquarters in Pittsburgh and the 1970 prison escape of former drug guru Timothy Leary. At one time, several of the leaders of the group were on the FBI "Ten Most Wanted" list.

It was not known whether members of the leadership committee, now minus Miss Dohrn, still plan to give themselves up.

Others in the leadership group are Jeff Jones and William Ayres and two unidentified persons going under the names of Joe Reed and Celia Sojourn.

Ayres faces no federal warrants, but Jones is wanted on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Sources said the dissidents' statements were being circulated outside the Underground probably as an effort to stop the "surfacing" operation.

The question of using political violence apparently lies at the center of the group's internal controversy.

In a statement dated Nov. 20, 1976, which was reportedly circulated at secret meetings in California and New York, the dissidents charged the leadership committee had "abandoned their revolutionary principles and directions" and had eliminated "the political basis of many members' original commitments – support for black liberation, Vietnam and armed struggle."

The leadership group, known as the Weather Underground Central Committee, has not responded to the November statement, sources said.

The dissidents call themselves the "Revolutionary Committee." It was impossible to learn who the dissidents are or how many members of the Underground they represent.

According to the dissidents' statements, Jeff Jones in 1975 hatched a plan to begin surfacing the organization. They said Jones called the strategy "inversion," to describe the process of emerging from fugitive life.

The theory behind the strategy was apparently Jones' belief, adopted by the leadership committee, that the group would be better able to enlist other radicals if they were organized into an aboveground group.

"The original plan to surface two members of the Central Committee to lead the inversion was rejected that summer (1975)," said the dissidents. "It was thought that two people would be ineffective so the concept was broadened, probably to involve the entire five-person leadership group and possibly the entire group.

"From the fall of 1975, this plan was put into practice without the knowledge of most members," said the dissidents' statements. "Lawyers were organized to prepare legal defense. The film "Underground" (released last year) was planned as both a means to sanitize the image of the organization and to raise money for legal defense: new organizational bases were set up from which to surface."

Russian Gum

The chewing of "zhevatelnaya ryezinka" – literally chewing-rubber – has long been considered an "uncultured" American vice. Customs inspectors have been known to confiscate it, and newspapers have lectured their readers about the bad habit.

But Saturday's newspaper story praised the new gum as "colorfully decorated and good tasting and ... good for the human organism." It referred to "medical workers" who have recommended gum for cleaning teeth, freshening the breath and helping people to stop smoking.

The Soviet Union did not rush into the gum business without careful research, according to A. I. Gusakov, chief of the department of confectionerles of the Ministry of Food Industries.

The new product underwent several years of experiments involving smell, taste and oral hygiene, Gusakov said.

Tests also were conducted at the toxicology department of the All-Union Scientific Research Institute of Medical Equipment, the article said. When the chief of that department gave his approval, the gum was fed to guinea pigs.

Last year gum was finally approved for chewing by the Soviet people. "And soon," said the Soviet newspaper, "it will become as familiar a part of our daily life as candy."

The price of the gum being sold in Armenia and Estonia was not known. American chewing gum, sold only to foreigners in tourist stores, costs 26 cents for a seven-stick pack. But Russian children who manage to obtain American gum have been known to sell it for as much as 75 cents a stick—more than $5 a pack.

Accident Cuts YL Gas Line; 200 Evacuated

PLACENTIA – Some 200 residents threatened by gas fumes were evacuated from their apartment building for 90 minutes early Saturday morning after a motorist, charged with drunk driving, jumped the curb and struck the gas meter at 1010 E. Yorba Blvd., police said.

Police arrested Mark DeWayne Coss, 36, of 207 San Carlos, a resident here after his car collided with a parked car, a wall and the apartment sign before hitting the gas line, police said.

Coss did not suffer serious injuries, but residents were forced out of their apartments from 12:42 to 2:20 a.m. until emergency crews could make repairs, police said.

Drug Informer Use Under New Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) – Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi announced on Saturday new restrictions on the use of informers in federal narcotics investigations.

Levi made public a 15-page set of guidelines he has ordered into effect at the Drug Enforcement Administration. The Justice Department rules were issued Dec. 28 and will be fully in force on Jan. 31, he said.

The rules spell out the procedures for DEA supervisors to conduct frequent reviews of the activities of each informer, require the agency to notify local authorities when an informer commits a crime and require an investigation of the informer's background before he is used for a lengthy period.

In addition, the guidelines require DEA officials to make frequent reports to federal prosecutors about the progress of narcotics investigations. This requirement is designed to make prosecutions more effective by involving U.S. attorneys in investigations from the beginning.

In some respects, the guidelines are similar to those Levi recently imposed on the FBI in its use of informers. But the DEA rules are spelled out in greater detail.

The rules were drafted by a department committee which included a DEA representative.

"The guidelines are an important part of our effort to achieve federal drug enforcement which is as fair and ef-

OC Airport Noise Rule Could Cost $21 Million

By SANDI MOSLEY
Register Staff Writer

SANTA ANA – Cutting out more than four-fifths of the flights now leaving Orange County Airport daily would still not reduce noise levels to comply with state standards.

If the county wants to continue present operations or expand the airport, taxpayers may be faced with a bill as high as $21 million to satisfy noise requirements.

Those were among the conclusions of the long-awaited, four-inch-thick "Environmental Impact Report for Orange County Airport Alternative Futures," turned over Friday to county supervisors.

Cutbacks in air traffic calculated by consultants Daniel, Mann, Johnson and Mendenhall would leave as many as 88 homes, or 246 people, under higher-than-allowed noise levels.

But, the consultants said, compliance with state law would be easier and more immediate under that plan, requiring only an extension of the runway 750 feet to the north to get aircraft off the ground sooner and higher when they pass over Newport Beach.

If the airport continued to be operated at currently allowed levels or the number of flights expanded, the county would have to buy out homeowners in high-noise areas, soundproof their homes or buy "air easements" to allow jet flyovers to meet state standards.

Under the existing flight level, more than 2,000 persons are subjected to noise higher than 65 CNEL (community noise equivalent level), an average noise rating.

If the county were required to buy out all of the homeowners, the price of their 693 homes could range from $16 billion to $21.6 million.

Buying easements, or the right to fly uncontested over the homes, would cost about $6,000 per home, the consultants figured. Soundproofing, they said, could cost as much as $5.5 million.

The consultants concluded the cost of implementing those measures may be "considered prohibitive."

The county received $613,382 in revenues from the airport in 1974 and under current trends, will receive $1,053,795 by 1985.

The calculated reduction of airport use would mean loss of 512 area jobs with an annual $5.6 million payroll, the report said.

The consultants warned Air California might pull out in that case because the reductions would "threaten its survival as an intrastate air carrier."

Expanding airport use could mean 460 more jobs by 1980 and an increase in local goods and services generated by air passengers of $3.3 million by 1980.

No matter how many flights are allowed out of the airport, the chance of accidents causing injury to airport area residents is considered "remote," according to the report.

The probability of a mid-air collision would come once out of 5 million flights, based on airport history, the report said.

The airport currently causes less than half of one per cent of the county's air pollution, the report added, and the facility is likely to be

Oil Price Hike Move Backfires

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) – Hard-line Persian Gulf countries that boosted their oil prices 10 per cent Jan. 1 to squeeze more money from the West are finding their strategy has backfired.

Competition from cheaper rates and lower demand caused by huge oil stockpiles has driven down their export volume and cut sharply into their revenues.

As a result, Iraq is reported seeking a special meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries – OPEC – on oil prices and Iran is trimming its budget to reflect a 38 per cent drop in purchases of Iranian oil.

Oil Ministry officials in Kuwait have been quoted as saying Western oil companies are proposing a similar big reduction in the amount of Kuwaiti oil bought for export.

Kuwait, with holdings abroad estimated at $18 billion, can absorb the revenue decline without serious problems. But Iran and Iraq are spending furiously on ambitious development programs and can ill afford a falloff in income.

Obviously disturbed, Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi of Iran warned in an interview last week he will blacklist oil companies that break contracts with Iran to buy oil from lower-priced sources.

The official Iraqi newspaper Al Thawra accused the United States "and other capitalist countries" of fomenting the troubles to deprive the Arabs of the oil weapon "in the County Funds Cut Off; Alcoholics Lose Home

By STEVE EDDY
Register Staff Writer

GARDEN GROVE – "When we were drunk, we didn't have to worry. But now that we're finally sober, we're getting kicked out."

A group of middle-aged alcoholics sipped coffee Friday and reflected on the sudden closing of the "recovery home" where they have been living.

Lack of funds forced closure of three residences on Lorna Street and one on Acacia Avenue, and caused about 40 men to find alternate places to sleep and stay "dried out."

"It just happened all of a sudden," said one of the men. "I don't know where I'm going to sleep tonight. We're just getting shuttled around by the bureaucrats. They care more about their paperwork than people's lifes."

Mac Siddons, administrator of South Coast Counseling and Recovery Homes, said the county welfare department informed him earlier in the week that general assistance welfare payments would no longer be available for support of the non-profit group's "clients."

"It's definitely a setback for all these individuals," said Siddons. "We'll try to place these men in other recovery homes or in other facilities as best we can. But I just don't know where some of them are going."

Facilities operated by the group in Santa Ana and on nearby Josephine Street in Garden Grove will remain open, he said, because clients there are self-supporting and do not require welfare payments.

The Acacia Avenue house that closed is a "detox" center, where clients are drunk when they come in the door. They go through detoxification and are later supposed to be transferred to the long-term recovery program.

"We couldn't get a contract with the county," said Siddons. "They have developed a new procedure. They procrastinated on our request since July. They simply haven't included our home in their plans."

Siddons said the South Coast organization's facilities have been offering room and board and an "educational program" for about a year. Meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous were held on the premises.

He said facilities are "extremely limited" in the county.

"At least 95 per cent of these men are employable," said Siddons. "All they need is a chance. Most walk away from here sober."

He said welfare officials were "fantastic" when the program first got under way, "But a bunch of officials set up procedures, where things used to be informal. It's the little guy on the bottom who gets hurt first."

Marie Quirk, head of the county's Alcoholism Services Administration, a part of the Orange County Mental Health Dept., summed up the problem this way:

"The organization has not exhibited good financial practices. As a matter of fact, they might even have broken the law."

She said county welfare – the Department of Social Services – has been paying the outfit general relief money to be used in support of the clients.

The payments were based on verification of the prospective clients' condition and inability to support themselves provided through examinations by the Alcoholism Services Administration, she said.

"To help them (Siddons and South Coast head Jack Callanan) out, we were willing to write letters to the social services office.

"But when the clients stopped showing up at the home, the welfare people were not notified. They continued to send the relief money."

She said Social Services officials sent her a memo detailing the situation and she in turn informed Callanan last week that her agency would no longer be able to write the verification letters.

"My office simply cannot be involved in something that appears to be dishonest," said Ms. Quirk.

She said other such facilities in the county are under contract with the administration and receive funding, 90 per cent of which comes from the state.

She said contract homes must be licensed, have insurance, be safe from fire, have admission and discharge policies, not allow drinking, and must have a trained staff, and "a definite series of treatment activities."

"South Coast Counseling and Recovery Homes are deficient in a number of these criteria," she said.

She said the administration contracts with seven homes, "and they're really doing a

Diamond Lane Reinstatement Effort Halted

LOS ANGELES (AP) – State and federal officials have decided to stop efforts to reinstate the Santa Monica Freeway Diamond Lane experiment.

The California Department of Transportation has decided not to appeal U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne's Aug. 12 ruling temporarily halting the experiment. On Friday Bryne approved a stipulation by Caltrans lawyers and the federal Urban Mass Transportation Administration, which earlier had decided not to press for reinstatement of the project.

"The federal government decided not to pursue the appeal" said Joseph Montoya, Caltrans' Chief Los Angeles attorney. "Without its participation, there was no merit in Caltrans proceeding alone."

The decision to scrap an appeal to the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals was made by Caltrans Chief Adriana Gianturco, said Montoya.

It was Ms. Gianturco who had pressed to continue the project for five months, starting in March, despite vocal protest from commuters, who objected to reserving the lefthand lane along 12.5 miles of the busy freeway for carpools and buses.

Byrne ordered the project shut down after a 13-day trial until proper environmental impact reports and studies were completed. Proponents of the Diamond Lane had contended that such reports were unnecessary.

FREED TERROR SUSPECT SAYS HE WOULD TESTIFY

PARIS (AP) – Palestinian leader Abu Daoud said Saturday he is willing to testify before a West German court on his innocence in the Munich Olympics massacre. But he said his safety must be guaranteed and arrangements must be made through the Palestine Liberation Organization.

There was no immediate reaction from West Germany or Israel, both of which had asked France to hold Daoud for possible extradition after he was arrested in Paris more than a week ago. A French court, after deliberating for 20 minutes, rejected those countries' requests and freed Daoud last Tuesday. He was flown immediately to Algiers.

German police say they have proof Daoud was at the hotel used by Palestinian raiders just before they launched the 1972 attack in which 11 Israeli Olympics athletes were killed. They said the warrant that led to Daoud's arrest in Paris was based on this evidence.

"I am innocent and I think the charges against me are a fabrication invented by the Israelis and the Zionists," Daoud said.

"I want to go to Germany to show the world I am innocent," he said.

CUT YOUR OWN TAXES—8

Home Office Tax Credits Slashed

By Ray De Crane

Probably because of the many abuses of this deduction in the past, the office-in-the-home deduction has been destroyed for most taxpayers by the Tax Reform Act.

Under the stringent new rules in effect for all of 1976, the portion of a home used as an office must be used EXCLUSIVELY and on A REGULAR BASIS as a principal place of business or as a place to meet with patients, clients or customers in the normal course of business. This exclusive use, furthermore, must be for the convenience of the employer, not the employe.

For the first time, there is also a gross-income limit. The deduction is limited to the income generated by the business activity of the taxpayer in his home. This ends the claiming of $1,500 as an office-in-the-home deduction when only $900 of income is produced there.

As a further blow to salesmen and manufacturers' representatives who have been claiming a deduction for space in the home or garage used for storing their wares for delivery, the new rules say this is allowable only if the home is the sole fixed location of the business.

Exclusively implies that the office space may be used for no other purpose, such as a family room, TV room, den or bedroom by other family members.

The regular-basis test rules out the infrequent or occasional use of the space for business purposes.

The claiming of the office-in-the-home deduction this year could trigger an immediate inquiry from IRS. But if you have a "moon lighting" job that produces income solely from a home office, or if you are a traveling salesman who must use such space simply because no other office is provided by your employer, make the claim but be prepared for a challenge.

Mom, 4 Girls Killed In Fire

BEACON, N.Y. (AP) – A 37-year-old woman and her four daughters were killed Saturday when fire swept the family's two-story, wood frame home.

Frank A. Piccone Sr., 39, and his son Joseph, 14, escaped, but his wife, Mary, died along with their four daughters – Deborah, Mary Lou, Nancy and Susan, police said.

A second son, Frank III, 19, was away from home Friday night.

Police said Mrs. Piccone's daughters ranged in age from about 8 to about 18.

Flames soared through the roof of the home while firemen removed the bodies of the five victims.

Fingerprint Breakthrough Helping Probers In Field

By DARRELL MORROW
Knight News Wire

GREAT BEND, Kan. – A practical technique to lift fingerprints from human skin has been developed by a forensic chemist at the Kansas Bureau of Investigation.

Steve Couch, 28, who developed the process, said it is believed to be the first successful method adaptable for field use by law enforcement officers.

Couch, who was a Sedgwick County (Wichita) sheriff's detective and laboratory investigator for two years, began developing the new method for lifting fingerprints shortly after he joined the KBI in 1975.

"This should be especially useful for getting prints from victims in rape cases and children in child abuse cases," Couch said. "So far, in the research I have done, you've got between 1 1/2 and two hours to remove the prints. On a dead victim, up to 105 hours."

Couch said he first used the process in a murder investigation last April. He removed fingerprints from the forearm and stomach of the victim, but could not identify them because of smudging.

"We haven't actually made a case from prints off human skin, but I think we will," Couch added. "It is just a matter of getting to the scene of the crime at the right time. Climatic conditions are going to have a great effect on fingerprints. Heat, sun or wind dehydration are adverse to the preservation of fingerprints."

Couch's method of transferring fingerprints involves a complicated chemical process that previously had been used only in laboratories.

In developing a simplified application of the process, Couch said, he and Ron Jones, KBI state laboratory chiefs at Topeka, first combined silica gel with iodine crystals. The iodine is unstable and vaporizes rapidly in contact with air. The silica gel was heated to 120 degrees centrigrade and used to absorb iodine crystals, which vaporized when added to it, he said.

"There are fats and oils present in a fingerprint," Couch explained. "Initially, we add the iodine to the print and it reacts with the fats and oils and turns the print brown. Then we lay a piece of jeweler's silver to a high mirror finish free from tarnish and debris.

"We give it about a five-second exposure and then

Laetrilists Offer Hope To Desperately Ill Cancer Victims

By ROD ANGOVE
First Of Three Parts

SACRAMENTO (AP) – The promoters are an informal alliance of laboratory experimenters, medical professionals, and evangelistic believers.

Their subjects are desperately ill victims of cancer who seek miracles to avoid pain and death. They include many who have been told by their doctors that their cases are hopeless.

The Laetrilists, as they call themselves, offer hope, supported by testimonials of persons who say they had cancer, and that Laetrile helped.

Nearly everything the Laetrilists say is disputed by health officials and cancer researchers, who say science and the law are on their side.

One result of this conflict is a steady stream of frightened cancer victims to Mexico or West Germany for Laetrile. Many try to bring supplies back home. Others in the United States and Canada seek Laetrile from smuggled sources.

Herbert Hoffman, assistant U.S. attorney in San Diego, says customs officials seize the equivalent of about 40,000 three-gram vials of Laetrile a month in both tablet and liquid form.

"It's the biggest smuggling problem after narcotics," he says.

Laetrile, an extract of apricot kernels, is banned from importation and interstate commerce because producers have not complied with federal requirements for proof of safety and benefit.

Nonetheless, several rapidly growing nationwide organizations are promoting its use and clamoring for its legalization.

The Laetrilists say users feel better, sometimes live longer than their doctors predicted, and occasionally report remission of their cancer.

But government officials call Laetrile a worthless quack remedy reminiscent of the snake oils and elixirs of bygone days. They say that in numerous tests of Laetrile over a long period, no effect on cancer has been scientifically proven.

They say the benefits reported by Laetrile users are due to previous surgery, radiation or chemotherapy; that many diagnoses have been made without biopsy verification – leaving in doubt whether it was really cancer in the first place – and that some Laetrile users, as well as non-users, are blessed with spontaneous remission.

The worst threat of Laetrile, these officials say, is that cancer victims often abandon other treatments which have scientifically proven benefits for some forms of cancer.

Says Grant Leake of the California Department of Health: "It's a cruel hoax to be promoted to credulous, hopeless victims who have neither the mental nor physical capacities to decide for themselves."

Leake said that profit is a major motive behind Laetrile, and that many victims "mortgage the family homestead" in search of it.

But promoters hotly deny the profit motive. They say the real ripoff is the $12-16 billion-a-year "cancer industry" which they say averages $30,000 per cancer patient compared with about $2,000 per patient for Laetrile.

Its promoters also say Laetrile has been legalized in California by court cases – as long as it is taken as nutritional therapy without any anti-cancer claims.

Above all, they say, Americans have a right to use what they wish in their own bodies. Officials respond that reasoning would lead to the unfettered use of heroin, cocaine and anything else.

Robert W. Bradford, 45, is president of the largest pro-Laetrile organization, the Committee for Freedom of Choice in Cancer Therapy, Inc., of Los Altos, Calif. He argues this way:

"The California Health Department, in connivance with other state and federal agencies and also medical bodies and the American Cancer Society and aided and abetted by the international drug cartel, is entering into a conspiracy to deprive Californians of their civil rights by interfering with the doctor-patient relationship, barring medical access to a cancer-fighting modality...and forcing terminal American cancer patients to flee this country."

Laetrile promoters spread their claims with pamphlets, periodicals, books, press releases, cassette tapes, films, workshops, lectures, symposiums, rallies and health food conventions.

They also write to their congressmen and testify at legislative hearings and court trials.

Leatrile groups are also pushing in at least 20 state legislatures for bills like the one recently passed in Alaska that permits Laetrile to be administered by doctors. But Alaska's attorney general says federal law still bars Laetrile from being furnished there.

But health officials are fighting back. A federal grand jury in San Diego recently returned indictments in connection with what it called a massive international conspiracy to smuggle Laetrile into the United States. Numerous other legal actions have been brought – some successfully, some not.

State and federal officials admit they are somewhat at a loss on how to counter the persistent, often superpatriotic and sometimes deeply religious crusaders for Laetrile.

They say the proponents, in their zeal, wander into the realm of emotion and hysteria, in which cold scientific fact counts for nothing. And the scientific fact is that Laetrile doesn't cure cancer, those officials say

They acknowledge that Laetrile often makes patients feel better and increases their appetites, but they say there are numerous drugs that would do the same.

Said Dr. W. Sherwood Lawrence of the California Department of Health: "We'd be delighted if anyone came up with firm scientific evidence that Laetrile – or anything else – works. After all, we and our families get cancer too."

WATERGATE FIGURE STRACHAN CAN PRACTICE LAW IN UTAH

Former White House aide and Watergate figure GORDON STRACHAN has been told in Salt Lake City by the Utah Supreme Court he can practice law in the state. In a 3-1 decision, the court told the Utah State Bar to admit Strachan, who passed the bar exam a year and a half ago and has been working since as a law clerk. Strachan, 33, once told the senate Watergate panel he would advise young people against careers in Washington. He was indicted in 1973 on charges of obstructing justice and conspiracy to obstruct justice for his role in Watergate, but the charges were dismissed two years later.Strachan and his wife, KRISTINE, have been residents of Utah since 1973, when she began teaching at the University of Utah Law School.

An attorney for PRINCE RAINIER says the Monacan ruler has told him to go ahead with a $4 million defamation and slander suit against Brazilian playboy FRANCISCO SCARPA, in San Paulo, Brazil. The flap stems from a television interview aired last October in which Scarpa discussed his relations with women he had met in Europe. He included Rainier's daughter, PRINCESS CAROLINE, in the discussion. "I do not understand this whole story," said Scarpa, 25-year-old son of a millionaire industrialist. "I never said anything against her." Scarpa said he plans no further comment until he meets next Tuesday with Monaco's honorary counsul in San Paulo and lawyers for both sides.

Actor GENE HACKMAN is recuperating in Los Angeles from an injury to the sciatic nerve suffered when he was thrown from a horse in Morocco during the filiming of "March or Die." Hackman's horse was spooked by a camel during the filming of the French Foreign Legion picture shortly before Christmas. A spokesman for the actor said he was having some discomfort, but was not hospitalized by the injury. He said Hackman would complete final scenes for the picture in Arizona, then play the role of Lothar in "Superman."

WALTER PUDINSKI, who rose through the ranks of the California Highway Patrol to become its commissioner for two years, has left the CHP to be city administrator of nearby Rialto at a $30,000 annual salary. Pudinski, 50, was named commissioner by Gov. Ronald Reagan in 1972, and resigned in late 1974. Since then, he has been commander of the CHP's inland zone in San Bernardino. The Sacramento Union reported that Pudinski resigned from the patrol six days after becoming eligible for early retirement on a slightly reduced 25-year pension. The Union also said Pudinski had filed for a city council position that is to be filed by special election in the San Bernardino County community.

Tanker Explosion Described

LONG BEACH (AP) – A panel investigating the deadly explosion of the Sansinena has been told that bulkheads inside the tanker flew "like cannonballs" when the ship blew up.

J.H. Leitz, one of those involved with salvaging the vessel, said that the steel partitions in the Sansinena's hold finally telescoped together in the bow and stern sections of the ship.

Leitz told the panel that the shattered hull underwater looked like a "spread-open football."

A marine surveyor for the National Cargo Board, also told the panel probing the Dec. 17 explosion in Los Angeles Harbor that annual inspection of ships registered in Liberia often are postponed until the vessels reach a port with proper faciliites.

Allan P. Covy said the Sansinena was last inspected on Jan. 16, 1976 but had gone 18 months prior to that with out a safety check.

At least seven persons were killed in the explosion and divers continue to search the harbor waters for possible further victims.

The 810-foot Sansinena, which carried an Italian crew, was registered in the West African nation. Covy said about 2,000 of the estimated 4,500 vessels registereed in Liberia are tankers. The U.S. Coast Guard says the Liberian fleet is the largest in the world

The Coast Guard believes that the explosion was ignited in the cargo tank vent pipes, but inspections generally give that part of the ship only a "cursory look," Covy said.

Ship Breakup Warning Cited

BOSTON (AP) – A loud boom followed by the sound of wrenching steel warned those aboard the ill-fated tanker Chester A. Poling that the ship was breaking in two, a Coast Guard review board was told here.

Chief Engineer Philip G. Becker, 45, of Long Island, N.Y., also told the four-member panel he was numbed by frigid waters after he jumped from the stern section last Monday, and later heard his rescuers say his vital signs had stopped after he was pulled aboard a Coast Guard cutter.

Five others were plucked from the water, but a seventh crewman disappeared in the ocean.

The inquiry board, also heard Becker and the vessel's captain, Charles Burgess, 56, of Kearny, N.J., describe in detail their ordeal as the empty ship foundered off the Massachusetts coast.

"I heard a loud boom, the breaking of metal, a loud steel sound," Becker said during the first session of the hearing at 1st District Coast Guard headquarters.

"Then there was a violent lurch to the ship, a very heavy lurch. At the same instant I heard this noise, the generator stopped," Becker said.

CONGRESSIONAL PAY RAISE TIED TO CODE OF ETHICS BILL

WASHINGTON (AP) – President Ford has informed congressional leaders that he intends to propose a raise in their pay from $44,600 to $57,500 a year.

Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said the President would condition the pay raise proposal on the promise of the enactment of a code of ethics for Congress.

The pay raise for congressmen, judges, and top government executives was recommended by a commission headed by former Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson, which reviews top federal salaries once every four years.

The pay raise proposal would be approved automatically unless either house of Congress disapproves it within 30 days.

Byrd said the Senate Rules Committee already is at work on a prospective code of ethics, but that it would not be possible to complete it in 30 days.

He said he intends to seek adoption of a resolution expressing Senate intent to adopt a code of ethics within a limited period of time.

He said he will introduce, with concurrence of Senate Republican Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., another resolution to establish a special bipartisan Senate committee to draft a code of ethics and submit it for review by the Rules Committee within 90 days.

Byrd said the President, at a leadership meeting at the White House, outlined his pay raise recommedations for other federal officials, including a raise from $65,600 to $75,000 for the vice president

Conrad Led Authorities To Crime Figures

He was sentenced to three years probation and ordered to pay an $1,875 fine including a penalty assessment.

During his career as an informant, Conrad was instrumental in leading police agents to secret meetings of organized crime figures – meetings held in and around Orange County.

On Feb. 9, 1973 Conrad led authorities to a meeting in Palm Springs, at the former Jack London Hotel where Rosanova, several other organized crime figures and Frank Fitzsimmons, who later succeeded Jimmy Hoffa as head of the Teamsters Union, were in attendance.

During that meeting, Rosanova welcomed Conrad with an embrace, informed sources added.

The next day Fitzsimmons was observed at the El Toro Marine Air Base, boarding Air Force One with then-President Richard Nixon for a flight to Washington, D.C.

In Palm Springs, Conrad allowed authorities to place a hidden tape recorder in his car in the eventuality he would chauffeur Rosanova, the sources said.

And without Conrad's knowledge, a sound transmitting device was hidden on the car – allowing agents to follow the vehicle by tracing the electronic frequency given off by the device, the sources added.

Also in connection with his work as an informant, Conrad allowed a tape recorder to be attached to his home telephone, the sources said. Conrad, however, claims he also was tapped without his knowledge.

Conrad's association with Rosanova reportedly dates back to Chicago where the men were in the concrete business, the sources said.

Rosanova has been publicly identified as a member of the Chicago-Italian organization headed by Salvatore Giancana.

Conrad was a paid informant not only for the local intelligence community but also for the FBI and IRS, according to the sources.

While working for the district attorney's office, Conrad was paid with Orange County Intelligence Unit funds, he said.

The federal tax funds were paid to him by checks made out to his code name, "Glen Edwards."

The pay for approximately four years totaled about $2,500, sources said.

He was also paid by other law enforcement agencies, but the pay was never regular. In 1972, the water to the Conrad family home in Anaheim was shut off temporarily, sources said.

During the past six years, Conrad has had at least a dozen abstract judgments, or liens by creditors, filed against him, according to documents on file in the county recorder's office.

At the same time, he's been a partner in Tropicana Productions and Leasing which stages the shows at the Tropicana Hotel, Las Vegas and the Victoria Hotel, London, Conrad said in an interview.

In 1973, he formed Tower Management, Inc., Tustin, and attempted to form prepaid legal defense insurance program. Last year he created Pension Funds of America, Irvine, a loan brokerage.

Conrad's net value to law enforcement is as confusing as his personal financial status.

Some law enforcement agents say he was an invaluable informant in acquainting them with the cast of Eastern organized crime. But most now feel that he was working both sides of the street.

Conrad's law enforcement critics point out that his information has never led to the conviction of a major organized crime figure.

But during a recent interview Conrad described himself as a major informant in the 1975 San Francisco federal strike force fraud case against former state Sen. Richard Dolwig.

Dolwig was convicted of eight counts involving fraud, racketeering and conspiracy. He was sentenced to five years in federal prison.

Co-defendants David Kaplan, a Miami financial consultant, and David Gorwitz, a Miami commodities broker, were convicted on 20 and eight counts respectively.

Kaplan was sentenced to 10 years in prison and fined $15,000 and Gorwitz received a sentence of eight years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Both men have been identified by a U.S. Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigation as having organized crime connections.

The trio and other convicted co-defendants are appealing their convictions.

They were convicted of conspiring in a scheme in which advance fees of more than $200,000 were collected for loans never delivered.

Conrad appeared in the case as an injured party, claiming the defendants asked him for about $2 million as an advance fee on a proposed $80 million loan to Tropicana Productions. He did not pay the fee.

But both Charles Bates, head of the San Francisco FBI office, and Bob McCarthy, chief of the criminal section of the FBI's Los Angeles office, said that Conrad was never an informant in the case.

"He gave us no information whatsoever. The guy never worked undercover for us," Bates said.

Conrad has now moved from the role of police informant to that of political ally, including a close relationship with Supervisor Ralph Diedrich, sources said.

Diedrich denies any close ties with Conrad, calling him a man who suddenly "bursts" upon the scene.

"All of a sudden he's there (in my office)," Diedrich said. "He was there to discuss the district attorney's office. He was available for conversation."

He appeared at about the time county supervisors, led by Diedrich, were transferring 22 investigators from the district attorney's office to the sheriff's department – over Hicks' strong objections.

The transfer issue is now before the courts.

Diedrich and Conrad both deny reports – from independent law enforcement sources – that they met during October and November 1975 at an Orange restaurant, to discuss the transfer issue. They do say, however, that they meet occasionally, and Conrad said he considers Diedrich "a friend."

Of Conrad, Diedrich said: "He's an enigma. He does a lot of strange things. I mean a lot of strange things. Where his motivations are is not discernable at this point in time."

Diedrich currently is being investigated by the county grand jury on an allegation he coerced at least one lobbyist dealing with county to make a campaign contribution to another politician.

Diedrich has said he has done nothing wrong and has demanded that at the end of its deliberations the grand jury publicly clear his name. The supervisor said that despite his relationship with Conrad, the ex-informant has not discussed with him the suit against the district attorney's office.

The suit was filed the same day Hicks' investigation of Diedrich's role as a campaign financier was revealed.

There is no apparent link between those two events, however. A favorite theory in law enforcement circles is that Conrad filed the action to obscure the investigations being conducted into his own affairs – a theory he scoffs at.

Inaugural Ritual At Hand

Carter Promises To Tailor Pageant To Jackson Model

By LEE BYRD

EDITOR'S NOTE – The presidential inauguration has evolved over 200 years from an event of perfunctory purpose to an institution of spectacle and pageantry.

WASHINGTON (AP) – It is the most glorified ritual of the Republic, a whirlwind of celebration in which neither the new President nor the legions who come to toast him are daunted by winter's chill, the long lines, the short nights or the drain upon tax-filled and private purses.

Well, rarely daunted. One President, William Henry Harrison, took his oath in an icy downpour, caught pneumonia and died. Another, James Madison, found his inaugural gala so boring that he confessed that, on the whole, he'd rather have stayed in bed.

Richard M. Nixon danced the night away on Jan. 20 four years ago to cap the most extravagant inauguration in history, one for which the public – barred from most of the pageantry – and his private contributors shelled out an estimated $5 million.

Next, of course, was Gerald R. Ford, the man who at first didn't seek the presidency and lost it when he did. He raised his right hand on a summer's day, not winter, and went home that night, not to the White House, but to his own suburban residence.

Now comes Jimmy Carter and his promise of a "people's inaugural," a sort of modern-day remake of Andy Jackson's shindig 148 years ago. It promises to be, if not as colorful as Jackson's, far more open and less expensive than Nixon's.

"The greatest concern of the President-elect is that we reach the maximum number of people possible and involve the whole country," says Bardyl R. Tirana, co-chairman of Carter's inaugural committee. "He wants to receive anyone who comes to Washington."

That, by the look of it, will amount to a lot of receiving. Carter's folks have sent out 400,000 invitations for the Jan. 20 swearing-in and the traditional parade, balls and receptions. But invitation or not, virtually all the hoopla will be open to anyone who cares to come, and at a maximum price of $25 per ticket. The Nixon celebration, by contrast, drew 50,000 persons by invitation only who paid up to $1,000 for a single event.

The Carter committee has budgeted $3 million for the entire show, including a week of cultural programs, six balls on inaugural night, and the parade following the noontime swearing in and address at the Capitol. Much of that is raised in private donations, but other amounts, like $325,000 for construction of the inaugural platform at the Capitol, are paid out of the U.S. Treasury.

Though the nighttime parties will be black tie optional – "This is not a hoedown," says Tirana – Carter has set the society columnists atwitter over whether he will be sartorially splendid enough to assume the presidency. He has opted for a plain business suit at his swearing-in rather than top hat and morning coat, and his wife, Rosalynn, will wear the same dress she donned five years ago for his inauguration as governor of Georgia.

Inaugural

Still, Jimmy Carter will begin his lease on the White House in plenty of style. The inaugural platform, erected not at his discretion but that of Congress, is a structural giant over the Capitol's east front that features eight Corinthian columns, a graceful, sweeping balustrade and a huge canopy with a high-powered heater to fend off the chilliest gusts. A masterly paint job makes it resemble the marble and limestone of the Capitol itself, though it is fashioned – aside from the same steel frame used since 1921 – of Southern pine and Douglas fir.

Directly across from his spot of honor is a press stand that is itself so large it can accommodate 700 reporters plus studio-like technical facilities for all the networks. And below it is an open-air platform, larger than a football field, with reserved seating for 17,500 dignitaries and special guests.

As for the parade down Pennsylvania Avenue, the usual marching units from virtually every state, the tooting calliopes and the military bands will all be there, but in smaller numbers and at far less cost than the 1973 show for Nixon. Then, nearly $1 million was spent for the President's imitation marble reviewing stand alone, and more than 8,000 military men and women were brought to Washington. Carter's stand will be a modest affair, and the military intends to muster about 5,000 personnel.

"We're planning an inauguration which is traditional but modest in tone, not extravagant," says Tirana.

Still, there are those who would argue there is nothing modest about spending $3 million for Jimmy Carter to walk and waltz his plank to the presidency. Others counter that the peaceful transfer of authority from one administration to the other is the crown jewel of democracy, and the richest nation on earth can afford whatever it costs to display it to the world.

GEORGE WASHINGTON DEPICTED ARRIVING IN N.Y.C. BY BARGE FOR 1789 INAUGURATION

The First President Took Oath Of Office At Federal Hall In A Simple Ceremony

Whatever the arguments, the fact remains that the inauguration has evolved, in 39 lessons spread over 200 years, from an event of perfunctory purpose to an institution of spectacle and pageantry.

The Founding Fathers hardly wanted it that way. They, after all, wanted to avoid any semblance of European monarchy, and their inaugurals were as Spartan as Nixon's was elaborate. The capital was New York City when George Washington began it all in 1789, and he remains the only president who traveled to his inaugural by barge, which carried him across the bay from New Jersey. He took his oath on the balcony of Federal Hall.

Thomas Jefferson, an even more ardent foe of ritual, was the first president inaugurated in Washington. He walked to the Capitol from a boarding house, repeated the 35-word oath, made a brief speech in the Senate chamber, then walked back home.

In Jefferson's second inauguration, when Pennsylvania Avenue was a dusty, gravel road, Jefferson rode his horse to the Capitol. But this time he gave life to the seeds of pomp and the embryo of circumstance; he allowed the playing of military music at the ceremony and he agreed to ride back to the White House in a carriage. However modest, it was the first inaugural parade.

Inaugural balls came along for James Madison in March of 1809, a date in which one of the guests, John Quincy Adams, noted in his diary: "In evening, went with ladies to a ball in honor of the new president. The crowd was excessive, the heat oppressive and the entertainment bad.

A White House reception was held at Madison's second inauguration at which, according to the archives, the guests drank Madeira, ate bonbons and sampled a new-fangled treat called ice cream. The U.S. Marine Band played for the first time, as it has at every normal inaugural since.

James Monroe was the first president to take the oath out of doors, a custom wrought by the British, who bombarded and burned the Capitol three years earlier in 1814. Monroe wanted to take the oath in the House chamber of Congress' temporary quarters nearby, but Speaker Henry Clay wouldn't allow it for fear the building might collapse under the weight of all the prospective guests. So Monroe went outside.

Andrew Jackson, in 1829, was the first president to be sworn in on a raised platform on the east portico of the Capitol, and that has been the traditional site ever since.

Historians call Jackson's the most colorful inauguration ever. It was attended by 20,000 persons, including Indian fighters from Tennessee and veterans of the battle of New Orleans who had traveled those distances in transports of joy at having one of their own move into the White House.

The more genteel guests were horror-stricken when all those frontiersmen with muddy boots followed Jackson from the Capitol right into the White House. Many stood on the pastel upholsteries of fine damask and satin just to get a better view of the festivities inside the mansion, while others shattered large amounts of china and glassware while sharing the refreshments.

Nearly every president has contributed something to the inaugural ceremony, though the avowed precedent-hunter sometimes has to look sharply to find it.

John Quincy Adams was the first to wear trousers, rather than the tight breeches of the era. James K. Polk, in 1845, was the first to be covered live by the electronic media. An inventor named Samuel F. B. Morse perched on the edge of the platform and tapped out Polk's words on a device he called a telegraph.

William Henry Harrison, the first to arrive at his inaugural by railroad, delivered one of the longest speeches, 8,578 words, while standing bareheaded in freezing rain on March 4, 1841. The cold he got turned to pneumonia and he was dead a month later.

The contractor who built the platform for the Polk ceremony turned in a bill for $164.17 for the job, including $76 for carpentry, $8.70 for nails, $2.50 for hauling and $2.25 for iron fasteners. The lumber was valued at half price, $74.42, because the contractor got to keep it for reuse, a practice that is still followed.

By 1853, when Franklin Pierce was inaugurated, the same contractor had run his bill to $647, and four years later it reached $887, for James Buchanan's swearing-in. The construction costs topped $1,000 for the first time in 1885 when Grover Cleveland's stands ran to $1,277.

Pierce's inauguration was marked by a protest demonstration worthy of today's militants. As the parade began to pass along Pennsylvaia Avenue, a band of poor, unemployed men streamed onto the street and began marching along. According to contemporary newspaper accounts, they were "dressed in rags and tatters" and were finally driven away by spectators.

Most new presidents, of course, would prefer that their inaugurals be remembered for their calls to the nation's conscience, those ringing words of wisdom that set America on an ever brighter course. But there have been more thuds than rings, especially in this century.

Still, the nation embraces with special fondness the words of Franklin Delano Roosevelt to a depression-stricken country in 1933: "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself." And then there were those of the last previous Democrat to come along after eight years of Republican rule: "Ask not ..."

It was a cold, snowy inauguration for John F. Kennedy in 1961. But there are those who will raise their glass at Jimmy Carter's upcoming turn, as they did at Kennedy's, and wish him well.

Conrad Has Ability To Raise Smokescreens

Conrad – according to persons who've worked with him in private business as well as in his role as a police informer – is known for his ability to raise effective smokescreens.

One of those persons is Harry Hertz, a Fullerton real estate agent who worked with Conrad in 1973 and 1974.

Hertz is the father of Amanda "Mandy" Hertz, founding director of one of Conrad's companies and a current business associate of his.

Hertz said he met Conrad through his daughter and that she arranged for him to go to work for Conrad's Tower Management Co.

He said that when he first met Conrad "I was given to believe he was an attorney." Hertz said Conrad – whom he first knew as "Rocky DeRosa"—also said he'd owned a swimming pool company and a building firm in Orange County and that he'd been in the concrete business in Chicago before coming to California.

Conrad recently told reporters he was a civil engineer in Chicago.

Hertz said he had 20 years experience in the insurance business and that Conrad "could use me because he was starting a new pre-paid legal defense plan" that could be sold just like other types of insurance.

"I hung around" Conrad's office for about four months, Hertz said, without doing any type of work or receiving any of his promised salary from Tower Management.

Conrad described Tower as "just a corporation I use as a holding entity."

He said Pension Funds of America's stock is owned by another company – Tower Financial – and that "Tower Financial stock is owned by myself."

Hertz said Conrad's pre-paid legal defense program never materialized and that he broke away from Conrad when he realized "the big smokescreen was on."

Conrad "kept claiming to have all these companies and things, that he knew a lot of important people, but he couldn't come up with any money to pay me," said Hertz.

Conrad's connection with law enforcement became known to Hertz, he said, when the two men were stopped in late 1973 by a California Highway Patrol unit Hertz said he was driving 95 miles per hour on the way to Las Vegas.

The patrolmen found a handgun in the glove compartment of Conrad's leased Cadillac, said Hertz. He said he overheard Conrad telling them he was an informant for "all kinds of law enforcement agencies" including the Orange County District Attorney's office.

Conrad didn't have a permit for the gun Hertz said, but was able to convince the patrolmen to let him go.

Hertz, however, got a ticket for speeding, he said.

Hertz said his last contact with Conrad was in early 1974, but confirmed that his son, H. Ted Hertz, still is friendly with Conrad.

Ted Hertz recently was hired as an administrative assistant by newly elected supervisor Philip Anthony – who confirmed that Conrad recommended the appointment.

Conrad and Anthony became acquainted during Anthony's 1976 supervisorial campaign, and Conrad now is claiming he played a key role in obtaining contributions for the campaign.

Conrad is on records as having contributed $650 to Anthony. He also offered a $1,000 check to Santa Ana councilman Harry Yamamoto, Anthony's opponent, during the first supervisorial district race.

Yamamoto's campaign manager, Pat Burnett, said she refused to accept the check because she didn't want Conrad associated with the campaign.

The donation to Anthony was on a Pension Funds of America business check, so Conrad's name doesn't appear on the supervisor's finance reports.

The district attorney's office, however, is checking into allegation that Conrad may have pumped money into Anthony's campaign by giving the money in names of other persons and companies.

Anthony, according to the district attorney's office is not implicated in the probe.

In addition to the $650 Conrad check, however, the campaign reported receiving $2,500 each from PFA director Richard Donald – an attorney who's handling Conrad's suit against the district attorney – and PFA president Donald Eckhard.

Anthony also received a $1200 donation and a $1,500 loan from Max Binswanger, an unsuccessful supervisorial candidate and an associate of Conrad.

A would-be politician whose name is linked with Conrad is Loran Norton, a former aide to Supervisor Laurence Schmit and an unsuccessful Republican candidate for state Senate last year.

Conrad said Norton works for him on occasion and transmitted a $10,000 cashier's check to the Anthony campaign at his request.

Attached to the check, which did not bear the name of the purchaser, was a business card from Amco Builders Supply in Costa Mesa.

The Anthony campaign reported the contribution as coming from Amco.

The owner of the firm, Robert LanFranco, will not confirm that he gave Anthony $10,000, however.

LanFranco said he's been advised by an attorney to make no comment about his "contribution."

Other sources report that LanFranco is cooperating with the district attorney's probe into Conrad's role in the Anthony campaign's finances.

Conrad said he asked LanFranco to make the donation and that although he – Conrad – put up the $10,000, it was deducted from a large debt he owed the builder.

LanFranco said Conrad owes him $200,000 for the purchase of a $325,000 residence in Cowan Heights.

He said Conrad agreed to purchase the home late last year and opened escrow in the name of R E. DeRoso.

The escrow was canceled Jan. 7 – although LanFranco said Conrad still is the tenant of the exclusive hilltop compound.

The huge home is surrounded by a high wall, with access controlled by a massive iron gate.

Conrad also owns an imposing home in Anaheim

The two-story, 4,600-square-foot house, in a well - to - do neighborhood near the Anaheim Plaza shopping center, stands out from its neighbors because of the iron bars at its windows and doors and the guard dogs in the back yard.

A title insurance official who reviewed the purchase papers said he was unable to unravel the complicated method in which Conrad obtained title to the home – which has an assessed market value of only $57,500, according to county tax records.

Tax bills for the property are in Conrad's mother's name, but Conrad said the home is owned by "the Conrad Family Trust."

Conrad also claims to own a string of seven thoroughbred horses, which he says he stables at the posh La Costa resort.

Where he gets the money to finance his houses, horses and political interests remains a mystery.

He claims his business is

Exposure By DA's Office Jeopardizes My Life, Conrad Claims

"arranging loans."

He said he's arranged "about $11 million" in real estate loans in the past three years, receiving a hefty fee for each one.

Conrad said he handles only loans of $1 million or more and that he collects an "appraisal fee" for his services.

The money for the loans, he said, is obtained from various employe group pension trusts, mostly from labor unions.

Several ranking Orange County labor union officials, however, said they'd never heard of Pension Funds of America.

Lee Kearney, secretary - treasurer of a county-based Teamsters Union local and a trustee of the Teamsters' western area trust funds, said Conrad "doesn't handle Western Teamster money."

He said he doesn't know Conrad, but first heard of him "when the (Federal) Labor Department called me a couple months ago.

"They wanted to know if he tried to hustle me some insurance and if I'd talk to a couple guys from the district attorney's office.

"I said he'd never tried to sell me any (pre-paid group medical insurance program), Kearney said.

The U.S. Senate Permament Subcommittee on Investigations is investigating allegations that Conrad was involved in a phony health insurance scheme – charges Conrad denies.

Al Grey, executive secretary of the county Building Trades Council, said he doesn't "know if I've ever met him (Conrad) or know anything about him."

Everett Shell, a trustee of the Southern California pipe trades union trust funds, said he's never heard of Conrad of Pension Funds of America.

Shell's union is one of the largest in the area, and its charter allows it to invest trust fund monies in real estate.

Gray had said that "if anyone in the state knows about Conrad or Pension Funds, it'll be Everett Shell."

Shell checked with an official of what he described as "a major, private loan brokerage house" and said the official – who asked to remain unnamed – described Conrad's firm "as a flaky outfit."

An Orange County manager of one of the nation's largest loan brokerages, who also asked to remain anonymous, said he was familiar with Conrad's firm "through a client who, unfortunately, went to them first."

He said the client told him the firm claimed it could arrange a loan and gave several major retail department store chains' employe pension fund trusts as references.

"After the client came to us," the brokerage manager said, 'we checked with them (the employe trust funds) and they said they'd never heard of Pension Funds of America.

"I can't find any evidence that they've ever come through on a loan," the manager said.

Pension Funds of America is being sued in County Superior Court by two former clients who allege the company, Conrad and other company officials failed to return substantial advance fees after failing to come up with promised loans.

One suit claims the company and its officials kept a $128,000 payment; the other charges Conrad and his company with failure to return a $4.5 million promissory note and a deed of trust.

Conrad claims the trust deed and promissory note "were in a briefcase that was lost."

He said the client later gave his company "another note and deed of trust" which were transfered to a title insurance company.

Conrad characterized both suits and the federal grand jury and FIB investigations that have stemmed from them as harassment prompted by the district attorney's office.

In a lengthy interview, Conrad said the federal investigations and the district attorney's investigation into his business and political affairs all have been prompted by Dist. Atty. Hicks.

"I've been a victim of Cecil Hicks' office since I testified against him at the Battin trial."

Conrad confirmed that a federal grand jury in Los Angeles is investigating Pension Funds of America "and myself," but claimed the probe came about because he told a federal law enforcement agency someone had come into his office and offered him a kickback on behalf of a labor union.

He claimed that he has knowledge of criminal activity by members of the district attorney's staff and the Santa Ana Police Department and that the agencies are attempting to silence him.

The charges Conrad makes against the district attorney's office and the Santa Ana Police Department have been investigated by outside law enforcement agencies and they have found no criminal wrongdoing, according to confidential documents.

Conrad said that in addition to his damage suit against the district attorney's office, he plans to file suits against other agencies.

"According to the district attorney's office I am a member of organized crime. I have never been, and I'm not now.

"Due to the exposure by the district attorney's office of my doing undercover work against organized crime members," said Conrad, "Cecil Hicks has jeopardized my life and my family's life to a point where I must have guard dogs, bodyguards and bars on my windows.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Capizzi said Conrad exposed himself as an informant at the Battin trial. He described Conrad's claims about corruption in his office as "twisting the facts."

Don't believe for a minute that Mr. Conrad is doing this out of any sense of public duty," was Hicks reply.

Conrad said his suit, and other suits he intends to file are an effort to clean his name. "Also," he said, "I want to bring the corruption in the district attorney's office to the public's eyes."

"I was sent (into the underworld) as Cecil Hicks' agent," he said, "and if I am an organized crime figure today, he was my boss. He's just as much involved as I am."

First Woman Ordained At LA Diocese

LOS ANGELES (AP) – The Los Angeles Episcopal Diocese, which includes much of Southern California, Saturday got its first woman priest.

The Rev. Victoria Theresa Hatch and five men were ordained at ceremonies officiated by the Rt. Rev. Robert C. Rusack, Bishop of Los Angeles.

The 29-year-old former deacon of St. Cross Episcopal Church in Hermosa Beach said she hoped she had not stolen the limelight from the men, and added: "Most of them have expressed that they are very pleased to be a part of this point in history."

Miss Hatch comes from the Diocese of Virginia and is still canonically a resident there. But since she has worked here for a year, she is expected to seek permanent membership in the Los Angeles Diocese.

Miss Hatch is one of about 30 women permitted to enter the priesthood following action by the church's recent General Convention. She is about the tenth woman in the nation to be ordained.

"For me the Gospel is a word of liberation and a word of freedom," she said, "and it's not necessarily just for women. It's for humankind, and that to me is much more what I'm about than just women's liberation."

The other five ordained and their home parishes are: the Rev. Gary Richard Hall, 27, of Tujunga, the Rev. David Lloyd Heaney, 25, of Sun Valley; the Rev. Marshall Wayne Shier, 32, of Fullerton, the Rev. John Henry Yoder, 40, of Santa Monica, and the Rev. Charles Belknap, 28, of Newark, N.J.

The Saudi oil minister, Sheik
hmed Zaki Yamani, said Saudi production will rise to 10 million barrels a day this year from 8.5 million in 1976 and predicted that those who raised prices 10 per cent will see a 25 per cent decline in exports in the first quarter of 1977.

The Saudis, OPEC's largest exporters, were helped in their drive to keep down prices by Western stockpiling in the last months of 1976.

Ironically, much of the stockpiling was a reaction to demands by oil hawks such as Iran for large price rises to compensate for inflation that has boosted the cost of goods imported from the West.

But Libya and Algeria, both of which also raised prices 10 per cent Jan. 1, are selling their oil easily despite the new high prices, the magazine reported.

80% Cut In Traffic Would Not Meet Noise Standards

damaged by an earthquake registering 7 on the Richter scale. Ten per cent of the birds, mostly the rarer osprey and white-tailed kites, are disturbed when planes fly over.

The environmental impact report, ordered by supervisors more than two years ago after a squabble with Air West over who would pay for a smaller-scale report needed to grant it a new lease, is to go before county planning commissioners for review this spring.

Its conclusions and recommended mitigating measures are to be used when supervisors later consider proposed new parking structures, terminal expansion or the runway changes expected to reduce noise levels.

Supervisors already have accepted a $9,880 community opinion survey by POS Associates to be included in the EIR hearings.

The survey, which may set the pace for future hearings, already has been contested by Newport Beach area residents.

After three appearances before the board, Residents Against Jets members failed last week to convince supervisors that the survey results were arranged "to disguise the true reaction to airport noise."

Orange County Airport is operating under a state-granted variance temporarily waiving requirements that no homes be subjected to noise high than 70 CNEL now or more than 65 CNEL after Jan. 1, 1986.

Homes on about 30 acres south of the airport now are subject to 70 CNEL and on 148 acres to 65 CNEL, the report shows.

If airport operations were expanded 41 per cent but newer quieter aircraft developed, by 1985, more than 179.6 acres would be under the 65 CNEL. With only a 13 per cent increase in operations, 96 acres would have that noise rating.

The consultants said the number of air passengers at the airport increased 15.7 per cent a year since 1971, with 1.5 million people using the facility in 1975.

Among three "alternative futures" considered for the airport was reduction from 37.9 current average daily departures for commercial airlines to 4.7 and elimination of all business jet traffic. Annual passenger count would drop to 330,000.

If the airlines increased operations to the maximum allowed under their leases, average daily departures would increase to 40.1, providing service for 2.1 million passengers a year.

The report deals with the effects of expanded airport use if operations increased 23 per cent to serve 2.6 million passengers a year, 41 per cent for 3.9 million annual passengers and 13 per cent with a change to wide-body jets to carry 6 million passengers a year.

FISHIN' TRIPS

Dear Trouble Shooter

I recently moved here from Texas and miss my bass fishing. I know there is good bass fishing out here. Can you please put me in touch with some local bass clubs in Santa Ana or Garden Grove?

N.J.
Santa Ana

You betcha! Get in touch with folks at Western Bass Fishing Association, P.O. Box 2027, Newport Beach 92663. They can tell you about every bass (and bass fisherman) in Orange County. And, in case others want to get in touch with you, let's print your phone number – 531-3299.

They can also help D.L.E. of Huntington Beach who wrote the Ol' Trouble Shooter that he'd like to join a fresh water fishing club and needs some names, addresses and phone numbers. D.L.E. can be reached at 536-0708.

DOPE TRAFFIC

Dear Trouble Shooter

A letter in your column recently sketched the problems a homeowner was having because of the open sales of narcotics in the neighborhood. So far as the police in any city are concerned, it is an insurmountable problem. The reason: No community support.

Believe me, the foregoing is true. (If you doubt it, call up the narcotics squad in my city and its members will verify everything I say.)

Literally within a stone's throw of my house, there are three structures where you can buy narcotics any day of the week. This same condition exists in other areas of Orange County.

Funds for enough police to fight this would have to be enormous. The criminals know this and openly, flagrantly sell their wares to the unfortunates. Mostly, it is marijuana and Mexican brown heroin.

It has been so bad at times (for example, on weekends when the streets are usually bare of cars), that one cannot find a place to park. It goes on 24 hours a day.

When we complain, we are threatened by the sellers. The buyers defecate on our lawns, leave us with their garbage of quick-food wrappers, beer, wine and whiskey containers. They steal what they can lay their hands on and physically attack us.

All of this has happened in our neighborhood, yet after many importunings to the landlords, they continue to rent to these crazy "hypes," junkies on heroin. These people are dragging down an otherwise good neighborhood, just a good stone's throw from several churches and not far from a school.

The worst part is that only a rare few of us try to stand up to it. Our peace is jeopardized and we are intimidated by their numbers.

The threat of these ugly Manson-type lost souls is ever-present, to us and to the police officers. The pathetic "users" are even worse. One day, a 2-year-old tot wandered into our yard. His mother was "out" on heroin in the apartment building.

There is a solution, I think. Citizens should bring pressure to bear on the property owners who rent to these people and know what is going on. Move them out! Keep them moving, if you can't have them arrested!

Another solution is to investigate the Supreme Court in Sacramento and clean it up so that it does not intimidate the local courts and law enforcement officers who, like our present excellent District Attorney's office, feel they are spinning their wheels when they do make arrests.

Finally, we need more community support, and that is the understatement of the year.

(Please do not print my name or my city.)

No City

Your letter in today's column may cause folks who are afraid to "get involved" in fighting the dope profiteers to decide that they can help, after all.

When enough "average citizens" get their backs up, dope pushers (and those who cater to them) will find it expedient to move on.

YOUR REUNION?

Dear Trouble Shooter

We are trying to locate our classmates from the 1967 graduating class from Savanna High School, Anaheim, for a 10-year reunion. Will you please ask our classmates to call John or Heather (Fallis) Scoby at 847-5989 for details?

J.S.
Huntington Beach

You betcha! Always happy to help round folks up for their class reunions. So, while we're on the topic, let's mention some others.

Loara High School, Anaheim, is trying to round up members of the 1967 graduating class. Get in touch pronto with Barbara Brown at 530-4334 or Diane Buttler at 630-5937.

A 20th reunion is coming up for Whittier High School's Class of 1957 this summer. Classmates are urged to get in touch with Beverly Jacobs Justice at 962-3227.

North Hollywood High School's winter class of 1957 is planning a 20-year reunion April 16. For further details, call Jill Weiss Slavin at 987-1680.

Dear Trouble Shooter

We're interested in water conservation. Please let us know if it takes more water for a bath or a shower.

B.C.
Orange

Depends on how long you stay in the shower, Ma'am. Ordinarily, filling the tub takes more water.

'GRIT' ADDRESS

Dear Trouble Shooter

Since moving here from Missouri, I have missed being able to enjoy a "Grit" newspaper. These were delivered weekly by boys in our neighborhood and made very interesting reading.

Can you please tell me where I can find the address of this publication so I can write for a subscription?

W.T.
Buena Park

You betcha! "Grit" is published by the Grit Publishing Co., 208 W. Third St., Williamsport,Pa. 17701.

YOU HELPED!

Dear Trouble Shooter

You recently published a letter in which someone using the initials "N.I." spoke of the heart attack suffered by my wife, Lorus Purcell. The letter also said some very nice things about our work with the Hopi Indians. The response to the letter has been something bordering on the unbelievable!

My wife did require a double bypass on the heart, but she is now recovering wonderfully. We know that many prayers, several God-gifted doctors and nurses, much love and now this shower of cards, letters, cash donations (very gratefully received!) and all the expressions of faith and hope have brought her recovery along so quickly.

We have no words with which to express our gratitutde to N.I. and all the loving people who responded to the letter. We can only hope and pray that all their hearts, and yours, will come to know a goodly measure of the same fine joy and happiness given to us.

Our home is always open to any who might desire to see pictures of our Hopi friends and their environment. We never tire of telling others about these truly admirable people.

K.P.
Anaheim

Folks are always happy to find out what takes place after a letter appears in the Ol' Trouble Shooter's column, podnah, and they'll be well pleased with your report.

Those who are interested in your year-around project to help the Hopi Indians will be taking you up on your invitation to view your pictures, etc. However, because of your wife's recent surgery, the Trouble Shooter suggests they call first to find out if it's convenient to drop by.

They'll find the Ken Purcells listed in the phone book at 819 S. Bruce St., Anaheim.

Deputies Unravel John Doe Mysteries

By LYNN O'DELL
Register Staff Writer

SANTA ANA – Despite second- and third-degree burns over nearly 50 per cent of his body, Valentine Hernandez Segura clung to life for nearly a week.

When he died New Year's Eve, he was still "John Doe I" to fire department investigators.

The 22-year-old janitor made department history. He is believed to be the first Santa Ana fire victim to remain unidentified for more than 48 hours.

During the time that Segura remained alive in UCI Medical Center's burn unit, fire investigators tried to positively identify both him and "John Doe II", a 30-year-old male who had been pulled from the same Christmas night fire in a converted garage apartment.

The investigators ran into dead end after dead end.

Unconscious from smoke and heat, the two men had been carried by firemen from the buring garage. There was no identification on their persons.

The garage itself, rented for $30 a week only two days before, yielded none of the traditional identification – driver's licenses, for instance.

The landlady could not positively identify either man from a picture on a "sort of Mexican ID card" found in the garage.

Neighbors contacted by investigators claimed they had no idea who might have been living there.

The case was difficult, investigators said, because "normally there are relatives or neighbors who can tell us who lived in the house.

"Then we can run down records. In this case, all we could do was wait and hope the victims would recover enough to talk to us and tell us who they were and the story of the fire," said Investigator Joe Iamphear.

This case was drawn out, one investigator said, because both victims were still alive.

Once Segura died, the problem of identifying him passed from the fire department to the coroner's office. Fire department investigators had been handicapped because Segura, a burn victim, was isolated to protect him against infection. Since coroner's deputies had access to the victim's body, confirming his identity was a simple process.

His hands were too badly burned for fingerprints to be taken. (Fire investigators believe Segura burned his hands and forearms trying to extinguish the fire that apparently started in a Christmas candle decoration. They believe he then passed out from fire fumes.)

"John Doe II," now tentatively identified as Jamie Anastasio, 30, died in the burn unit Friday. Segura, however, did regain consciousness before his death and spoke to a Spanish-speaking nurse, investigators were told by the hospital.

Hospital staffers managed to piece together what they believed to be his name, place of employment and the name of his companion.

"I wasn't even aware there was an identification problem," said Tom Walezak, senior coroner's investigator. But then, the coroner's office did have the body to compare identification photos with, he added.

Coroner's investigators used a common method of identification, they ran a records check through the sheriff's department using the name given them by the hospital.

A mug shot from a September booking at Orange County Jail was used to visually identify the fire victim as Valentine Hernandez Segura, said Walezak.

A division of the sheriff's department, the coroner's office is responsible for investigating the deaths of all unidentified persons.

Of the approximately 5,000 death investigations the office conducts yearly, only a small percentage concern unidentified persons, according to Walezak. And, like Segura, most are "no problem," he said.

Most are identified through fingerprints, records checks, dental records or unusual physical details revealed by autopsies.

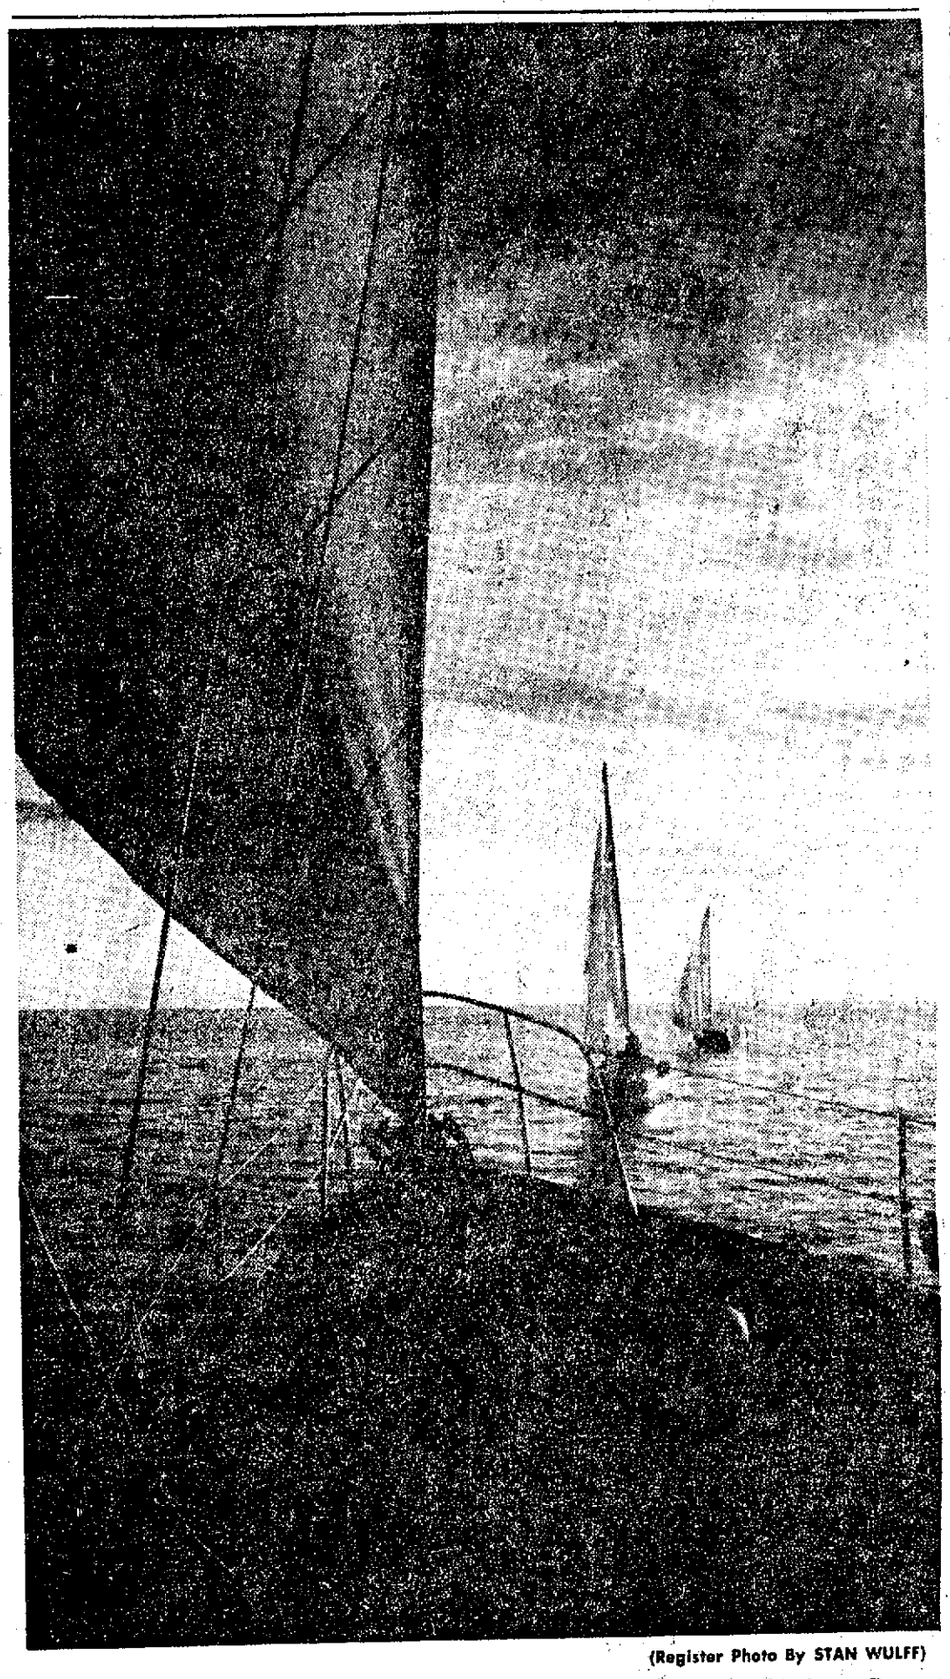
But identification cases are not all routine. Take, for instance, the bizarre case of the human torso that washed ashore in Newport Beach in 1970.

"You would think the chance of identifying a headless, limbless body that had been in the water for two to three months would be nil," Walezak said.

But after a three-month investigation, the torso was identified as the body of a local man who had been missing at sea as a result of a boat explosion.

The explosion and marine life were responsible for the loss of limbs and the torso itself apparently had been trapped on the ocean bottom, Walezak said.

"Luckily, a relative of the missing man heard about the torso through press releases and contacted us. Even luckier than that, the missing man had recently had chest Xrays taken and our radiologist was able to study those Xrays and find similar rib cage formations on the torso," Walezak said.



Forensic dentists, he said, can make identifications based on as little as one filling.

"It's really amazing," said Walezak, a former Los Angeles district attorney's investigator who switched fields as a result of a true story that police author Joseph Wambaugh called "Onionfield" when he wrote his book about it.

Like Walezak, Orange County's other coroner's investigators have police backgrounds. They look more like cops than what many expect a coroner's investigator to look like.

A row of government-issue file cabinets separates the office from the sheriff's civil division. There is no morgue-like atmosphere because there is no morgue. The county uses private mortuaries on a weekly rotating basis.

Cut In Water Funding Would Slow OC Growth

By LINDA GRANELL
Register Staff Writer

LAGUNA NIGUEL – A state proposal to limit funds for proposed sewage treatment facilities would put the brakes on south Orange County growth, says Jack Foley, Aliso Water Management Agency (AWMA) general manager.

The state Water Resources Control Board, Foley said, has proposed cutting $10 million in federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) grant funds from AWMA's $40 million sewage treatment improvement and expansion project for seven south county water districts: Los Alisos, El Toro, Moulton Niguel, South Coast, Laguna Beach, Emerald Bay and Irvine Ranch. The state administers EPA funds.

In addition, Foley said, AWMA districts would not be allowed to commit water service to 15,000 tentative tract homes for five years or until an air quality plan is developed.

Foley said the state water board submitted the proposal to cooperate with the state air resources board. "They allege that if we allow too much development, we create an air pollution problem. And, they say, if you build the sewers, you encourage growth," Foley said.

"Now, state water is saying Alicia should be given less capacity and less money," he continued.

AWMA now has 86,000 customers and had projected 200,000 in the next 25 years, Foley said. He said the state's action could cut that figure by 50,000 to 100,000.

The Federal EPA, however, reported in its environmental impact study, "The AWMA project is causitive of urban growth to a very slight degree through its effect on assessed value. If constructed as proposed, it will facilitate development within the area, although not to the same extent as provision of roads," especially the San Diego Freeway.

The EPA grant would finance 75 per cent of the AWMA project, and the state and county both would pick up 12½ per cent.

"The state's saying the growth rate here is so far above the rest of the state, it's unreasonable. They don't want to finance that growth," said Foley.

But, he said, by blocking sewage capacity and funds, the state would be blocking development. "The question is - who has the authority for land use planning, the county or the state?"

Foley said if the state proposal goes into effect, the seven south county water districts might withdraw their requests for federal tax funds and expand their own facilities.

"People have paid taxes on that land with the intent of development," Foley said. "If the water districts build on their own, where will the money come from? Again, from the taxpayers. They'd be paying twice."

Foley said the state air board has been recording pollution at a station in El Toro outside AWMA boundaries and has determined there's too much pollution in the area.

"Where is the pollution really?" Foley asks. "Can they say it's caused from here or from the rest of Orange County and Los Angeles?"

Dick Bratcher, "environmental specialist" with the state water board, said the AWMA was given the opportunity to come up with a plan to reduce air pollution, but added, "politically, there are no feasible solutions for them."

He said the state really isn't trying to control land use planning, but that "any mitigation of air polluion is land-use oriented. Planning should take into account things like air quality and this wasn't being done."

He said funding was reduced because EPA grants are designed to clean up existing water quality programs, not to expand for the future.

The AWMA project calls for building a treated sewage pipeline from Los Alisos, through El Toro, and Moulton Niguel to a new Aliso Beach outfall.

The new outfall would extend 8,600 feet offshore to replace two smaller outfalls.

Also, the Laguna Beach treatment plant would be

Enrollment In Orange County's Private Schools Is Increasing

By JIM BROCK
Register Staff Writer

Enrollment in Orange County's private schools has nearly doubled over the past five years, while church-affiliated schools have reported a decline, local and state school officials reported Wednesday.

The number of private schools in the county also has jumped dramatically from 74 in 1971 to 138 last year. But the number of Roman Catholic and other church-affiliated schools has grown only slightly from 76 to 81 over the last half-decade.

Enrollment in private schools increased from 4,572 to 7,890, while the church-affiliated student population has dipped from 24,544 to 23,474, according to a report from the state private school auditing department.

In the elementary grades, private schools maintained a steady growth over the reporting period, but church-affiliated grammar schools logged a heavy decrease from 19,785 in 1971 to 17,869 last year, the report said.

On the high school level, student population growth was reported in both private and church-affiliated schools. Private ninth through 12th grade enrollment climbed from 445 to 528 students, and church-related schools jumped from 3,660 to 4,604 – due to the opening of the Lutheran High School in Orange in 1974, and Melodyland High School in Anaheim last year.

Administrators could only speculate on the reasons for private school enrollment growth and the decline in church school student population.

"Parents look for alternatives to public schooling when their child isn't learning the basics," said a private school principal. "When their church doesn't have a school nearby they turn to the closest private school, I guess."

A parochial school principal said, "The Catholic Church has not encouraged expansion of our grammar school program in the past because of increasing costs. This may change, though. We have a new diocese and new leadership."

Many private and church-related school officials believe parents are turning to them because of dissatisfaction with schools run on budgets funded by local, county, state and federal taxes.

"Government schools set a mold, what they call a standardized curriculum, and try to force the child into it," said Martin Roston, executive director for Montessori grammar schools in Orange, Fountain Valley and Mission Viejo.

"We don't repress the child's desire to learn. We make school work a means of developing a child's special talents leading to success-based adulthood," he said.

"Parents want the best education for their children. The fact that they are sending them (children) to a private school means they're dissatisfied with public schools," Roston said.

His Mission Viejo school opened in 1975 and is filled to its 120-student capacity this year.

Other private school administrators said some parents want their child in a private school because they went to one. "They usually try a public school for one or two grades then realize their child is not learning to his or her ability level," said one headmaster.

Many parents, however, look for a private school that comes close to what they believe should be taught in schools.

Principal Joanne Weber at Edgewood Private School, Tustin, explained, "Most of our parents want their children in a private school and are willing to sacrifice if required to keep them there."

"Our school emphasizes strong reading, math, language art skills and work-study habits that will enable the child to achieve to his or her maximum ability."

None of the private schools contacted reported parents who placed children in their facilities because Roman Catholic or other church-related schools could not accept them.

Statewide, the number of private schools has jumped from 717 to 1,340 and enrollment has increased from 57,936 to 90,636 since 1971. Church-affiliated schools increased slightly from

Brea To Levy Fees On New Construction

BREA – School trustees have approved a $600-per-housing unit fee to be levied against developers building the Brea-Olinda Unified School District.

The fee – a $400 increase – will be imposed to pay for school construction costs to accommodate children entering district schools from new housing tracts, said Supt. Paul Bolie.

By 1984, 3,000 students from 4,000 new houses are expected to enter district schools, according to staff predictions, he said.

Nearly $2.4 million in school construction fees will be generated over the seven-year period.

Bolie said the fee increase required to offset rising construction costs. The fees are to be paid to the district before construction begins.

Currently the City of Orange levies a similar $500-per-dwelling unit fee.

CONTROVERSIAL PLAN

Community Center Hearing Tuesday

ANAHEIM – The city has received a $750,000 federal grant to build a community center in Modjeska Park, but a group of residents in the area say they don't want the center built.

A city council hearing has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Senior Citizen's Center, 222 E. Chartres St.

The residents, who showed up at last week's council meeting to protest the proposed construction, claim the center would cause an increase in traffic in the area. Most agreed they prefer the park as it is.

The residents contend the city shouldn't necessarily spend the federal money just because it received it.

The protesting residents are expected to be opposed at the hearing by senior citizens, who have been pushing for a facility for their activities.

City staff members have also expressed a concern that if the city doesn't proceed with the development, the federal government would be reluctant to consider further grant requests from Anaheim.

OC Manpower Panel Gets Job Funding

SANTA ANA – The Orange County Manpower Commission has received more than $11.3 million in federal job funds to continue approximately 1,500 jobs in local governments through September 1977.

Robert C. Nelson, commission executive director, said the jobs are funded under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

The jobs supplement local government operations in schools, libraries, hospitals, park and recreation, public works and police and fire departments.

In 1976, the commission allocated more than $25 million in CETA funds to the county and 11 cities for 14,250 jobs in Orange County.

Special Meet Site Changed

MISSION VIEJO – The special meeting Monday of Saddleback Community College District trustees has been moved to a larger meeting room on the Saddleback campus.

The 7:30 p.m. meeting was changed from the board room in the library to room 313 in the Science-Math building.

Trustees are anticipating a large crowd for the meeting they have set to hear the Irvine Company's proposal to change the site of the district's proposed 20-acre northern campus.

LH Bilingual Program OKd

LA HABRA – A six-month bilingual training program for La Habra City School district teachers, aides and parent-helpers has been approved by school trustees.

Under a $1,240 contract with Cal State Fullerton, to begin this month, a consultant from the university will oversee the program to train about 40 persons in the Spanish language and culture.

About 28 per cent of the district's enrollment is composed of Spanish heritage students, said Supt. Warren Kraft.

He said the bilingual training program is designed to acquaint "anglo" students with the Spanish culture through teachers and aides, in addition to helping Spanish-speaking students learn the English language.

TOURISM COMMISSION DELEGATES TAKE A BREAK FROM SOMBER NEWS ON MEXICO

Mexican State Tourist Official Says Danger Stories 'Created'

By STAN WULFF
Register Staff Writer

COSTA MESA – The director of the Mexican state tourist bureau in Tijuana said here that an image of danger is being created about Mexico so that tourists will stop and spend their money in San Diego.

Enrique Sanchez Mayans was speaking as a delegate to the Commission of the Californias which met here last week.

"San Diego is one of the most visited cities in the United States. They want the tourists to spend all their money there. The only way to stop those tourists from crossing the border into Mexico is to create an image of danger in traveling to Mexico," he said.

Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally, chairman of the U.S. delegation to the commission, agreed that reports of incidents involving U.S. tourists in Baja have been "exaggerated."

Sanchez Mayans said he doesn't believe there is a "conspiracy" to wage a "bad news campaign" against Mexico, as charged by others at the assembly, but that it is a matter of "business."

Sanchez Mayans said that at the same time a group of Americans were robbed in a camp ground near Ensenada early last year, a Mexican family was assaulted in a San Diego motel, robbed and the mother and daughter raped. He said a large San Diego newspaper ran a banner headline on the story of the Americans being robbed but gave only a very small headline to the story about the Mexicans being robbed and raped.

"We want to assure people that they can go to Mexico just as safely as to Canada or any other country, and probably more so," said Francisco Santana Peralta, chairman of the Baja California delegation.

He told of a Mexicali police chief who lost four members of his family in a hotel fire in Tucson. "He does not hate the United States for that," he said. "And he doesn't tell people not to stay at American hotels."

Santana Peralta said Ensenada has been "seriously hurt" in the past year, the worst in its history of tourism, by a reluctance of Americans to visit Mexico.

MOUSETRAPS SET

Irvine City Hall Has Problems

By ART BARRETT
Register Staff Writer

IRVINE – Ever since three field mice were seen peering into City Manager William Woolett's office, women employes at the new city hall have kept their eyes on their work and their ears tuned for suspicious squeaks.

It was later learned that the three mice may have been a scouting party as bits of evidence throughout the building indicated that some of the new tenants had tails.

Enter Wally Kreutzen, assistant director of administrative services.

Kreutzen and two other city employes placed six mousetraps inside the building, at 17200 Jamboree Blvd., in the Irvine Industrial Complex.

Last year, fleas in the city hall were abated by city employe Sandy Bomer who spread eucalyptus leaves beneath the desks, Kreutzen said.

So far preliminary reports show the mice elimination effort has netted five real mice and one rubber mouse.

The rubber mouse, apparently left by a practical joker, only squeaked if squeezed and even that sent some female employes up the wall.

Hearing Set On Pay Hike For Teachers

ANAHEIM – A public hearing on the Anaheim Secondary Teachers Association's proposed 1976-77 contract, which calls for a 6.1 per cent hike in teacher pay, has been scheduled by Anaheim Union High School District trustees for Feb. 17.

The board received the teacher union's proposal Thursday and, following a brief presentation, set a hearing date for public comment on the proposed agreement.

The proposed wage hike would be added to the three per cent increase granted the district's 1,388-member teaching staff last summer. The hike cost district taxpayers about $660,000.

After the hearing, the district will make a counter proposal and then open negotiations with the teacher group.

Last month, the teacher group was granted "exclusive bargaining rights" for all teachers in the district's 40 junior and senior high schools.

Orange Names New Assistant Fire Official

ORANGE – A new assistant fire chief was named and a fire captain retired this past week.

William F. Wade, 45, has been appointed as the new assistant chief. He has been with the department since 1956, having been promoted to battalion chief in 1967.

Capt. Charles A. Pister, 62, who has been with the department 25 years, retired.

Orange Residents Oppose 'Social Element' Measure

ORANGE – With remarks such as "Big Brother is here" and "the city should forget babysitting," members of the audience last week overwhelmingly opposed council adoption of a "social element" to the general plan.

The council voted 3-2 to refer the document, a policy statement on the city's involvement in "social" programs, to the Housing and Community Development Committee (HCD) for study and recommendations.

"Best government is the minimum government," said Walter Smith, ACTION, (Action Committee to Inform Orange Now) president.

"This would let the city decide which services to eliminate and which to take over," said Mary Jane Mann, executive director of YWCA. Councilman Jim Beam said that traditionally social and welfare programs have been the "province of federal, state and county government due to their greater fiscal resource base.

"It is doubtful whether taxpayers in the city the size of Orange have the ability or desire to underwrite governmental expenditures for a social service delivery system."

He said the role of the city is "to identify social needs of the community and provide linkages required to assist people in obtaining the services they need and desire."

Councilman Don Smith and Mayor Bob Hoyt voted against referring the matter to HCD.

"Since a social element is not mandatory to the general plan, I don't feel it's in the best interest of the city to adopt it," said Hoyt.

Councilman Jess Perez said he felt it was government's job to provide programs when the people need help.

Private School Enrollment

1,291 to 1,328 over that period, while enrollment dropped by more than 20,000 students – from 351,425 to 331,011.

State private school auditor Robert McCarthy said Orange County private and parochial school enrollment is "running along the same track" as statewide tabulations, except in the high school tallies.

He said "white flight" is not the cause for surge of enrollment in the private and parochial high schools. "It could be linked to the increase in crime and violence on public school campuses," he said.

Orange Catholic diocesan school superintendent Brother Dominic Berardelli and administrators at the Lutheran and Melodyland high schools agreed that parents are looking for an "alternative" to tax-supported schools.

"Parents are getting discouraged with the lack of discipline and direction in public schools. They appear to be turning toward fundamentals and seeking a school curriculum that has religion at its foundation," he said.

Robert Teel, Melodyland High School dean of students, said, "A lot of parents believe public schools are not taking the initiative in creating in their child a desire to learn.

"They turn to this school seeking a fundamental Christian education where it is not illegal to pray in the classroom," he said.

Charles E. Schlimper, principal at Lutheran High School, said, "There are three reasons why a youngster comes to our school.

"He's in trouble at a public school and we are used as a penal institution; the youngster and parent agree that a change in schools would give him more personal caring from teachers; and the student who attends a Lutheran Church in the county and wants to continue in a non-public school environment."

Brother Dominic said Catholic parents have made tentative appeals to the diocese to build another high school in the southern part of Orange County.

The diocese operates 35 grammar schools and two of the county's six Catholic high schools.

Enrollment this year is expected to climb above the 1975-76 level in the Orange diocese, he said. "Elementary enrollment is expected to increase to 13,998 from last year's 13,901, and the number of high school students is projected to climb to 3,963 students compared to 3,975 last year.

closed, and the South Coast Plant expanded.

State officials plan to attend the AWMA public hearing on its environmental impact report and facilities plan beginning at 3 p.m. Wednesday at Niguel Hills High School.

The staff will decide after the hearing whether to go ahead with the proposal. The AWMA then is entitled to appeal that decision to the state board.

China Group Slates Talk

LAGUNA BEACH – The U.S. China Peoples' Friendship Association of Orange County will present a lecture and slide show at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Laguna Federal Savings and Loan, 260 Ocean Ave.

Guest speakers will be Rosalie and Maury Abrams, who visited Red China during October and November.

Their slides include pictures of demonstrators honoring the late Mao Tse Tung, wall posters of the "gang of four", underground defense tunnels, acupuncture and Chinese street scenes.

LH Man Named To Head Board

LA HABRA – Ex-city councilman Louis Zuniga has been named chairman of the board of Orange County Community Development Council (ODC).

Zuniga, who will hold his term through August, is an executive with the state Employment Development Department. The ODC directs social service programs throughout the county.

LAUREL SCHOOLERS WITH BREA'S LIBERTY BELL

GIFT TO BREA

Bicentennial Bell Tours Classrooms

By WAYNE ARONSEN
Register Staff Writer

BREA – This city has come out of the bicentennial "binge" with something that will last – a half-size replica of the Liberty Bell.

The bell has begun a tour of Brea's seven schools with Laurel Elementary as its first stop.

Brea's student population of about 5,000 chipped in $500 toward the bell's casting.

The 250-pound bronze bell was donated to the city during the celebrations last July 4th but had since been collecting dust in storage at a local Masonic temple.

The city has no place to put it until a new city complex – still in the planning stage – is built.

The Brea Masonic Lodge, a contributor to the bell's $2,000 tab, thought it best that the bell be aired somewhere, so Ken Reed, a lodge member and principal of Laurel School initiated the tour.

McGraw Foundry in Brea cast the bell with part owner, Phil Campbell contributing his time and skills. Campbell's partner, Aubrey Shafer, figures the bell's value at $5,000, considering that it is one of a kind and that pattern making took five weeks and actual casting was another week of work all applied to the one bell.

Any additional bells would reduce the value of the original.

In case you're wondering, the crack was hand cut with a sabre saw.

Taxpayers' Group Sets Monday Meet

GARDEN GROVE – A public meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday by the Garden Grove Taxpayers Association, a group seeking to place a property tax limitation measure on the May 31 school election ballot.

Former mayor Bernard Adams, head of the group, said the meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at Pacifica High School, Knott Street and Lampson Avenue. Members will be on hand to direct the public to the meeting room, he said.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss strategy and hand out petitions to volunteer workers. The group needs 8,240 valid signatures by Feb. 15 in order to qualify the issue for the May ballot. A total of 10,000 signatures is the organization's goal.

The measure, if passed by voters, would limit city property tax revenues to the 1974-75 level of $3,019,000. The 1976-77 revenue estimate is nearly $4 million due to new taxes coming in from jumps in assessed valuation.

Assuming the current trend of assessed property valuation rising each year, the city would have to reduce its tax rate annually to comply with the proposed measure's lid on tax revenues.

The city is involved in preparing a one-time rebate of increases in this year's local property tax payments.

LOSE FAT

"MODEL-ETTS" HELPS CURB YOUR APPETITE HELPS YOU LOSE THAT EXTRA WEIGHT • NO CALORIE COUNTING! • NO EXERCISES! • NO SPECIAL DIETS!

Thanks to a group of New York doctors, you can now lose pounds of ugly fat without going on any special diet, without cutting out any special foods.

HELPS REDUCE HUNGRY MOMENTS

These New York doctors discovered a food adjuvant called "MODEL-ETTS." "Model-etts" does remarkable things. It helps you cut down your caloric intake by a natural automatic curbing of the appetite and of the desire for foods, resulting automatically in a reduced intake of food.

The doctors carefully checked results, and here is what they found: 1. Weight losses of 6 to 20 pounds without any ill effects whatsoever. 2. 96% of the men and women who used "Model-etts" lost weight. "Model-etts" is absolutely safe. It is a food adjuvant--not a drug. So, start today to shed those unwanted pounds and inches. If your condition is glandular or organic, see your doctor. "Model-etts" may help you stay on the diet your doctor recommends. Ask him about it.

One "Model-etts" Wafer has the hunger satisfying capacity of 1 lb. boiled potatoes or 4 eggs or 5 slices of white bread, yet it contains only 6 calories.

Nutritional science knows that you need Vitamin C every day. It affects every single cell in your body. Yet your body can't store it. But, without a sufficient supply of Vitamin C, your body can't manufacture a special cement called "collagen"--the cement that holds every single cell in the body together. So you can see how important it is to be sure of getting enough Vitamin C.

That's where Nutrition Square Natural Vitamin C with Acerola comes in. These new chewable Vitamin C tablets have such a wonderfully tangy true-fruit taste, people love to chew them like candy.

We're so sure that, once your family tastes Nutrition Square Natural Vitamin C with Acerola tablets, everyone in your family will insist on them ...we're offering you this free taste test.

Why Nutrition Square Chewable Vitamin C Tablets are made with Natural Acerola Berries.

The tropical acerola berry is one of nature's wonders. It is amazingly rich in natural Vitamin C--up to 80 times as rich as an equal amount of orange juice.

Orange County MILITARY BEAT

By Lou Capozzoli

Another battle in the campaign to wrest part of Camp Pendleton from the Marine Corps for use as a part and recreation area has been launched.

The newest salvo was fired by Rep. Glenn M.Anderson of the 32nd Congressional District (San Pedro) who said he has introduced a bill which directs the Department of the Interior to study the "feasibility of converting some of the Camp Pendleton Marine Base into a national park.

Anderson, who was lieutenant governor during the Edmund G. (Pat) Brown administration, said his bill already has been endorsed by Rep. Mark Hannaford of the 34th Congressional District (which encompasses the west Orange County area), and eight other California representatives.

Actually, the bill was submitted by retired Rep. Alphonzo Bell of Los Angeles last year. Bob Buoric,Anderson's press aide in Long Beach, said the Anderson bill contains the same text as Bell's bill, which did not specify just how much of Camp Pendleton's property would be turned over for use as a national park. (The reservation includes 13 miles of beach, and 125,000 acres of oak-lined canyons, three mountain chains and several lakes and streams.)

Anderson, in a prepared news release, said, "This bill is not a 'witch hunt' aimed at the Marines.

"I believe Camp Pendleton has been and must continue to be a vital training base for our Marine forces, Beach and inland areas must be kept intact for their purposes. However, close to Pendleton is 29 Palms Marine Corps Base with 932 square miles, Anderson pointed out.

"With Yosemite already overcrowded, and a long drive, this idea for a national park within the Los Angeles-San Diego megalopolis seems like a good one to me," Anderson added.

"With 932 square miles at 29 Palms, and 195 square miles at Pendleton's beach and property be used for recreation by the taxpayers," he said.

According to the congreeman's release, the new park would be named Santa Margarita National Recreation area.

MEDICAL CARE CUT: Two clinics at the El Toro station dispensary (Branch Clinic of the Naval Regional Medical Center) have sharply curtailed care for retirees and their dependents.

And there obviously is a no alternative or solution for the retirees.

Due to a shortage of enlisted dental technicians, the Dental Clinic now is treating retirees on a space-available, standby basis only.

The clinic, officials said, is operating at 85 per cent of its normal manning level and the shortage of personnel – particularly in the prosthetics and periodontics areas – will exist at least until June 30 or longer.

The other cutback in service is the Eye Clinic, which, officials said, is due to an increased backlog of appointments for active duty personnel. The clinic no longer does eye refractions (exams) for retirees nor their dependents. Capt. George Dalyeat, senior medical officer at the facility, said the clinic will continue to fill prescriptions for glases from outside sources, but only for retirees, not dependents.

What's the answer to the cutbacks? What should retirees do?.

There's not much they can do.

When asked if they should go to the Long Beach Naval Regional Medical Center for the care, Capt. Dalyeat replied, "That's not the solution, they have the same problems as we do."

And, unfortunately, CHAMPUS does not cover routine dental or eye care.

Capt. Dalyeat did point out, however, that the dental and eye clinics still treat emergency cases.

MARINE BERET POLL Last Nov. 21 I reported that the Commandant of the Marine Corps was toying with the idea of putting berets on all Leathernecks, but he would make no decision until they were tested in the field and had the "general acceptance of the entire Corps."

Last week the Flight Jacket reported the results of the poll, which covered all ranks from private first class to major. Thirty-two per cent of those polled were sergeants.

The beret was favored by the majority, Sixty per cent said they wanted it. But 31 per cent were against it and two per cent said they were undecided.

It was just the opposite on the sweater. Sixty-three per cent opposed it while 31 per cent favored it. Again, two per cent couldn't decide one way or the other. Comments on the survey forms ranged from "It is not the Marine image," to "ugly" and "no way."

Generally, most of those surveyed said the beret should be black (not green such as those being tested), should be worn with utilities only or replace all headgear currently being worn. The chief reason given by those opposing the beret was "the Corps should not try to follow the uniform styles of other services."

How about you retirees and former Marines, any comments?

MOVE TO SAVE SHIP: Four retired admirals who served aboard the cruiser USS St. Louis during World War II are forming a national association to try to save the ship from the scrap pile.

The move was prompted by a recent ssociatioed Press story which said the "Lucky Lou" was anchored in Guanabara Bay, near Rio de Janiero, waiting to be scrapped.

Mission of "USS St. Louis (CL-49) Association will be to organize a national campaign and establish a fund to buy the ship, return her to the States and establish and maintain her as a World War II monument.

Those who would like to join the association can do so by writing to Cmdr. A. L. Seton, 220 Otis Ave.,New Dorp, Staten Island NY. 10306.

In 1951 the St. Louis, the only major warship to get under way and gain the open sea during the Pearl Harbor Attack, was sold to the Brazilian Navy to bolster Western Hemisphere defenses during the Korean conflict. But late last year, she was decommissioned and destined for the scrap heap.

STILL ON THE BOOKS: The Pentagon reports that a special pay for people who fly gliders ($110 for officers and $55 for enlisted) is still on the books. Only hitch is that no one has flown a glider for about 25 years. also on the books:

– Leprosarium duty pay ($110 for officers and $55 for enlisted). Three officers draw it.

– Self-propelled submersible duty pay ($50 to $254 per month). About 75 Navy types draw it.

– Responsibility pay ($50 to $150) for officers in critical positions. Army and Navy used it briefly, the Air Force never did. Last to collect were 108 officers paid in 1973.

NEW PLACE AND TIME: As I mentioned a few weeks ago, the Los Alamitos Area Chapter of The Retired Officers ssociation no longer will hold its dinner-meetings at the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station.

Instead, the chapter will meet at Marmac's Restaurant, 12777 Knott St., Garden Grove, which is just two blocks north of the Garden Grove Freeway.

But that's not all. The group also has changed its meeting nights from the third Friday to the third Thursday of each month. That's this coming Thursday.

Lt. Col. Reese Jackman, chapter president, hopes the new meeting night will bring out members who have been unable to attend the Friday night meetings.

He added that retired Coast Guard Rear Adm. Frank D. Higbee, "an almost legendary figure in maritime circles," will be guest speaker Thursday.

'Open Space' Tour Slated By NB Group

NEWPORT BEACH – An "endangered sites" tour of some of the city's remaining open spaces will be conducted Monday by a local group: Stop Polluting Our Newport.

Tour sites include the Castaways, Cagney, Irvine and University, Eastbluff Extension and Marine-Bayside, area's SPON president Mrs. Jean Watt, said. The sites are included in the city's $7.1 million bond measure to be decided on the March 8 ballot.

As proposed, the bond issue calls for city acquisition of more than 130 acres at nine sites throught the city.

In endorsing the bond election, SPON members also want the city to acquire more than the eight acres proposed at the Castaways site, Mrs. Watt said.

Last month, Friends of Newport Bay and the Irvine Co. pledged mutual support for the $7.1 bond measure, and the Irvine Co. agreed to match the group's contribution to the campaign.

The March 8 election will be held in conjunction with a special election being conducted by Coast College District and Newport-Mesa Unified School District.

Heads Group

GARDEN GROVE – Dr. William A. Grant has been elected president of the Southern California Veterinary Medical Association (SCVMA), the largest regional veterinary association in the United States.

SA Woman Receives Five Inauguration Invitations

By CAROLE KEMP
Register Staff Writer

SANTA ANA — Inaugural invitations are becoming almost as plentiful as peanuts in Georgia for Mrs. Sadie Reid.

When the last one arrived last week "I wasn't even going to open it," she said.

But it turned out to be the most special of all – a personalized and handwritten invitation to the presidential inauguration, including tickets to the parade and ball.

In all, she has five invitations, including the two general invitations she and her husband received several weeks ago, another delivered last week and the personal one which arrived Wednesday.

"I'm really grateful. It will be quite an experience, and something I'll never forget," Mrs. Reid said.

The youthful-appearing grandmother of seven said that her four daughters "are all chipping in and helping me go." She and her husband will leave for Washington Tuesday.

"I've been active in politics since Bobby Kennedy but this is the first time I've ever received an inaugural invitation." She was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention last summer, and was involved in planning the local campaign.

Mrs. Reid founded the Parenthood Involvement Council, a group of minority citizens which organized Creative Day Care, a pre-school center in Southwest Santa Ana. It accommodates youngsters from low-income and welfare families to free mothers for job training and schooling.

In 1972 she was voted Orange County Woman of the Year and in November of last year received Santa Ana's Golden City Award for Community Participation. She is a member of the Orange County Commission on the Status of Women and the Santa Ana Fire Prevention Commission.

Mrs. Reid, who was defeated in a write-in campaign for county supervisor in 1972, has filed to run for a city council seat in Santa Ana's so-called "black ward" in the April election.

BP Councilman Will Attend Demo Meeting

BUENA PARK – Councilman James Jarrell will give up a trip to President-elect Jimmy Carter's inauguration Jan. 20 to attend a state Democratic convention Jan. 29-30 in Sacramento.

His council colleagues agreed the city should pick up part of the tab for Jarrell, recently appointed to the state central committee.

Council members rationalized that Jarrell will make political contacts that will be useful to the city.

The council also agreed to pay the $175 transportation cost to send 28 management staff members and department heads to a management retreat the same weekend in Lake Arrowhead.

The retreat will have to do with programmed budgeting which the city will be using this year.

Mysteries

Investigators go to the scenes of all reported deaths, interview witnesses and determine the cause of death.

Most unidentified body case victims die from drug overdoses and most are identified quickly through fingerprints and records checks, according to Walezak.

"Dump jobs," jargon for unidentified bodies often found nude in isolated fields, are the most difficult identification cases, he said.

"Sometimes the bodies are in good condition, we can get good fingerprints but they don't have criminal records and no one calls us inquiring about a missing person. They never get identified," said Walezak.

The office never closes a case on unidentified bodies and has eight such cases dating back to 1970 still pending.

One case involves a young man who drove off the Euclid overpass of the Santa Ana Freeway on New Year's morning five years ago. He was struck by several vehicles and he has never been identified.

"Here's a human being that's dispappeared from the face of the earth. Someone, somewhere must care. Someone must want to know what happened," Walezak said.

Most of the investigators, Walezak said, feel the same way he does about unidentified bodies.

"I can't think of anything sadder," he added, "than being buried by the county in an unmarked grave.

Man Is Much Happier Since Joining O.A.

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: In 1973 I wrote to you and you printed my letter together with your answer, which changed my life. I would like to share with you what has happened to me since:

1. I have sustained my 100-pound weight loss for five years.
2. I went into therapy.
3. I received a Master's degree in psychology, and am now a practicing and teaching therapist.

I owe an eternal debt of gratitude to Overeaters Anonymous and you.

ALBERT IN LOS ANGELES

DEAR ALBERT: Don't sell yourself short. Without your determination, you never could have accomplished your goal. I shall reprint your letter as an inspiration to others who need it now.

DEAR ABBY: My name is Albert, and I am a compulsive overeater. Three years ago I weighed 305 pounds. I was in debt to the tune of $8,000, my marriage was on the rocks and I was about to lose my job. Overeating was the cause of all my problems, but I didn't know it then.

I had tried reducing clubs three times, diet doctors, quack doctors, shots, pills, and even hypnosis. One diet doctor put me on pills and shots and I lost 100 pounds in seven months. In less than six months I had put it all back on again. (It cost me $1,500.)

Then someone told me about Overeaters Anonymous, and I went to a meeting. There were signs all over the place saying, "WE CARE."

Abby, I have never met a more loving, caring bunch of people in my life. I couldn't believe it. The only requirement to join "O.A." is a desire to stop eating compulsively. There are no dues, and nobody is weighed in or humiliated. You don't even have to attend meetings if you don't want to. I can only tell you that after that first meeting I felt that God had sent me there.

Today, I weigh 180 pounds, am debt free, have money in the bank and my marriage is more secure than ever. I've even returned to my church, where I was ashamed to go for years because I felt so unworthy.

Overeaters Anonymous is strictly that. No last names are used, but I will sign mine, and you may check me out. That organization has done so much for me I want to let others know about it so they can be born again. Because that's what happened to me.

ALBERT IN LOS ANGELES

DEAR ALBERT: Not only did I check you out, but I personally spoke with several members of "O.A.," and every word you wrote is true. Anyone interested in learning more about this wonderful organization (there are chapters all over the U.S.) may write to Overeaters Anonymous, P.O. Box 34854, Los Angeles, Calif. 90034.

DEAR ABBY: The other day a friend of mine (I will call her Josephine) told me how cool she thought my brother was and that would give anything to go out with him.

Well, I told my brother about Josephine and what she said, and he didn't think the same about her. In fact he thought she was a creep. I even offered him money to take her out just once, but he wouldn't do it. I know Josephine is going to ask me about my brother again. What shall I tell her?

ON THE SPOT

DEAR ON: If Josephine inquires abo our "cool" brother again, tell her that he freezes at t suggestion of dating a friend of yours, and unless she can attract him on her own, it's not tonight Josephine—or any other night.

Weather Delays Commuter Van Program Expansion

By CAROLE KEMP
Register Staff Writer

Heavy snow is stalling the expansion of Commuter Computer's "Van Pool" program in Orange County.

Nine vans slated for Orange County "are presently stuck in four feet of snow in St. Louis," said Traute Moore, Commuter Computer spokeswoman, who said she believes the vehicles are aboard a snowbound train.

When they arrive, the vans will travel to downtown Los Angeles from Cypress, Huntington Beach, Diamond Bar, and the Orange-Anaheim and Placentia-Brea. In addition, vans from Garden Grove and Huntington Beach will begin service to Northrop Corp., Hawthorne. Another van will commute from Laguna Niguel to Rockwell International, El Segundo.

Fifteen vans from Los Angeles, Ventura and Orange Counties inaugurated the expanded downtown Los Angeles service Friday morning with ceremonies at Atlantic Richfield Plaza, the destination for most riders.

The program is self-supporting through the fees of its passengers, but the salaries of those involved in marketing the program are derived from Commuter Computer's general funds, according to Ms. Moore.

Orange County contributed $89,713 to Commuter Computer in 1975. Last year, the county allocated $108,000 plus $8,500 in services which because of less than expected expenditures, will fund the program through June of this year, according to Art Beale, administrative services assistant, Orange County general service agency — special services.

"None of this money came out of the county general fund, and it does not affect the county tax rate," Beale said. Orange County's share last year was paid from state gas tax funds.

Commuter Computer has now opened an Orange County office at 1010 S. Harbor Blvd., Anaheim.

Commuter Computer is seeking additional drivers and riders for the van pool program. Drivers are fellow commuters, employed in the same area. The driver pays nothing, while the passengers share the cost of leasing and running the vehicle.

The program is the result of the combined efforts of Atlantic Richfield Company, Commuter Computer and Crocker Bank. Under the Van Pool program, vans are leased from Crocker Bank and administered by Commuter Computer, the regional ride sharing organization which has promoted car and van pooling in Orange, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside and Ventura counties.

According to Ms. Moore, the driver obtains the use of the vehicle at night and on weekends, when it may be used as a family vehicle for a small mileage fee. The cost of insurance for both commuter and personal use is paid by Commuter Computer.

The monthly charge per passenger varies from $49 to $63, based on distance traveled, Ms. Moore said. By comparison, the operating cost for driving a daily 60-mile round trip in a standard car is $115 a month, or more than twice the monthly van pool fare of $56 for a similar trip she said.

And for every van on the road, nine vehicles are removed from the freeway, she said, which not only reduces congestion and pollution, but saves gasoline as well.

"Riding in the vans is like traveling on a jet to San Francisco," Moore said. The interiors feature airline reclining seats, individual reading lights, air conditioning and overhead earphone jacks.

Commuter Computer presently operates five vans to the mid-Wilshire area of Los Angeles (Wilshire and Mariposa from Mission Viejo, Fullerton, Buena Park and Huntington Beach.

Commuters may volunteer to be drivers. A person interested in joining the program as either a driver or rider fills out an application.

The new Orange County Commuter Computer office number is 834-RIDE. The Los Angeles Van Pool number is (213) 625-RIDE. The Commuter Computer number is (213) 380-RIDE.

Brezhnev Warns Of Arms Race

MOSCOW (AP) – Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev warned today that the easing of international tensions "is endangered by continuing the ever-growing arms race.

Brezhnev made the statement in a message to the opening session here of a World Forum of Peace Forces. Officials said delegates from more than 120 countries and representatives of more than 70 international organizations are attending the meeting.

Brezhnev said that in addition to the danger of a nuclear catastrophe, "the arms race in itself is a waste of material and spiritual resources of mankind, resources so needed for combating hunger, disease, illiteracy and for solving social, energy, raw material and ecological problems."

FAMILY TRANSLATES BIBLE INTO UNWRITTEN LANGUAGE

By CHERYL PRUETT
Register Staff Writer

ORANGE – The family that translates together stays together – so to speak.

And the Allen Freudenburg family has been staying in Papua New Guinea since 1967 when Freudenburg went to the South Pacific island to translate the Bible for the Boiken people.

Freudenburg, his wife Marlene, and their three children were on vacation here last week before returning to their "bush" house in New Guinea. This year David will attend college in Indiana, Mark will attend Orange High School and Cathy returns with her parents.

Freudenburg and his wife are members of the Lutheran Bible Translators, based in Orange, and Wycliffe Bible Translators, also headquartered in Orange County.

The prospect of translating the Bible into the unwritten language of the Boiken people "intrigued" Freudenburg.

He and his wife, both school teachers, studied linguistics and took 14 weeks of jungle training in Mexico to learn to live off the land. Then they were ready to go.

"We believe we are the first and only persons ever to put the Boiken language in writing," Freudenburg said. He explained that with linguistics you learn to recognize all the speech sounds made in a language and then make an alphabet.

It took Freudenburg one year to create a tentative alphabet, but actual communications is an on-going process, he said.

"Every people has its way of talking, joking, idioms, slang," said Freudenburg. "Whatever we do in English, you can do in other languages."

Boiken is only one of 700 languages on New Guinea, the second largest island in the world.

"Our work is challenging," said Freudenburg. "There's a problem to solve every day and you must use your own ingenuity."

Teaching the Boikens to read also is part of the Freudenburgs' job. That's where Mrs. Freudenburg excels.

The Freudenburgs think of themselves as translators, not as stereo-typed missionaries.

"We learn everything we can about what the Boikens believe," said Mrs. Freudenburg. "We teach them to read and write, but they have to decide about religion themselves."

Her husband added, "We never tell them anything about their system is wrong. We don't keep count of who becomes Christians; we simply distribute materials."

There are 142 Boiken villages. Freudenburg uses a motorbike to do his visiting, but most of his work is at the desk.

"We are now considered friends. When we first arrived the people wondered what work they would get stuck with by us," he said, adding that the island people had only known exploitation.

Freudenburg has translated 40 per cent of the New Testament, plus Genesis of the Old Testament. He also translates other material such as books on carpentry.

He said that it was hard finding words in Boiken to describe grace, peace, mercy. "They have no abstract nouns."

But to the Freudenburgs, who will be in New Guinea until 1980, the easiest way to make friends is to learn to speak the language.

Judge Removed From LA's School Integration Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) – Superior Court Judge Parks Stillwell, who was to oversee courtordered integration in the school district, has been taken off the case at the request of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Presiding Superior Court Judge William P. Hogoboom did not name a successor immediately.

Hogoboom and Stillwell issued a joint statement that they agreed to the ACLU request to avoid any question of bias in the case.

"If any segment of the community has any doubts about the impartiality of Judge Stillwell, well-founded or not, it is in the best interest of all concerned that he be relieved of the responsibility," the joint statement said.

The ACLU is the plaintiff in the suit, which was filed in 1963 and finally brought to the state Supreme Court, which affirmed a lower court order that the district eliminate segregated schools.

The ACLU and the school district agreed last month that Stillwell be the judge to oversee the district's efforts to make sure the court order was satisified.

ACLU spokesman Ramona Ripston said the organization was not making any charges of bias against Judge Stillwell, but "something has come up" and they felt it was better to start over with a new judge.

Kidnap-Murder Charges Denied

PASADENA (AP) – A young handyman has pleaded innocent to kidnaping and murder charges in the death of a 26-year-old pregnant Arcadia housewife last month.

Emery S. Riddle was arraigned on two counts of murder, one count of kidnaping for the purpose of robbery, one count of burglary and one count of robbery.

Mrs. Renee Kane, six months pregnant, was taken from her home Dec. 2 and her body was found two days later near Brookside Golf Course. She had been strangled with an electrical cord from a lamp.

Kissinger To Take Job As Visiting D.C. Professor

WASHINGTON (AP) – Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will become a visiting professor of diplomacy at Washington's Georgetown University after he leaves office, administration sources say.

Kissinger's term at the Jesuit school will begin March 1. He will also serve at Georgetown's Center for Strategic and International Studies, an academic think tank specializing in foreign policy.

The outgoing secretary's position at the school will last through the summer, the sources said. They would give no exact salary figure, but it was understood Kissinger would be paid in the $15,000 range.

Rather than teaching ordinary classes, Kissinger will lecture at various intervals on current issues in international affairs.

Kissinger's future has been the subject of intense speculation since President Ford lost his bid for a new White House term. The sources stressed that Kissinger's academic post is temporary and will allow him to write his memoirs, act as a consultant to the Carter administration

The March 1 starting time was negotiated to allow Kissinger to take a lengthy vacation after leaving office Jan. 20 and to give him time to arrange his schedule.

Pentagon Cuts 3,000 Top Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) – Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld has ordered a cut of more than 3,000 senior military and civilian jobs, including 43 generals and admirals.

The Pentagon said the money savings will be nominal, but that the dividend would come in improved efficiency, another stated goal of the Carter administration.

Under Rumsfeld's order, the number of high-level civil service jobs will be reduced by 2,600 in grades drawing salaries ranging from $24,000 to $39,600 a year.

YOUR HOROSCOPE GUIDE FOR THE WEEK OF JAN. 16-22

By GINA
Copley News Service

ARIES (March 21 to April 19 — Also Aries Ascendant) Situations in partnership affairs will come up for solution. Curb impulse, be patient and avoid confrontations if possible. Work steadily toward improving financial conditions. Single Ariens should be discreet in romantic matters.

TAURUS: (April 20 to May 20 — Also Taurus Ascendant) Try mellowing a bit regarding philosophic matters. Concentrate on career and do the job well to impress bosses. Enlarge your group of friends by contacting those people with a variety of interests.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20 — Also Gemini Ascendant) Romance could be your major interest now. Old loves may return —— new ones start forming. View your emotions and desires realistically. If confused about a decision, don't make it. Concentrate on budget.

CANCER: (June 21 to July 22 — Also Cancer Ascendant) Obstacles to your desires could be removed now. Use your energy calmly and resist emotional outbursts. Encourage those working with you and be patient with their efforts. Don't flaunt your success.

LEO: (July 23 to Aug. 22 — Also Leo Ascendant) Get out and about now to make new friends. Social life is active and rewarding. In partnership matters, don't make mountains out of molehills. Overlook trivialities. Attend to all communications, book work and letter writing.

VIRGO: (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 — Also Virgo Ascendant) Get routine chores done so you can have some fun socially. Attend amusement parks, theaters and sports events. Be calm at work and deal carefully with superiors who can be overly emotional just now.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23. to Oct. 22 — Also Libra Ascendant) Single Librans should think things over very carefully before deciding against marriage. Pay debts promptly and avoid borrowing money if possible. A restless, helpless feeling can be overcome by reevaluating your goals.

SCORPIO: (Oct 23 to Nov. 21 — Also Scorpio Ascendant) Good time to liven up your wardrobe with brighter colors and less conservative styles. Try to get out more socially and enlarge your circle of friends. Someone may go out of your life and the leave-taking makes you nostalgic.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov 22 to Dec 21 — Also Sagittarius Ascendant) Dedicate youself to work and don't be tempted away by associates bent on pleasure. Honors and a pay raise could come as a result of your efforts. Work on your memory —— find ways to be less forgetful.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 — Also Capricorn Ascendant) Perservering in the face of obstacles is your long suit and others admire you for it now. Concentrate on the love in your life and enjoy the quiet domestic atmosphere. Your job seems secure and finances will improve soon.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 — Also Aquarius Ascendant) Concentrate on work and don't be affected by outside influences. If someone in your environment is petty and mean it will be best to avoid that person. Good news could reachyou that favorably affects your work.

PISCES: (Feb 19 to March 20 — Also Pisces Ascendant) The desire to sidestep domestic responsibilities could lead you into sudden decisions now. Be sure it is what you really want to do since a parting could be final. Career matters are blooming and a promotion may be in the offing.

MONDAY, JANUARY 17

Your birthday today: Fete your year with fresh resolutions, perhaps a new job. Deliberately turn over a new leaf, leave old habits behind, but adopt conservative, more self-protective ways. Relationships level off in harmony with this phase of your life cycle. Today's natives are noted for tact, frugality, executive ability. Those born this year have these qualities plus a penchant for occult studies, need a solid scientific education before they branch off into the unknown.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Apply for financial improvement you earned or are eligible to receive. Call in advisors, establish teamwork, open new ventures on a confidential basis.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): An innocuous-looking letter is from an influential source. Talks bring information to light, indicate further research. Take home gifts symbolic of your feelings.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Being busy isn't the whole story. Set priorities, know exactly what you put on the line. Add to reserves, don't splurge on surface-appearance items.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You reach the low of your energy cycle for the year, are on your way up. Persuasive powers increase, ask only for your own benefits, not others', however dear.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Make lump-sum settlements, outright purchases if you check the buys. Close pending deals. Creativity takes on fresh perspective thanks to a casual remark.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Mediate differences; point out that how people relate is important, the topic in dispute isn't. Decisions make themselves if you include the right values.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Go with tides of circumstance, realize they're not trivial no matter how short-term. A new job now is a bridge to higher things as yet beyond reach.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Ambition is alive, driving. Begin in an orthodox manner, branch out in mild speculation once you're rolling. You can sell any idea; focus on a permanent one.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be on guard! Today is so easygoing you get careless, put your foot in it, spoil everything. Concentrate on items that upgrade earning potentials.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You get from this week what you put in it. Stay on the move, mentally as well as in travel. Cultivate new social contacts plus the best of those you now have.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Ask questions rather than offer comment. Investigation of past mysteries, review of old problems offer new insight. Make peace among friends where obliged.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Attend to necessary chores first, before friends arrive with distractions, intriguing projects. Don't neglect communication with people in faraway places.

Plane Dunked; Sailor Hunted

TOKYO (AP) - An American sailor was missing today after a Navy A7 Corsair he was in rolled off the flight deck of the aircraft carrier Midway and sank about 250 miles northeast of Okinawa, a spokesman for U.S. forces in Japan said.

A helicopter, the Navy frigate Rathburne and the destroyer Bausell were searching for the enlisted man, who was in the cockpit of the plane, the spokesman said.

The sailor was assigned to Attack Squadron 56 of Carrier Air Wing 5, but his identity was being withheld pending notification of the next of kin, the spokesman said.

He added that an investigation to determine the cause of the accident was underway.

The Midway left Yokosuka, Japan, on Tuesday for a routine patrol mission in the Pacific.

Irvine Okays New Pact For Cablevision

IRVINE - A 15 year franchise has been granted to the Community Cablevision Co. to serve the entire city.

The company, owned by the Irvine Co., currently has 12,368 subscribers and has been in operation under a county franchise here since 1968.

The new city agreement may be amended since company president Wayne Hauser asked that the company be excluded from serving the future planned community of Northwood the only part of the city not on the Irvine Ranch.

Council members in February will be considering a proposal made by a Los Angeles based group to serve the planned 12,000 acre area of Northwood.

Pauling Plans UCI Lecture

IRVINE - Two-time Nobel Prize winner Dr. Linus Pauling will lecture on "Vitamin C and the Causes of Disease" at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 7 at UCI.

The presentation, to be held in the science lecture hall, is open to the public. It is part of his three-week stay, beginning Jan. 24, as a member of the UCI faculty.

N. Irish Terrorists Appear To Be Using Mafia Tactics

Editor's Note: Authorities in Northern Ireland say the sectarian terrorism there has entered a new phase that poses longterm dangers for the battered province. AP newsmen Ed Blanche, who has covered the conflict for five years, reports on the intermingling of crime and political warfare.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) – Security chiefs in northern Ireland believe terrorists' organizations are taking over legitimate businesses in Belfast and now exert strong Mafia-like influence in housing, transportation and bars.

Merlyn Rees, Britain's Northern Ireland secretary until two months ago, called the terrorists' leaders "the Godfathers."

"It can be argued that crime and terrorism are evils that nourish each other," he told the British Parliament.

"Protection rackets and private armies interconnect. Mafias operate as cooperatives, to get rich quick, bloodily and for political ends."

British military intelligence and Northern Ireland's police chiefs have long linked the mainly Roman Catholic Irish Republican Army and its Protestant rivals with an unprecedented crime wave amid the province's seven-year-old sectarian conflict.

The outlawed IRA is fighting to wrest Ulster from British rule and Protestant domination and unite it with the Irish Republic, which is 96 per cent Catholic. The million-strong Protestants oppose them.

Current British policy in Northern Ireland brands all terrorists "criminals and gangsters." The paramilitary factions on both sides deny any criminal involvement. But there is evidence that nearly all of them are criminally active.

Well-placed security informants claimed the objective of the terrorists' current moves into legitimate business is twofold: to bankroll their sectarian campaigns and to monopolize essential commercial enterprises and services to strengthen their influence over the communities they claim to represent.

"Naturally this poses a serious threat to prospects of a peaceful solution," a senior police officer commented.

"These people are building up a network of control that could in a few years' time change the structure of society in some areas of Belfast."

One security official claimed the IRA's "Provisional" wing alone "could have a stranglehold over the entire Catholic community of West Belfast in 10 years' time."

Organized crime is already big business in Belfast, Europe's most trigger-happy city. It is carved up among rival extremists movements into fiercely protected territories.

Gang feuds break out frequently on both sides, with Catholics shooting Catholics and Protestants giving "head jobs," slang for a bullet in the brain, to their own kind.

The sources claimed the terrorists now control scores of Belfast bars and "shebeens," the local speakies, shops and supermarkets and a fleet of taxis, along with lucrative protection and welfare rackets.

Most holdups in the city are carried out by the terrorists. Last year there were more than 1,500 in Ulster. In 1968, the year before the bloodshed began, there were only 50.

The loot is used to buy guns and explosives. But some of it also is believed to go into the pockets of some extremist chieftains.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Anita's problem affects many different religious denominations. For church bureaucrats often become tryants who try to dictate to laymen. They also desperately struggle to cling to their incumbency!

CASE K-606: Anita L., aged 29, teaches a class of first graders in Sunday School.

"But, Dr. Crane," she protested, "the literature our church publishes for us parents and teachers, seems to ignore the Bible and the usual religious examples our children should learn.

"The stress is merely on friendly relations among various ethnic groups, (which is laudable) but neither the Bible or God, or Jesus or David and Goliath or any other religious episodes are involved.

"Why, my primary grade material could be used without opposition in atheistic Russia today, for it is strictly non-Biblical in its orientation of the children.

"What's wrong at the Home Office of our churches nowadays?"

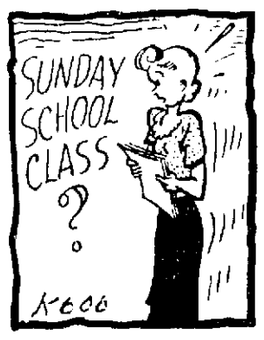
POROUS MINDS!

Many people pride themselves on being so liberal they have an unduly porous mind.

But you can cultivate a mind that is too porous to hold a conviction!

And without moral convictions, clergymen can't produce religious conversions!

A few years ago in this column I exposed a similar "liberal" type of Sunday School literature for use by the children.



For it didn't even mention the word "God" or "Jesus" or "prayer" or other terms normally linked with the education of kiddies.

And such a furor then developed nationwide in this big Protestant denomination that the D.D. at the publishing house resigned, apparently under pressure from irate church laymen!

But a denial was made that any "Communistic" influence had deleted all the references to the Bible, and to God or Jesus, etc.

Yet a few weeks later, I saw an expose that cited the fact a woman on the editorial staff for this very literature, was found to be a member of a communist-front organization!

Are any of you mature adult readers so naive you think she didn't cause that secularization of the church Sunday School papers for kiddies?

Why, I recently queried teenagers, who have been going to Sunday School for 10 years and who come from good church families, yet they were lucky to answer even 3 of the following 10 simple Bible questions:

(1) Who killed the giant named Goliath?

(2) What Jewish lad was sold to Egyptian slave traders, by his jealous brothers?

(3) What was the name of Adam's son who was killed by his own brother?

(4) Which one of King David's sons tried to kill David and usurp the throne?

(5) Who was swallowed by a whale?

(6) In what town was Jesus born?

(7) Who baptized Jesus in the Jordan River?

(8) Who betrayed Jesus for 30 pieces of silver?

(9) Who was the Roman judge who condemned Jesus to the Cross?

(10) Who was blinded en route to kill the Christians at Damascus?

You dedicated Sunday School teachers and parents, who volunteer your time and efforts to implant moral habits in our children, may need to revolt against the "liberal" bureaucrats at the Home Offices of your denominations.

For bureaucrats often become tyrants not only at Washington, D.C., but even in churches, plus our Medical and Dental Associations, as well as Labor Unions.

You saw the power of "incumbency" used as a club even in the recent presidential primary contests between Ford vs. Reagan but "incumbency" often means coercion by the entrenched bureaucracy!

Send for my "Bible Booklet" with 140 Bible problems, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25¢ and use it in Sunday School.

(Always write to Dr. Crane, Hopkins Bldg., Mellott, Indiana, 47958, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25¢ to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

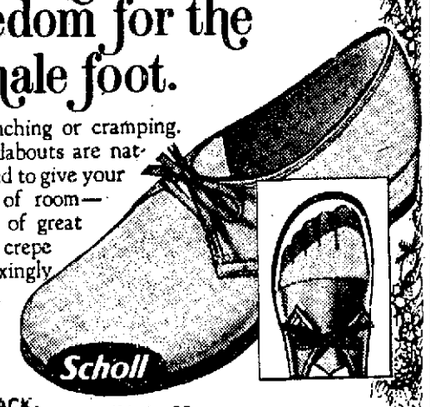
Whether it's been one year or twenty since you left college, perhaps now is the time to think about going back to start or finish your bachelor's degree or start work on a master's degree. Chapman College presents a perfect setting for doing so. Small classes, individual attention, and a friendly, personal environment provide an educational experience which is as enjoyable as it is stimulating, rewarding and beneficial. Through its Collegiate Studies major, Chapman makes it possible to plan a completely individualized degree program tailored to your particular interests, strengths and goals. If you prefer a more traditional approach, 31 undergraduate majors and 16 graduate degree programs are available. Or, if you are simply interested in personal enrichment, a wide variety of courses offer opportunities in many fields.

Whatever your goals are, re-entry counseling is available through the College's Counseling Center and career planning help is offered by the Office of Career Planning and Placement. In addition, if you have children at home, child care is available on campus through the College's Child Study Center.



Chapman College can meet your needs, and whether you are interested in part-time or full-time attendance, daytime or evening classes, a Chapman admissions counselor will be happy to discuss your goals with you and show you how Chapman can help you reach them. The Spring Semester begins February 7. Don't delay. Start now.

N. Irish Terrorists Adopt Mafia Ways

O'Quinas, parish priest at Holy Cross church in the Catholic Ardoyne quarter of Belfast for nine years, called the IRA unit there "murderers, gangsters, what the media call Mafia."

"They're simply using the situation for their own benefit," he said.

Catholic church authorities in Ireland pulled O'Quinas, 56, out of the Ardoyne, an IRA stronghold and Belfast flashpoint, after the Provisionals gave him 48 hours to get out of town or die for denouncing them from the pulpit. He now works in Dublin.

Sources in the construction business claimed that some firms "make arrangements" with terrorist groups before they start work in many parts of Belfast.

That means hiring out-of-work members of paramilitary groups, doing work free for their organizations or employing "ghost workers" – listing non-existent men on the payroll and handing their money over to the terrorists.

Some informants in Belfast claim the Provisionals' Belfast Brigade has a monthly turnover of one million pounds ($1.6 million) from legitimate business operations, protection and construction rackets and other organized crime.

One of the main thrusts of an anti-crime drive by Belfast police is into the construction business, which ironically is booming as the authorities try to keep pace with the bombing by repairing damaged houses.

Gerry Fitt, leader of the Catholic-based Social Democratic and Labor Party, charged that the Provisional IRA now controls the Carlisle Estate, a housing development in a badly-battered section of the city, and "dictates to housing authorities which tenants should be given homes there."

Security officials also believe the terrorists on both sides get money from fleets of taxis that operate in the ghetto areas. So many city buses have been hijacked and burned in rioting there that few run anymore.

Security officials claim that every cabbie, willingly or unwilling, pays the IRA about $8 a week.

In the neighboring Shankill Road, heartland of Protestant militancy, security officials claim the Ulster Volunteer Force (UVF) and the Ulster Defense Association (UDA) control some 200 taxis that earn them $1,600 a week.

A focal point of the security forces' investigation into Mafia-style operations has been a legitimate organization in West Belfast, registered with Ulster authorities as a limited company. It's run by eight men once interned by the British as suspected IRA activists.

The company is known as the Anderstown Cooperative. It owns a supermarket, two butcher shops, a record store, a small engineering factory and the Suffolk Inn, a well-known tavern in the staunchly Catholic Andersonstown suburb from which the organization takes its name.

The co-op's secretary is Seamus Lughran, who has been interned twice as a suspected IRA man. He denies the co-op is an IRA front.

The co-op is run from a converted house in the center of Anderstown by Gerry Maguire, a thickset, ruddy-faced Catholic who was once camp commander of the Provisional IRA men in Long Kesh.

The co-op claims to provide the cheapest gasoline, liquor and meat in Catholic west Belfast. Some housewives say the co-op's thriving supermarket does offer some of the best bargains in the area.

"This is a team effort in self-help from top to bottom," Maguire explained. "None of us takes executives salaries."

Protestant hardliners set up their own cooperative last year – Northern Ireland Cooperative Enterprise Ltd. Its constitution is word for word the same as the Catholic organization's.

Its director is Cyril D. Payne, a UDA member and also once detained as a suspected terrorist.

Some observers in Belfast see the cooperatives as the start of a social movement in the Belfast ghettoes and envision that they could bring together the Catholic and Protestant working classes, the main victims of the conflict.

Security authorities take a different view. "The IRA is trying to build up a commercial empire through which they will control housing, jobs, transport

Traffic Accidents Kill 3 In County

Three persons were killed and eight injured in four separate Orange County traffic accidents Friday night and Saturday.

Anna Maria Gonzalez, 35, of San Fernando, was killed and four passengers injured about 2:15 a.m. Saturday when her vehicle collided with a vehicle traveling in the wrong direction of the south lane of the Santa Ana Freeway near Main Street, Santa Ana, highway patrol officers reported.

The passengers, Juan Rivera Rosario, 42, of Hollywood, was treated and released and his three children, ages 9-11, were reported in good condition at UCI Medical Center. Center.

The driver of the other vehicle, Raul S. Carbajal, 25, of 5221 W. St., Santa Ana, is listed in stable condition at UCI Medical Center.

A Santa Ana man was killed and two persons injured in an auto collision late Friday at Edinger Avenue and Lyon Street when one vehicle turned into the path of the other, police reported.

James Forsberg, 18, of 1324 S. Broadway, died shortly after arrival at Santa Ana-Tustin Community Hospital about 11:30 p.m.

The driver of the other car, Ian Jones, 23, of 1614 S. Broadway, was not injured, however, his wife Anna, 23, was hospitalized with facial injuries.

Their son Mark, 5, was treated and released, police said. Jones was not cited, according to the police report.

A Friday traffic accident claimed the life of a 77-year-old South Laguna resident. CHP officers said Laura C. Mannetta, 3151 Holly Drive, was struck by a car while crossing Pacific Coast Highway at the Table Rock Drive intersection.

The driver of the car was not cited in the 6 p.m. mishap.

Buena Park police are investigating a Friday midnight felony hit and run accident near Indiana Street and Whitaker Avenue.

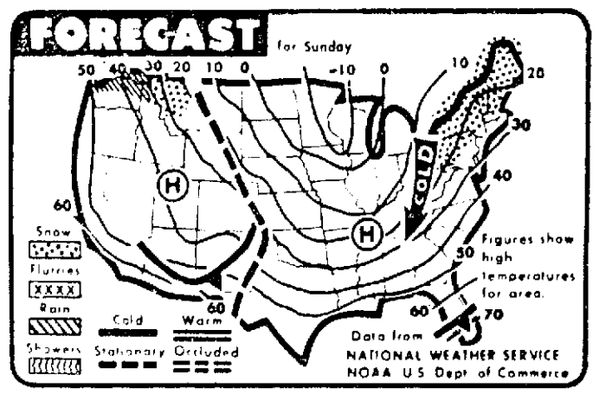
Police still are searching for the driver who fled the scene after the car he was driving collided with a parked car on Indiana Street.

A passenger in his car, Antonio Sandoval, 24, of Fullerton, was taken to UCI Medical Center.

3 Long Beach Men Arrested In NB Thefts

NEWPORT BEACH – Three Long Beach men have been arrested and $15,000 in fishing equipment recovered in connection with two fishing tackle shop thefts here in December.

In cooperation with Long Beach detectives, officers booked Ralph Weinstock, 30, and William Brown, 31, into jail here on suspicion of burglary, police reported.



Long Beach officers also booked Ralph Gorrill of Long Beach into jail on suspicion of receiving stolen property, the report said.

Absolutely, Say Scientists

Acne — Is It Treatable?

In just a few weeks from now, your mirror could reflect very good news. It could tell you that you no longer suffer from acne.

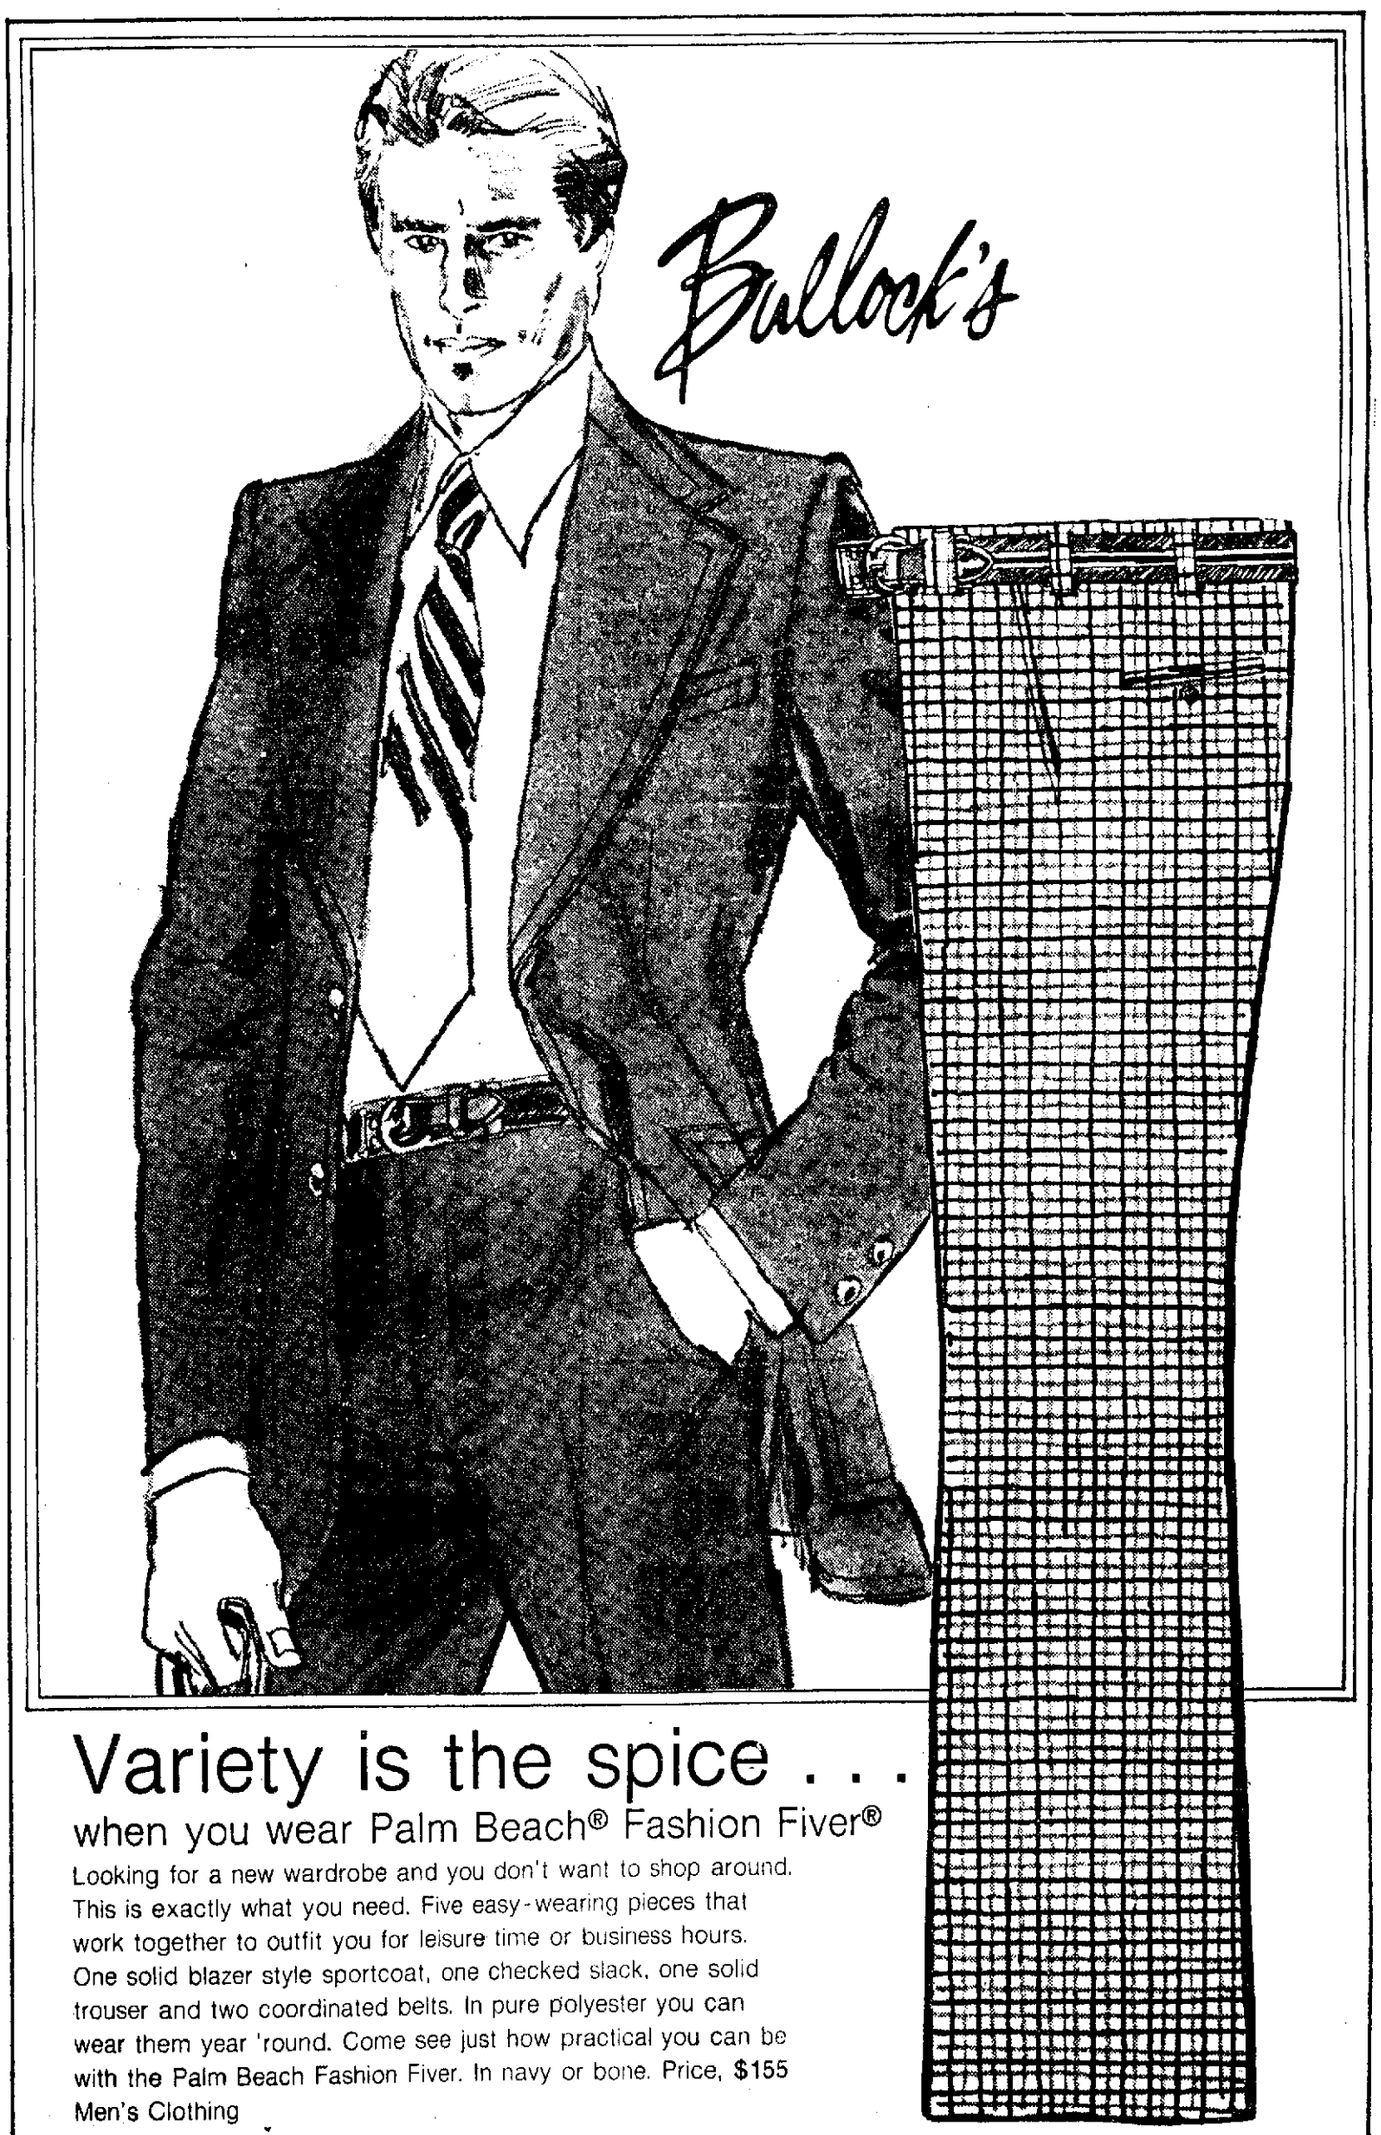
This is recent news, the result of experiments conducted by the nation's top skin specialists on the staffs of major medical schools.

The story began in Germany several years ago, when scientists learned that a by-product of Vitamin A had the ability to act on the skin pores.

This substance, called Vitamin A acid, was tested in America by the nation's leading medical school dermatologists.

They found that by adjusting the strength of the preparation to the individual patient's tolerance level, they could loosen the "bunched" dead cells lining the skin pores.

It is the "bunching" of the cells which finally plugs the pores and sets up the acne possibility, beginning with whiteheads and blackheads.



Further experiments followed. The scientists learned that by adding a further step, the application of prescription-strength Benzoyl Peroxide Gel, they could kill the acne bacteria itself.

Thus, combining the one-two step treatment, 85 per cent of patients treated in the medical school clinics found themselves free of acne in six to 12 weeks.

It was momentous news, the first effective treatment yet devised for the age-old skin disease. The method was recorded in the nation's medical journals.

This treatment is now available at the Acne Care Medical Clinics, Inc., supervised by Dr. Jack Kramer, Board Certified Dermatologist, a specialist in skin care for 25 years. Acne Care Medical Clinics are located in Inglewood, Covina, Huntington Beach, Fullerton and Costa Mesa. For further information phone (714) 751-3363.

There is no longer any need to suffer from the ravages of acne. It is no longer an untreatable mystery.

Supervisors To Consider Park Land Buy

SANTA ANA - County supervisors will be asked to consider buying 130 acres of potential park property in Costa Mesa and adjacent unincorporated territory for $2 million.

The property, part of an 800 acre-area earmarked by the county parks master plan for a regional park, is owned by State Mutual Savings, which recently offered to sell its land to the county.

County recreation program coordinator Robert Fisher said the $2 million sales price offer is $550,000 to $1 million below the county's estimate of the parcel's value.

Before county supervisors can decide to buy the land, Fisher said, the proposed purchase must be studied for conformity with the county's and Costa Mesa's plans for the area and a public hearing must be held.

Fisher's recommendation that those steps be taken was approved by the county Harbors, Beaches and Parks Commission.

SURVEY SHOWS

SB Recall Move Short Signatures

SEAL BEACH - Petition signatures demanding the recall of Mayor Tom Blackman have fallen short of the required number, according to the city clerk's office which has completed a preliminary check.

The 60-day period allowed for collection of signatures expired last week, but when a precise count of valid signatures is declared insufficient within 20 days, City Clerk Jody Weir said circulators will be legally allowed an additional 10 days to gather more names.

Gordon Shanks, one of the backers of the recall drive, said a problem facing signature gatherers is that the Leisure World retirement community will not permit door-to-door solicitation by outsiders for any purpose.

Parts of Leisure World fall within Blackman's district.

Petitions to force an election to recall the mayor require 879 signatures, or 25 per cent of his district's 3,516 voters. More than 900 registered voters live in Leisure World.

About 600 names of registered voters have been thus far collected outside of the walled Leisure World area.

Backers of the drive said that inclement weather and the holiday season both contributed to slowing the name-gathering process.

Supporters of the recall effort have charged that Blackman has been unresponsive to the wishes of the community, a charge categorically denied by Blackman.

Except during the Civil War, passports were not needed to enter or leave the United States until 1918.

Opening lead — J ♣

By Oswald & James Jacoby

We believe that it was the great poet Culbertson who wrote: "A little false card now and then is relished by the best of men."

In that case we must assume that today's North and South don't belong in that best of men category because when the smoke of battle had cleared away they weren't at all happy.

On the other hand good old West was ecstatic.

West didn't think much of his hand or his chance of doing any good with a heart or diamond lead so he put his jack of clubs on the table. Instead of playing quickly from the table, South thought a while before playing the king from dummy. This gave East time to see that the only possible tricks for the defense would be in trumps and that some desperate measures were necessary to keep South from taking the double trump finesse. The double finesse is the best percentage play when you hold nine trumps; it becomes a perfect safety play when you hold 10.

So East dropped the queen of clubs under dummy's king.

South won, led the jack of spades, watched East produce the deuce, thought a while, rose with his ace to guard against a possible club ruff and was one down when West showed out.

Ask the Jacobys

A Pennsylvanie reader wants to know the correct bid with:

♠AKJxxx ♥AQJ10xx ♦A ♣— after the right hand opponent opens three clubs.

This one is easy for experts. They bid four clubs as a cue bid to force their partner to bid. After that things become more complicated, but the start is easy.

Carter Pardon Plan Debated In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) – The Senate debated a resolution Friday urging President-elect Carter not to grant a blanket pardon to Vietnam era draft evaders. No final action was taken.

The resolution was proposed by Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., in response to Carter's promise during the election campaign to pardon draft evaders and consider clemency for military deserters on a case-by-case basis.

On what Allen called a "test vote," the Senate refused 47 to 37 to set aside a motion by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., to send the resolution to the Senate Judiciary Committee for study and recommendation.

But Allen maneuvered to get a motion for further Senate consideration up for debate before a vote could be taken on the move to refer the resolution to committee.

McGovern said the amnesty issue raises complicated legal problems as to whether draft evaders and deserters should be treated on the same basis.

He said Carter never promised that, but rather a general pardon for those who in good conscience opposed U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war by refusing to be drafted, and to treat military deserters on an individual basis.

McGovern said it would be a mistake for the Senate to go in opposition to the President-elect and also the prevailing view of the American people who elected him.

Allen countered that Carter was elected in spite of his campaign promise, not because of it.

Allen said he will try again Tuesday to bring the issue to a Senate vote.

He said he did not question the president's legal authority to grant pardons but he said the Senate has the right and duty to give its advice.

Urging the Senate to meet the issue head on, take a stand, and "acquit ourselves as men," he said it was inappropriate to "duck behind a motion to refer" the resolution to committee.

"Everyone knows that to refer it is to kill it," he said.

The resolution would express the "sense of the Senate," that the president "would be ill-advised to pardon, and he is urged not to pardon," by any blanket order draft evaders, deserters, or military law violators.

Anglican-Catholic Ties Envisioned

LONDON (AP) – Roman Catholic and Anglican bishops are expected to publish a joint statement envisaging partnership of their churches, with the Pope in Rome as the overall patriarch, informed sources said Saturday.

They added that the statement, not binding on either church and drawn up as a discussion document by the 21-member Anglican-Roman Catholic International Commission, is to be issued here Thursday as a booklet titled "Authority in the Church."

Church of England sources said that circulation of the booklet had been "severly restricted" in advance of publication and a news conference limited to religion writers will be held Tuesday at Lambeth Palace, the London residence of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The sources said that the commission's decision to recognize the Pope as the supreme authority lay in acceptance of the fact that it is only the Roman Catholic Church in Rome which claims and exercises universal primacy.

"As Rome is the city where Christ's disciples, Peter and Paul, died, the commission found it right that in any future union the supreme authority should be in Rome," one of the sources said.

The sources who had studied the statement said that by dealing with the crucial issue of primacy, the statement envisages an important move toward healing the division between Rome and England which took place in 1534 in the reign of King Henry VIII.

The king, wishing to defy church law and divorce his first wife, Catherine of Aragon, repudiated papal supremacy and set himself up as head of a separate Church of England. Since then, the British monarch has been the temporal head of the church and the Archbishop of Caterbury has been its spiritual head and leader of the worldwide Anglican Communion, which includes the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States.

There are 60 million Anglicans and about 580 million Catholics in world.

The Anglican-Roman Catholic International Commission, which first met at Windsor in 1970, was set up by Pope Paul VI and the Archbishop of Canterbury at that time, the now-retired Dr. Michael Ramsey, to discuss how the two churches could be brought closer together.

Barge To Tote Old Ironclad On Final Trip

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP) – The Cairo, a Civil War ironclad sunk in the Yazoo River by a Confederate mine in 1862, will soon be making its final voyage – loaded on a barge.

The remains of the vessel were recovered from the river near here 12 years ago and stored since on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Dan Lee, superintendent of the Vicksburg National Military Park, said the gunboat will be shipped to the park and stored there if Congress approves funds for restoration.

A $3.2 million bill signed by former president Nixon in 1972 authorized the National Park Service to restore and exhibit the gunboat. However, Congressional approval has not been received.

The Cairo, commissioned in Mound City, Ill., in 1861, was one of the heavily armed Mississippi Flotilla which moved down-river in 1862 in a drive to capture Vicksburg.

Authorities said the 512-ton vessel sank on Dec. 12, 1862, about 12 minutes after the bow struck a Confederate torpedo-type mine. A reported 160 men aboard the vessel escaped safely.

The Cairo's remains were taken to a shipyard in Pascagoula to await restoration after the ship was raised in 1964. Wooden portions of the vessel were sprayed daily with salt water to prevent further deterioration.

Restoration efforts on the state and national level failed to raise the necessary funds and the Cairo has remained at the shipyard.

Lee expects the moving operation to be completed in March, with the vessel being stored at the site where it may one day be exhibited. He said the Cairo would be assembled as much as possible on a large field.

If funds are approved, a museum would be built next to the gunboat to display relics found in and near the Cairo when it was located.

Policies Urged To Dull Blow Of Lethal Quake Prediction

HONOLULU (AP) – A sure way to ruin a community's tax base, plunge its property values, create unemployment, and cause an exodus of residents and businesses is to put out the word that a major earthquake is scientifically forecast there.

On the other hand, such a prediction would also lead to the saving of lives and the lessening of property damage by allowing time to prepare for the shaking.

With seismologists getting closer to the art of foretelling earthquakes, government and business should be developing policies to soften the social and economic trauma that would result, two sociologists report.

Prof. J. Eugene Haas of the University of Colorado and Prof. Dennis S. Mileti of Colorado State University recently concluded an 18-month study to predict the community impact of an earthquake prediction.

"The first successful prediction of a damaging earthquake in the United States could come within a few years, or it could take a decade or more," Haas told government and business officials during a briefing on his report here.

The study team interviewed carefully selected business and government representatives and residents throughout California and posed the scenario of an earthquake prediction in their areas.

Among the immediate effects would be a halt in new construction and a drop in property values, creating a loss of jobs and reduced tax revenues and, therefore, an eventual drop in government services at the time they would be most needed, the report said.

If the prediction provided an extended lead time, the community would sustain significant social disruption and a decline in the local economy, especially if this lead time should be a year or longer, the report said.

By a month before a predicted major earthquake, the report estimated that 60 per cent of the population would have left the area and 10 per cent would never return. Some major businesses would likely pay for permanent relocation rather than risk heavy losses, it said.

With many residents leaving on extended vacations for the duration of the danger period, savings accounts would likely be drained and buying would be near a standstill, the report said.

Haas said one important aid would be federally sponsored earthquake insurance.

Mental Patient's Death 'Natural'

LOS ANGELES (AP) – A woman mental patient who died Oct. 10 at Metropolitan State Hospital in Norwalk did so of natural causes, a coroner's jury has ruled.

Georgia Williams of San Gabriel died on her 40th birthday a few days after being transferred to Norwalk from a convalescent home.

Coroner's medical examiner Dr. Barry Silverman testified that Miss Williams died of shock but he didn't know what caused the shock. The jurors left the cause unknown, as well, in their ruling that the death was accidental.

The attending doctor at the hospital, Dr. Fred Llewelyn, said the drug, Mellaril, had been prescribed as a "mood elevator" for Miss Williams prior to her death. Hospital workers said she had shown no danger signs after taking the medication until she was found dead at 7:30 a.m. Oct. 10.

Authorities are investigating three other deaths at the hospital which jurors in earlier inquests said occurred "at the hands of another, other than by accident."

Protection OKd For Kissinger

WASHINGTON (AP) – The Senate has approved an emergency resolution that would allow continued Secret Service protection for Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger after he leaves office next week.

The measure, sponsored by Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd and Republican Leader Howard H. Baker, was adopted by voice vote without dissent. It now goes to the House.

Lasorda In Pulpit: Sunday Succotash

Never one to miss a chance to blow the trumpet for baseball, Tom Lasorda has been in and out of many places during his colorful career. But even Tom could be surprising himself this morning when he's the special guest of the Garden Grove Community Church and will be guest speaker at 9:30 and 11:00 services by Rev. Robert Schuller. Lasorda, new manager of the Dodgers, will be interviewed by Dr. Schuller on the impact of televangelism on the 49-year-old coach's professional life. Lasorda, wife Jo, daughter Laura and son Tommy Jr., live at Fullerton....

Chris Dunk may sound like the name of a basketball player but actually it belongs to a promising young Foothill (Tustin-Santa Ana) tennist. In national rankings by the U.D. Tennis Assn., Dunk has been ranked 11th for 18-year-olds. He's now a freshman at Cal-Berkely. Robert Van't Hof of Downey is listed as No. 5. Jeff Jones of Santa Ana Valley, former CIF champ, is not in the top 50 because he didn't play nationally last year....

Seen at Reuben's with "that old gang of mine" was Tex Oliver, famed former coach at Santa Ana High, Fullerton JC, University of Arizona, University of Oregon and St. Mary's Navy Pre-Flight. Oliver's guest at dinner was Dean Millen, his first Saint team captain in 1926. Oliver, Charles Swanner, Al Honer and Cecil Marks have met for dinner once a month for some 50 years. They are the survivors of a committee of 16 from junior chamber of commerce days....When he was coaching St. Mary's Pre-Flight, Oliver had two fair country quarterbacks, one Bobby Grayson and one Frankie Albert. "Bobby was going and Frankie was coming," Tex laughs....

SHIRLEY'S WISE DECISION

Nobody not even her dedicated trainer (Mark Schubert) blames Shirley Basbashoff for coming out of the water. Ever since she was nine (she turned 20 recently) America's best-ever girl swimmer has been training like mad, stroking up and down heartless pools for maybe 8-10-12 miles a day.

She drove 60 miles a day round trip (twice daily) for these workouts. You wonder how these dedicated girls (and boys too) keep grinding away. When do they have time and energy for dates, fun and studies? Mary Decker, the remarkable little Garden Grove-Orange miler, saw the light a year ago and "retired" from the 10-miles-a-day routine. Now Shirley is going to have some fun at UCLA while continuing her biology studies.

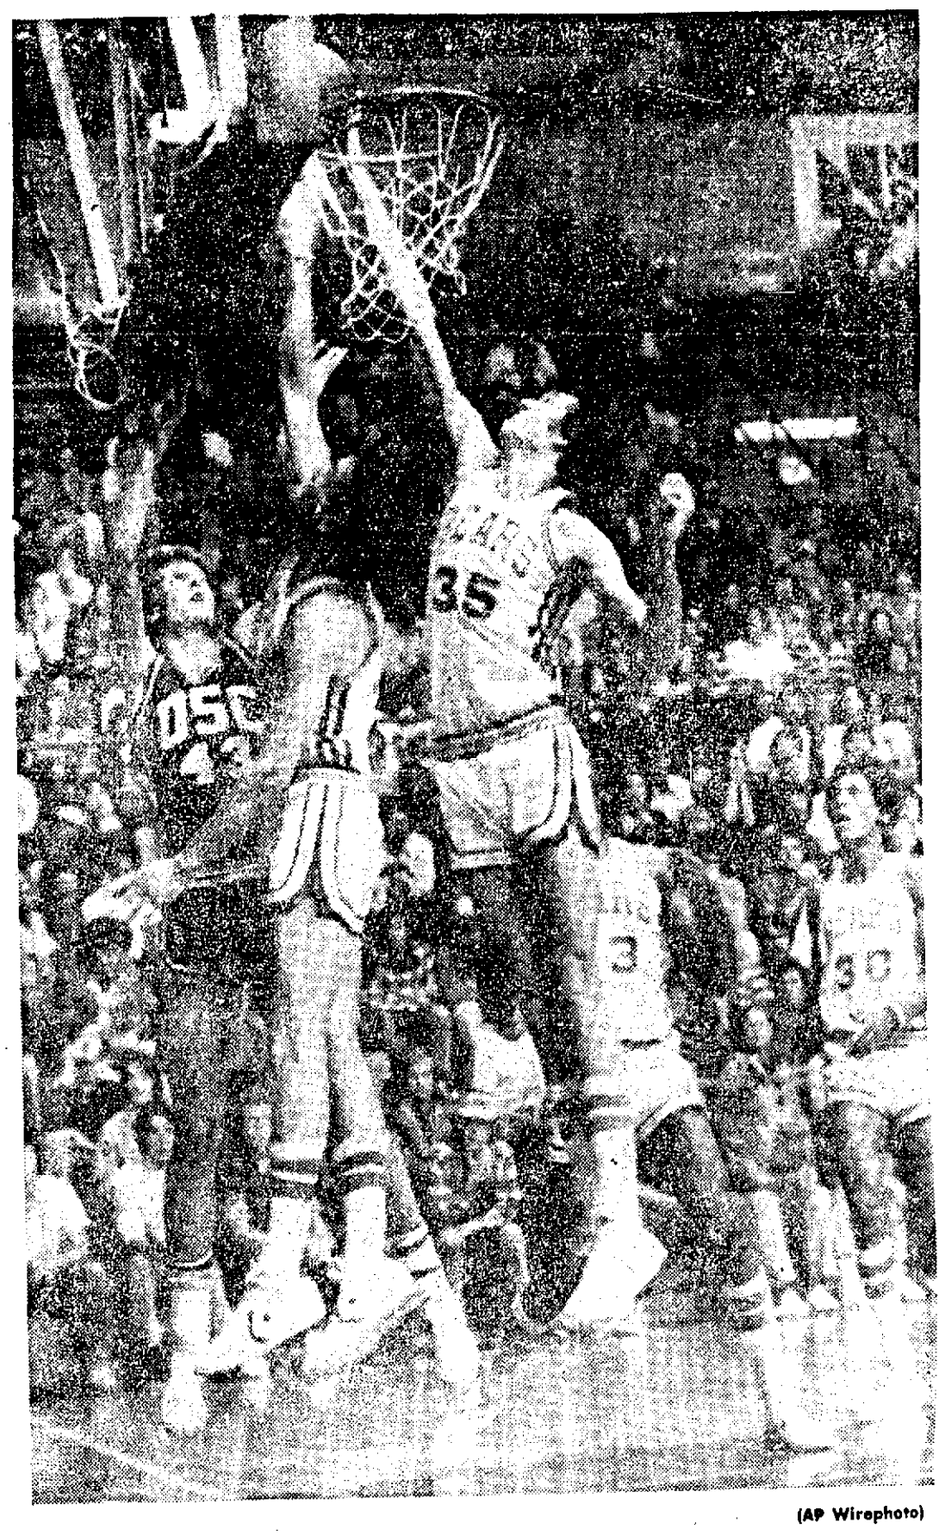
"Shirley Babashoff," declares head coach Schubert of the Mission Viejo Nadadores, "is the hardest-working swimmer I ever coached. I attribute her success to this dedication. Retirement is what she really wants and I'm glad she's doing it while she's on top." Miss Babshoff set 15 world records during her 11-year career. She won gold, silver and bronze medals at the 1972 Munich Olympics and one gold and four silver at Montreal in 1976.

Shirley may be through but brother Bill, 17, will continue to swim under Schubert, and her older brother, Jack, 21, is on the swim team at the University of Alabama.

A FAREWELL ADDRESS

Unrelated to Miss Babashoff's decision, yet almost simultaneous, was that of another Shirley (Topley) and Carl Spanks to leave the ranks of women's softball which they have pursued with such diligence and dedication hereabouts for 13 and 19 years, respectively. They helped make women's softball "big" at Orange and then pioneers a professional franchise under the Banner of the Lionettes at the Santa Ana Bowl. Both girls went out like champions, real pros.

"Through their many years of existence," they wrote the column, "the Lionettes have been successful because of many different persons who helped support them. Now that we've retired we feel compelled to express our feelings at least one more time.



"We should like to publicly thank each and every person who supported the team during the 10 years we were in charge. That would include the business people who advertised in our programs, and certainly the fans deserve so much credit. Without them there would have been no Lionettes. A special thanks to the many players and other team personnel who devoted countless hours of hard work and endured many sacrifices in order to keep the Lionettes on top of the softball world. We wouldn't want to overlook the officials of the City of Orange. As Orange Lionettes, the chamber and city supported us willingly during the nine years we had the amateur team. We greatly appreciate their efforts. And last, but never least, a special staff for the coverage you have given the Lionettes. The status of women's softball would not be nearly what it is today without a supportive press and we have certainly had that with The Register.

"We have many good memories as a result of our association with the Lionettes and their loyal followers. Thank you all very much."

PAGING GENE AUTRY

It happened in far away Australia but John Stellman, The Register's baseball expert, swears it is gospel truth. "While we were Down Under on vacation last week I woke up early one morning and wondered what had happened to our three-year-old son Jason, who wasn't in bed," Stellman reports. "That wasn't much of

TOO MUCH DEFENSE – California's tall Tom Schneiderjohn (35) provided too much defense on this play, being called for goal tending on a shot by Southern Cal's Doug Widtfeldt (43). Schneiderjohn, who prepped at Los Amigos High in Garden Grove, was a major factor in Cal's 84-76 victory. The 6-11 sophomore scored 16 points and picked off 12 rebounds. Widtfeldt prepped at nearby La Miarada High School.

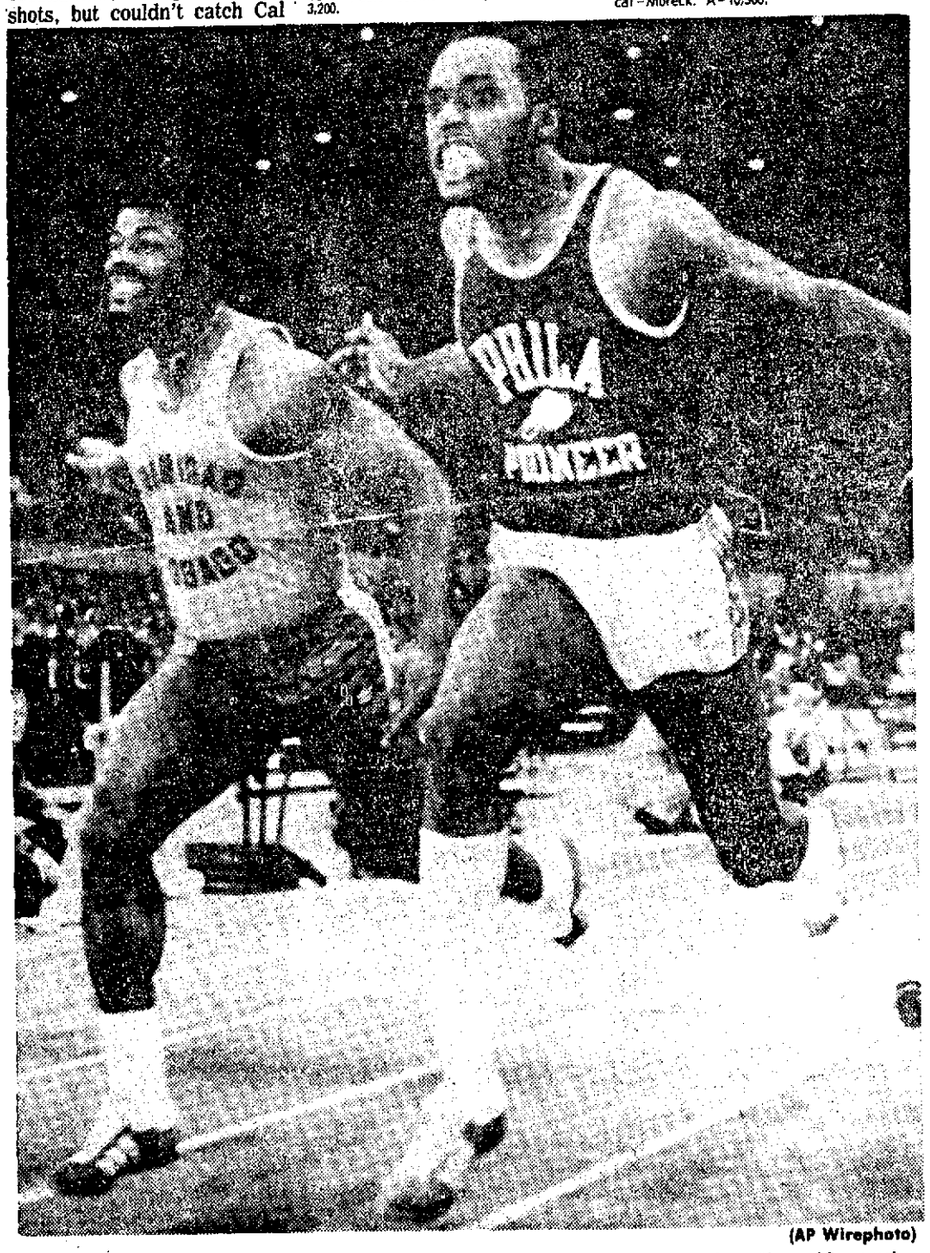
Cal Hands Trojans 19th Pac-8 Setback

BERKELEY (AP) – Freshman forward Doug True scored 25 points and grabbed 10 rebounds Saturday to lead California to its first victory of the Pacific-8 basketball season, 84-76 over Southern California.

The Bears sent Southern Cal's Trojans down to their 19th consecutive conference defeat in the regionally televised game. The losing streak began late in the 1975 Pac-8 season.

True made 10 of 16 field goal attempts and five of seven free throws in his highest scoring game as a collegian. His previous high was 17 points.

The 6-foot-7 forward and sophomore center Tom Schneiderjohn had 12 points apiece in the first half, powering Cal into a 38-29 halftime lead. Schneiderjohn finished with 16 points and 12 rebounds in the victory which made Cal 1-3 in the Pac-8 and 3-10 overall.



Southern Cal, loser of four conference games this year and standing 3-12 for all games, was led in scoring by Marv Safford and Casey Jones who had 12 points apiece.

True and Schneiderjohn carried the load as the Bears pulled away late in the first half. The Bears' floor leader, Gene Ransom, was on the bench after drawing three fouls.

Ransom, who played only 22 minutes in the game and totaled 13 points, returned to the lineup at the start of the second half and helped the Bears build their biggest lead, 75-59.

The Trojans shot well in the second half, hitting on 20 of 36 shots, but couldn't catch Cal which had a 52 per cent shooting mark for the game.

Lefty Gomez 'Doing Fine'

STANFORD (AP) – Baseball Hall of Fame member Vernon "Lefty" Gomez was awake, alert and "doing fine" Saturday after heart surgery two days earlier, Stanford Hospital officials said.

Gomez, 68, was listed in stable condition in the hospital's intensive care unit, said hospital spokesman Rich Johnson.

The former New York Yankees pitcher appeared in five World Series, building a 6-0 record.

He retired from the mound in 1943 and was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1972. He played 13 of his 14 major league seasons with the Yankees.

UCLA Comeback Sinks Stanford

STANFORD (AP) – UCLA, led by senior forward Marques Johnson's 27 points and 14 rebounds, came back from a 49-48 halftime deficit to score a 100-86 Pacific-8 Conference basketball victory over Stanford Saturday night.

The 12th-ranked Bruins outscored Stanford 22-12 in the first 10 minutes of the second half to coast to their third conference victory with a single loss. UCLA is now 13-2 over-all.

Sophomore guard Roy Hamilton was the Bruins' second leading scorer with 22 points, 13 in the second half. The Bruins also got a 20 points from sophomore forward David Greenwood.

Stanford was paced by guards Mike Bratz' 22 points and Wolfe Perry's 21 points.

The Cardinals shot 74 per cent in the first half to take a one-point halftime lead after UCLA dominated the first 10 minutes of the game. The Bruins built a 10-point lead but the Cardinals rallied, with Bratz scoring 14 first half points.

Newlin Snaps Laker Streak

By MITCH CHORTKOFF
(Special to The Register)

HOUSTON – The Lakers walked in on a reconciliation Saturday night and lost their four-game winning streak.

The family feud was between Tom Nissake, the Houston Rockets coach and Mike Newlin, the star guard.

Newlin, who learned his basketball at St. Francis High in La Canada, was in Nissalke's doghouse. Until the last few days, he wasn't playing much and rumors circulated of his imminent trade.

On Saturdy night, Newlin came off the bench to score 24 points, leading the Rockets to a 122-116 vicotry over the Lakers.

Newlin played 37 minutes, made 11 or 16 shots, hit both his free throw attempts, took six rebounds and had four assists.

That was a little better than two games ago, when he was used seven minutes and was abruptly yanked and sent to the far end of the bench.

"Newlin isn't going to Boston or anywhere else," Nissalke said. "We've talked a lot in the last week and he's going to play for us – at least 30 minutes a game. Of corse, he has to play the way I want."

Said Newlin:

"I have no opinion on my situation. He's the coach so he has the opinions as long as he's in authority."

The Lakers scored 11 consecutive points midway through the fourth quarter to take a 104-102 lead with 5:38 to play.

Kevin Kunnert tied the game at 110-all with 2:54 to play. And the Rockets scored six more points in a row – the final two on Newlin's jumper with a minute left to give Houston a 116-110 lead.

Los Ageles scored the first 10 points of the game but Murphy and Kunnert combined for 29 first-half points and the Rockets led 60-65 at halftime.

Laker guard Don Chaney sat out the game with a foot injury.

Riddick Scores Sprint Sweep

By DAVID OSTERMAN

LOS ANGELES – Steve Riddick of Philadelphia swept an impressive sprint field Saturday to win two firsts in the 18th annual Sunkist Indoor Track Meet at the Los Angeles sports Arena.

Riddick was pitted against Olympic medalist Don Quarrie and world record holder Houston McTear in the 50 and 60-yard dashes.

In the 50 he edged McTear with a 5.3 time and came back a few minutes later to beat Quarrie with a 6.1 in the 60.

Kings 'Letdown' For Real, 6-0

BY CHRIS LONG
(Special to The Register)

MONTREAL – You might guess that the Kings were due for a flat effort, but when it comes against the best team in hockey, it is magnified all the more.

In other words, the Kings got bombed Saturday night in Montreal.

The final score was 6-0 and it could have been twice that if goalie Rogie Vachon wasn't his usual brilliant self.

His play, however, did little to console the Kings, who lost for the sixth time on this seven-game road trip that is now mercifully over.

"We haven't seem so many shots like that lately," said Vachon, who kicked away 40 and allowed six to elude him.

The Kings could muster only a meager 15 as Canadian netminder Michael Larocque got what was undoubtedly the easiest shutout of his four-year career.

The Kings played tired and rightfully so. This has been the toughest road trip of the year and most teams can't stay up with the Canadians when they're not tired.

"Yeah we're tired," said veteran Bob Berry. "But that's just an excuse. I hate to make excuses. I think Montreal really played well in the first period and we were behind only 1-0. I've never seen a team play better than the Canadians did tonight in the first two periods."

What more need be said about the first two periods than the shote of goal favored the Canadians, 34-7.

It's like old times in the South Coast Conference today with Fullerton College out in front in the basketball race following a stunning 69-54 victory over Cerritos College Saturday night on the Hornet Court.

Coach Ezra Van Horne's rapidly improving Hornets wrecked Cerritos' zone defense and were in command most of the way to take over first place and bring back memories of days gone by when Fullerton was the scourge of JC basketball.

While Fullerton was holding Cerritos to its lowest point total of the season, Grossmont handed Mt. San Antonio its second loss 75-61 and San Diego Mesa nipped Orange Coast 65-64 in an overtime thriller on the Olympian court.

Fullerton's hustling Hornets sniffed an upset in the making when they had Cerritos down 26-22 at halftime, then accelerated the attack with a 14-2 scoring spurt at the start of the second half.

The stunned Falcons never really recovered as Jesse Wallace directed the Hornet offense which pierced holes in a Cerritos zone as Randy Rozar, Jay Lucas, Jeff Weber and John Condie turned in their best efforst of the campaign.

Playing without starting forward Tom Day, out with the flu, Cerritos found themselves outmanned on the boards due to strong efforts by Weber, Rozar and Lucas.

David Wilburn, Brian Lumsden and David Chavez tried to mount a second half surge by the Falcons, but after the 14-2 Fullerton spurt they were fighting the clock as well as the stifling Hornet zone defense.

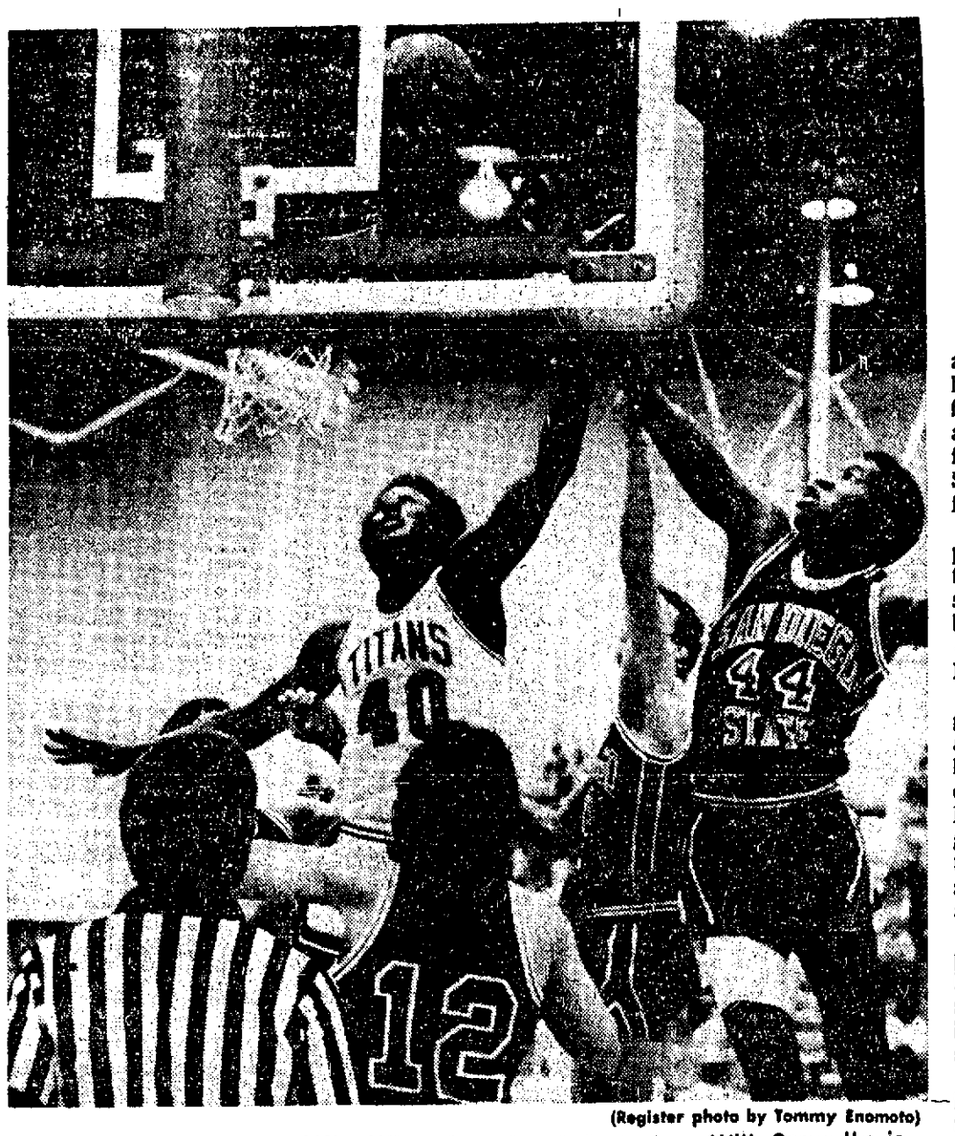
Chavez didn't score the second Cerritos field goal of the second half until nearly six minutes deep into the final period with Fullerton owning a 40-26 advantage. Every time the Falcons scored, the Hornets would answer with a flurry. Fullerton got five players into double figures for only the third tim this season to insure the upset.

Weber and Condie each scored 14, Lucas 12, Wallace 11 and Rozar ten while Lumsden with 16 and Chavez and Wilburn with 12 each sparked the Falcons.

Mt. Sac had all sorts of problems againt Grossmont when the Mounties couldn't score in the first seven minutes as the Griffins sprinted on top 15-0. Trailing 38-18 at halftime, Mt. Sac rallied to draw within five of the Griffins in the second half only to have Grossmont keep command to the final buzzer.

Ruben Ray with 18 and John Bobof with 23 spearheaded Grossmont's offense while Robert Vigil with 17 and Dick Rockwood with 13 were high for the Mounties.

Bill Liscott pushed in a 15-foot jumper to beat the buzzer and give Orange Coast an apparent victory over San Diego Mesa in regulation time, but officials ruled he had taken steps and disallowed the basket to send the rivals into overtime all even at 56-56.



The Olympians got a quick lead in overtime and kept it although Jon Holland and Dan Boldt got the Pirates within two with five seconds left. The Pirates stole the inbounds pass and Boldt fired from midcourt, but the ball hit the rim and bounced the wrong way.

Phil Bolden scored 18 points to lead Orange Coast before exiting on fouls with 3:16 left in regulation.

Titan surrounded – Mike Niles of Fullerton State was surrounded by Aztecs on this battle for a rebound in Saturday night's 73-70 San Diego win at Fullerton. Will Connelly is No. 44 and Dean Decker 12. Rebounds were a key as San Diego rallied in the late stages.

Aztecs Cut Down Titans 73-70

By CHUCK ABAIR

San Diego State overcame an eight-point deficit in the last nine minutes to win its first road game of the season and drop Fullerton State into fourth place in the PCAA race Saturday night before 2,835 fans.

The Aztecs, trailing 58-50, pulled out a 73-70 triumph in their league opener to share second with San Jose State behind 2-0 Long Beach State – an 84-72 victor at Santa Barbara.

Only 3-11 going into the game after playing one power after another, San Diego led by 11 points early, but seemed out of the contest with Greg Bunch on the way to a 28-point game and Kevin Heenan hitting six successive second half shots in an 18-point performance.

With Bunch getting 16 of his points and six rebounds, Fullerton rallied from a 1-for-10 shooting start to lead 34-30 at halftime in its first of three straight PCAA home games.

Steve Shaw's goal following intermission made the advantage six before difference alternated from four and two for several minutes.

Three outside swishers in a row by Heenan made the score 52-44 with 11:41 to play. Then it was going from eight to six with Heenan and Bunch hitting until the scoreboard read 58-50.

San Diego gained a tie at 60 with 6:32 left. Bunch twice put the Titans, now 9-5, back in front, but it was 64-64 with 2:43 remaining.

With Fullerton getting one shot and missing, Mark Delsman put the visitors in front to stay at 2:12. It was 68-64 when San Diego went into a freeze and then 70-64. Keith Anderson scored for the losers and then missed a short shot, but a Heenan steal and layup made it 70-68 with 32 seconds to go.

Pressnell Gilbert sank a San Diego foul at 23 seconds and a Shaw goal with 13 seconds left made the score 71-70. Then Dean Decker converted two fouls for his only points at nine seconds to make sure.

"San Diego played very smart ball," said losing coach Bob Dye. "They are a very dangerous team and this was a bad time to catch them with the talent they have.

"It was a game of momentum that changed in the second half and we couldn't stop it. With six minutes left, they were playing to win and we were playing not to lose."

Trailing in rebounds 20-13 at halftime, San Diego came back to win the board battle 40-35 despite 11 for Bunch and Shaw's eight to go with 12 points. The Aztecs had 13 turn-overs to nine for Fullerton while Anderson dominated the assists at nine.

Fullerton made 31 of 69 field attempts with Heenan 9-14 and Bunch 10-17, including two slam dunks. The hosts added eight fouls in 11 tries – all by Bunch. San Diego also had 31 goals while taking 57 shots and added 11 free throws on 17 tries.

SAN DIEGO ST. (73) – Connelly 12, Branch 7, Delsman 4, Gilbert 16, Kramer 18, Krishman 10, Decker 2, Dodd 4.
FULLERTON ST. (70) – Shaw 12, Bunch 28, Davis 2, Anderson 4, Niles 6, Heenan 18.
Fouled out – Niles
Halftime score – Fullerton 34, San Diego 30

NEXT GAMES
SATURDAY (8:00) – Saddleback at Citrus, San Diego at Riverside, Southwestern at Palomar, Chaffey at San Bernardino.

January 15, 1977, will be remembered as a night of upsets in Mission Converence basketball action. Look who is waking up this morning with basketball hangovers?

Defending champion Riverside, heir apparent Saddleback and ambitious Citrus are rubbing their heads in disbelief today following a series of unexpected Saturday night shootouts.

Palomar stunned Saddleback 90-84, San Bernardino reached out of the cellar to shock Riverside 65-58 and Chaffey let out some frustration by upsetting Citrus 95-83. Southwestern's 86-83 win over San Diego City was the only routine affair.

Free throw shooting by Tyrone Davis and a swarming Palomar defense thwarted Saddleback's bid for undisputed first place. The Gauchos saw their last lead (58-56) disappear with 14 minutes left to play as the Comets zoomed to the front and stayed their as Ken Jackson and Donnie Joey found the range.

Davis finished with 31 points, Jackson scored 19 and Joey contributed 14 to overcome the combined 48 point production of Dennis Smith and Tim Shaw of the Gauchos.

Smith's 28 were high for Saddleback, Shaw scored 20 and Buck Dan added 14.

Panthers Win And Set Two Records

REDLANDS – Two Chapman College records fell by the wayside Saturday night and so did the University of Redlands, as Chapman rallied from an early deficit to defeat the Bulldogs, 76-72.

John Johnson finished with 14 assists in the game, breaking a 17-year-old record held by Nash Rivera, now coaching at El Dorado High. The passes were vital to a first half Chapman rally.

The Panthers were outscored by Redlands 10-0 in the first five minutes, but then turned around and outscored the home club 20-2 in the next five minutes, eventually building a 37-33 halftime margin.

Chapman boosted that lead to nine points late in the game, as Guy Kinsley of the Panthers blocked eight shots from his center position. It broke Tom Cook's 1958 single game record of seven in one contest.

Chapman (5-10) is back home Thursday night, hosting Fresno-Pacific at 8 p.m. at Orange High.

CHAPMAN (76) – Bauler 18, Kinsley 12, Newson 6, Johnson 8, Maze 12, Thurman 12, Owen 8.
REDLANDS (72) – Buffum 18, Gregg 1, Sanchez 4, Boyd 4, Jone 4, Russell 8, Haskill 9, Moore 4, Holmes 6, Sly 14.
Halftime – Chapman 37, Redlands 33
Technical foul – Slusher (Chapman).

Anteaters Bow To N. Colorado

Ahead 59-58 with 2:24 to play, UC Irvine dropped a 62-59 home verdict to Northern Colorado Saturday night.

The Anteaters had a 23-18 rebound advantage, but were outshot .571 to .540 in dropping to 6-9 and 5-3 at Crawford Hall with Northridge State to visit Tuesday night.

Lou Stephens scored 19 points and Leo Gonzalez 10 while matching Frank Chandler with six rebounds in defeat as the Division I school made its record 5-9.

Irvine led for the last time before a long jumper by Dwight Montgomery made the score 60-59 with 1:05 to play.

The Anteaters held the ball for a final shot, but Montgomery took the ball away from Brad Carson on an attempt with 10 seconds to play and went the length of the floor for an insurance basket.

UCI held a slim edge early in the second half after trailing 30-29 at intermission. Northern Colorado went in front 48-46 on two Montgomery fouls, but a three-point Chandler play eventually made it 59-58.

Brian Ulver nipped Montgomery for points 15-14, but the latter also totaled eight rebounds, six assists and that big final steal.

N. Colorado (62) – Montgomery 14, Grant 10, Ulmer 15, McGill 6, Hornecker 4, Skinner 4, Neeley 9.
UC Irvine (59) – Jenkins 5, Rodgers 6, Chandler 3, Tivenan 4, Stephens 19, Gonzalez 10, Carson 6, Hair 6.
Halftime – N. Colorado 30-29.

49ers Grab PCAA Lead

SANTA BARBARA – Long Beach State ran its Pacific Coast Athletic Association record to 2-0 Saturday with a 84-72 victory over UC Santa Barbara.

The Victory, combined with San Diego States, 73-70 victory over Fullerton State, gives the 49ers a half game lead over San Jose State and San Deigo, which are both 1-0.

Lloyd McMillian led the Long Beach win with 22 points, whle freshman Micheal Wiley finished with 14 after hitting six of eight from the field and grabbing 10 rebounds.

Dave Brown of Santa Barbara led all scorers with 31 ponts. He hit 12 of eight shots from the field and grabbed 12 rebounds.

Ahoy, Mate! Fights At Sea

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) – Don King launches his U.S. Boxing Championships Tournament today on the aircraft carrier Lexington. Six days later he will become a landlocked promoter again with a George Foreman fight at the Pensacola Municipal Auditorium.

There will be opening quarter-final bouts in six weight classes be on the USS Lexington, anchored at the Pensacola Naval Air Station.

ABC-TV, with Foreman as a commentator, will provide live television coverage of the bouts from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., EST.

Then next Saturday, Foreman, the former heavyweight champion, will be the main attraction on a show televised by CBS when he meets Pedro Agosto of Puerto Rico in a scheduled 10-rounder.

The U.S. Navy says a a non-paying crowd of 3,000 sailors will be on hand for today's six scheduled eight-rounders in the heavyweight, light heavyweight, middleweight, welterweight, lightweight and featherweight divisions.

The feature bout will be between heavyweights Larry Holmes of Easton, Pa., 22-0, with 16 knockouts, and Tom Prater of Indianapolis, 17-3. Holmes is ranked seventh by the World Boxing Association and ninth by the World Boxing Council.

The purpose of the tournament, based on U.S. rankings by The Ring magazine, is to gain recognition for U.S. fighters so they may challenge for world titles. Most world titles now are owned by foreign fighters in the duel title setup established by the WBA and WBC.

Dates for the three other quarter-finals are Feb. 12, March 6 and March 27. Sites are the U.S. Military Academy, the U.S. Naval Academy and the Marion (Ohio) State Correctional Institution. Dates and sites have not been matched.

Each heavyweight will get $15,000 for the quarter-finals and $30,000 for the semis, with $135,000 to the champion and $45,000 for the runner-up. In the light heavyweight, middleweight and welterweight divisions, the purse is $10,000 for each quarter-finalist, $15,000 for each semifinalist, $42,500 for each winner and $22,500 for the runner-up. The purses for the lightweight and featherweight classes are $7,500 apiece for the quarter-finalist and $10,000 each for the semifinalist, with each champion getting $28,000 and the the runners-up $12,000. The total purse is $1.4 million.

Left-handed Bobby Cassidy of Brentwood, N.Y., with a 51-15-3 record, will meet Willie Taylor of New York in the first light heavy quarter-final. Cassidy has fought such good middles and light heavies as Rodrigo Valdez, Gypsy Joe

Huskies Sting Beavers, 90-76

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) – James Edwards contributed 12 points to Washington's scoring dominance in the first 15 minutes of a Pacific-8 basketball game Saturday, and the Huskies beat Oregon State 90-76.

Washington took advantage of poor shooting by the Beavers to take a 39-15 advantage in the 15 minutes before the Beavers outscored the Huskies 18-8 to reduce their disadvantage to 47-33 by halftime.

Two long jump shots by Rocky Smith contributed to 8 unanswered points for Oregon State in the second half, and the Beavers drew to within 8 points at 72-64 with 8:36 left.

Washington is 3-1 in conference play and 11-5 over-all. Oregon State is 2-2 and 8-8.

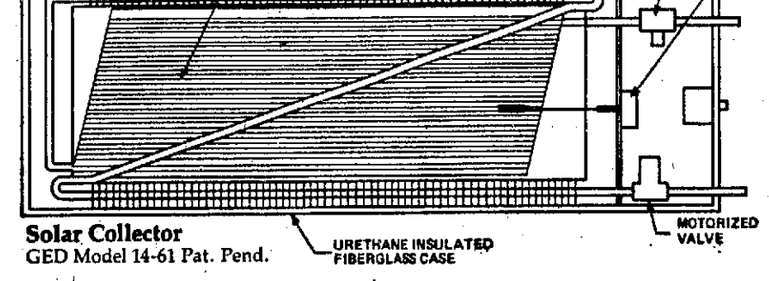
solar energy is here!

Plenty of Hot Water... FREE

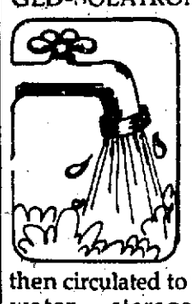


Just imagine . . . all the hot water you'll ever need for bathing, laundry and dishwashing, automatically, with no fuel costs. This can be yours with the GED-SOLATRON® solar energy collector system, the most advanced solar water heating system commercially available anywhere!

Pays for Itself... Automatically

Money saved on your gas power bill can pay for the GED-SOLATRON® water heating system! Approximately 30% of your gas bill goes toward heating water. When you use the limitless energy of the sun to heat water, you'll save as much as 30% of your gas bill and that saving will go on year after year after year.

Quality Components



GED-SOLATRON® units are manufactured by General Energy Devices, Inc., using top quality and thoroughly reliable components such as: solid copper radiant energy collector plates; finned copper ambient air pre-heaters; thermostatic controls; motorized valve; March circulation pump; highly insulated low-loss fibreglass case; and high impact solar glass. The specially developed shatter-proof, one-way solar glass traps 97% of the sun's rays. Thermostatic controls regulate circulation and provide freeze protection. Air in the system is automatically bled by a special valve. No additional components or controls are necessary. No materials that can deteriorate are used.

Solar Collector
GED Model 14-61 Pat. Pend.

Plenty of Hot Water... FREE

That's right . . . all the hot water you need for bathing, laundry and dishwashing . . . automatically. . . absolutely free! The highly efficient GED-SOLATRON® solar energy system captures the free, radiant energy of the sun, absorbs it as heat energy into highly conductive materials that transfer the heat to circulating water. The hot water is then circulated to your existing hot water storage tank. The GED-SOLATRON® system will supply thirty gallons of hot water per hour. Works in any climate on cloudy days.

Space Age Technology

The GED-SOLATRON® system has been researched, developed and refined over the past three years to achieve maximum efficiency at lowest cost from the sun's exposure through the use of space age methods and materials. This is an engineered, tested and proven product.

Lietzke 2-Up At 'Garagiola'

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Hard-hitting Bruce Lietzke, a tour sophomore seeking his first pro title, cut out a solid, two-under-par 70 and expanded his lead to two strokes Saturday in the third round of the $200,000 Joe Garagiola-Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

Lietzke, a 25-year-old Texan who joined the tour in the middle of the 1975 season, put together a three-round total of 206, 10 under par on the bright, green-dyed fairways of the 7,305-yard Tucson National Golf Club course.

He had only a one-stroke advantage when the national television cameras ended their coverage for the day, but Dr. Gil Morgan, a nonpracticing optometrist and his closest competitor, bogeyed the final hole for the second day in a row and dropped back into a tie for second with a couple of the game's more senior citizens, Gene Littler and Billy Casper.

They were at 208. Morgan had a 71, the 46-year-old Littler a 70 and the 45-year-old Casper a 69 despite a double bogey six.

"Some of us old, gray-haired guys can still sneak in there from time to time," said Casper, winner of 51 tour titles. "It's nice to still be able to compete with the young guys."

Another shot back at 209 were Rik Massengale and a pair of former Masters champions, Tommy Aaron and Charles Coody. Massengale shot a 69 in the bright, warm sunshine, Coody had a 71 and Aaron a 67.

Johnny Miller, the current British Open king and the winner of the last three Tucson tournaments, made double bogey six on the first hole he played, had a four-putt double bogey on his third and apparently lost any chance he had of scoring a rare, fourth consecutive title. He rallied with a 32 on his back nine and finished with a 71-215, nine shots back and trailing 42 players.

Ben Crenshaw and Jerry Pate, the U.S. Open champion and a winner last week in Phoenix, had even more problems. Pate went to a 72-217 and Crenshaw was 74-219.

Lietzke, one of the biggest hitters on the tour, toured the longest course the pros play all season without a bogey for the second day in a row.

His only birdie on the front side came on the par five sixth hole. He reached a greenside bunker in two, came out to eight feet and made the putt. It was about that time player after player made a move at him.

Baldwin Wins, Stocks Roar Today At Riverside

RIVERSIDE (AP) – Ivan Baldwin of Modesto, Calif., took up the charge when national champion L.D. Ottinger dropped out, and sped away to an 18-second victory margin in Saturday's season-opening NASCAR Late Model Sportsman race.

Baldwin took the lead for the first time, after 51 of the 72 laps, from James Sanderson of Las Vegas, who finished second.

The 300-kilometer event was the scene-setter for today's $150,000 Western 500 Grand National stock car race.

Ottinger led the race, except after his regular pit stops, until the 49th circuit around the 2.66 mile Riverside International Raceway road course.

Earlier Saturday, Benny Parsons, who was unable to qualify Friday for one of the top 25 positions, averaged 110.891 miles per hour to lead time trials for the final 10 spots in the field.

Parsons had transmission troubles Thursday that led to engine woes the next day.

Cale Yarborough won the pole position Friday at a record speed of 112.686 m.p.h. The race was scheduled for an 11 a.m. PST start.

Spinks, Davis Sharp In Pro Fight Debuts

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Olympic gold medal winners Leon Spinks of St. Louis and Howard Davis of Glen Cove, N.Y., sparkled Saturday in their professional boxing debuts before a national television audience.

Spinks, 23, who won the Olympic light heavyweight title in Montreal, scored a fifth-round technical knockout over Lightning Bob Smith of New York City, and Davis scored an impressive unanimous decision over Jose Resto, also of New York City.

In the featured fight of the afternoon, California state heavyweight champion Howard Smith of Los Angeles picked himself up after a first-round knockdown at the Aladdin Hotel to pound out a unanimous decision over former Golden State champ Henry Clark of San Francisco.

Davis, 20, won every round on all three judges' cards. The classy former New York Golden Gloves champ was moving from start to finish in the six-round event, constantly flicking a stiff left jab into Resto's face.

After the fight, Davis, 134½, said he was not in the best condition he had ever been in, but it was good enough to go six rounds. In the sixth round, he showed that he has already learned endurance, dancing in the Muhammad Ali fashion all the way.

Davis said the biggest difference from the amateur ranks was pacing himself, adding that he never tried to take Resto out even though he tagged him at will. "I wanted to go six rounds for the work," Davis said, admitting that his opponent was never in trouble despite the pummeling.

"If he was, I was not aware of it," he said.

Resto, 135½, has a record of 12-58-7.

He was all over Smith all the way, knocking him down with a hard right in the third and sending him to the canvas again in the fourth round with a pair of hard right hooks followed by a left.

Smith slumped into a corner, but was able to regain his feet by the eight count and the bell ending the round saved him.

events. The mile was supposed to be weak with the pull-out of John Walker of New Zealand and Filbert Bayi of Kenya.

But Paul Cummings, out of Brigham Young University, turned in a new meet record of 3:59.2 to beat strong-finishing Wilson Waigwa of Kenya and Steve Scott of UC Irvine. All three men broke the sub-four-minute barrier, a first in the history of the meet.

In the other key open events Edwin Moses set a new record in the 500 meters, going 56.2 against a field of three other Olympic Gold Medal winners.

In field events Mac Wilkens won the shot put with a 67-9 put. Al Feuerbach and Terry Albritton were second and third while world record holder Alexandir Barishnikoff finished a disappointing fifth.

The pole vault was won by Antti Kalliomaki of Finland in a disappointing 17-6 vault while Rory Kotinek of the Pacific Coast Club won the high jump in only 7-2. Dwight Stones, world record holder in the high jump also went 7-2. Dwight Stones, world record holder in the high jump also went 7-2, but lost on misses.

James Butts of the Tobias Striders set a new meet triple jump mark, going 54-6-1/4.

Sharon Hulse, a freshman at Edison High, turned in the best performance in high school running events. She edged Kelly Wells of Quartz Hill at the wire to win the seeded mile in 5:00.5. It took a strong kick to catch Wells, who led through most of the last lap.

Other Orange County girls who won races during the meet included Lori Blanco of Western, who took the second heat of the 880 and Kim Law of Santa Ana Valley, who won the second heat of the 500 with a 1:10.1 clocking.

Ray Crook of Reno, Nev., set a new mark in the prep pole vault with a 15-6 performance while Rob Olson of Camino Real tied Dwight Stones' prep mark of 6-10 while winning the high jump.

Charlie Christensen of Edison was second in the prep 1,000, going 2:22.5 while Greg Jones of Mission Viejo was second in the prep 500 with a 1:01.1 time.

Joe Staub of Cantwell won the shot put with a 59-8 put, while John Harper of San Clemente and Fred Polley of Sunny Hills were second and third.

The meet drew over 12,000 fans.

Aussies Crazy About Autry Reruns, 'Down Under' Sports

STELLMAN ON SPORTS
by John Stellman

By JOHN STELLMAN

SYDNEY, Australia – "Around The World In 80 Days."

How about halfway around the globe in 17 hours?

It all started with the balloon, but it's the airplane that has shrunk the world.

Air travel has brought this land of kangaroos and boomerangs to within 17 hours of the states.

And television has brought the states to Australia.

"Down Under" they wake up to Gene Autry.

Five mornings a week at the sobering hour of 6 o'clock. "The Cowboy" rides across the plains of America and through the living rooms of Australia.

And because he never loses a fight, a woman, or his hat, his popularity goes unchallenged. While Autry fires bullet after bullet from an endless supply of ammunition in his six-shooter, Sydney's three other stations are firing blanks.

Through the eyes of Australia's youth, it is "The Cowboy," and not his horse, who is the champion.

Yet it is the horse, and not its rider, who commands much of the Australian male's attention.

In what would certainly qualify as one of the bettingest countries in the world, to place a wager goes hand-in-hand with a scooner of beer.

Typical of the pub that dominates much of the way of life here, is to see a bloak with a transistor in one hand, a beer in the other, and his eyes glued to the form charts.

Ernie Mason would have a field day.

Racing – in any way, shape or form – is so prominent that the newspapers publish special sections which are inserted into their sports pages.

Thoroughbreds, the trots, dogs, you name it, you can bet on it.

Radio stations carry live racing all day long, switching back and forth, from track to track and city to city, in a very nonchalant manner.

It would be similar to a Southern California station dividing its time between Bay Meadows, Santa Anita and Del Mar.

At the TAB, where the wagers are placed, die-hards spend the day combing the charts, placing bets and listening to the results.

Minimum bet is $0.50, which probably explains why most dedicated Australian gamblers would wager on anything – assuming of course, they were able to obtain favorable odds.

Lotteries are equally awesome, both in prize money and daily revenue.

For a $10 chance, you might strike it rich – the $200,000 Opera House Lottery.

Aussies like to take a chance, but they also like their heroes.

They follow their teams and can recite statistics of their superstars, just like fans all over America.

In Manly for instance, where they still savor the grand finale their Rugby Leaguers won last year, the citizenry is upset over the departure of superstar Bobby Fulton, whose skills would be comparable to those of O. J. Simpson.

Fulton, however, came to a financial impasse and Manly was forced to sell him to Eastern Suburbs.

With the gridiron season right around the corner, Fulton won't be welcomed with open arms when he returns to the Brookvale Oval.

Cricketeers, too, command much of the spotlight.

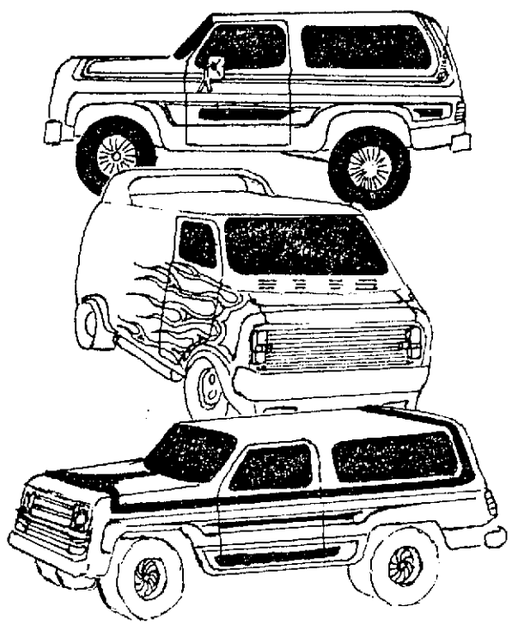
When the Australia National team was unable to win the first of three tests against Pakistan, Sydney newspapers covering the event literally butchered their favorites.

Although somewhat comparable to baseball, it takes five days to play two innings, that sometimes fails to produce a winner.

In that first test, which was played at Melbourne, the result was a draw.

Five days to a no-decision?

Still, they'll sit and watch, all day. If not in person then in front of a television set.



Cricket tests and tennis matches are televised live from dawn to dusk.

English soccer matches reach the continent via tape adn are telecast on a delayed basis.

But when the English and Australian teams meet, everything else – politics, crime, the country's economy – has to occupy a back seat.

OAKWOOD

Some people say you get what you pay for! At Oakwood, you get more. And the price is less. Much less. When you consider the benefits: Membership in a Health Club. A Tennis Club. Free Tennis Lessons. Unlimited use of Billiards and the Golf Driving Range. Free Sunday brunch...every Sunday. At Oakwood, there is NO charge. For these or any of the other great facilities (swimming, saunas, jacuzzis, color TV theatre, private party room).

You pay only a modest sum for your beautiful apartment. In return, you get the finest recreational facilities and activity program in town. Sunday BBQs. Parties with live bands. Trips. Sports tournaments.

Your rent dollars go even further because of the many intangibles: A terrific maintenance crew. A professional management staff that cares. Interesting, friendly neighbors. But don't take our word for it. Come out and see our beautiful model apartments any day between 10 and 7. (Sorry, no one under 21 and no pets.) Move to Oakwood and learn to stretch your rental dollars.

a shock because he never sleeps late but I clambered out of bed to check on him. What do you think? He had gone into the living room and had turned on the television. What was Jason watching? So help me, he had on an old Gene Autry movie." Jason has climbed on the Angels' bandwagon at a tender age....

Behind the scenery: Nancy Lopez, current U.S. women's amateur golf champion, was seen hitting shots on the tricky Los Alamitos Golf Club course Friday. She's in our midst to prepare for the upcoming Bing Crosby Pro-Am, scheduled at Pebble Beach Thursday through Sunday. Nancy is the first ever invited to the Crosby Clambake.

'Unknown' Wins Alameda Title

ALAMEDA (AP) – Steve Jones strung together six straight strikes in his final game against Marshall Holman and won his first tournament on the Professional Bowlers Association tour Saturday.

Jones, a virtual unknown from Independence, Mo., came out a 244-210 winner over Holman, a PBA star from Medford, Ore. Jones trailed by 21 pins in the fourth frame before starting his string of strikes.

Jones earned $8,000 for his victory and Holman, also runner-up a week earlier in the first PBA event of the year, received $5,000.

Holman had advanced to the finals by beating Palmer Fallgren, 244-222, then defeating George Pappas 278-226 before edging Mark Roth by a 239-231 score. Jones was top seeded among the five finalists.

The sponsoring Ford Motor Co. also gave Jones the use of a van for one year after he claimed the title in Saturday's nationally-televised finals.

Stars Tie Bruins

BOSTON (AP) – Rookie center Glen Sharpley scored his 16th and 17th goals of the season Saturday as the Minnesota North Stars hung on for a 3-3 National Hockey League tie with the Boston Bruins.

The North Stars, who have never won here, earned their sixth tie in 25 appearances at Boston Garden on a third-period goal by Ernie Hicke just 37 seconds after rookie Matti Hagman had put Boston in front 3-2.

Thai Boxer Wins Tough Title Bout

CHIANG MAI, Thailand (AP) – Saensak Muangsurin of Thailand survived a third-round knock down and scored a 15th-round technical knockout over Monroe Brooks Saturday to retain his World Boxing Council junior welterweight title.

Saensak, 24, who won the title a year ago by beating Spain's Miguel Velasquez, took the initiative from Brooks after the early rounds and knocked the American down in the 14th and 15th rounds.

Referee Marcello Bertini of Italy stopped the fight at 1:55 of the last round when Brooks, rising from the canvas, was battered again by Saensak. Brooks, who had been undefeated, was bleeding from the nose, and a trickle of blood oozed from his mouth.

Brooks, 23, from Los Angeles and Wichita Falls, Tex., began the fight aggressively, but in the middle rounds Saensak's strength and reach began to take their toll. The end came after a series of brutal left hooks.

Despite the injuries, Brooks blew kisses to the capacity crowd of 25,000 in this northern Thai city and then a gave a "wai" – the traditional Thai sign of greeting – to Crown Prince Vajiralongkorn, who was among the spectators.

Although there was a great deal of national sentiment behind Saensak, Brooks captured local headlines and some fan enthusiasm with his charm and Muhammad Ali style antics prior to the bout.

Saensak, who fought 58 Thai-style bouts where kicking and elbowing is allowed before turning conventional, now has seven victories and one loss – on a foul – while Brooks has 39 victories, 19 by knockout, two draws and one loss. Both fighters weighed 139½, one half pound below the limit.

"I am very glad to have won the fight," Saensak said. "I want to offer myself to the Thai people ...."

Saensak first drew blood from Brooks' nose in the second round, and by the 13th round, the challenger was in difficulty.

Saensak got in a sharp left hook to Brooks's face in the 14th round and Brooks went down for an eight count, his head protruding outside the ring.

A confident Saensak, who remained standing between rounds, unleashed a series of right jabs followed by a left to the face which dropped Brooks briefly, his head again sticking out beyond the ropes. Brooks got up and was hit with several lefts before the bout was stopped.

Blalock Wins Golf

PALM SPRINGS (AP) – Jane Blalock shook off a bogey when she went into the bunker on the 15th and settled down to stroke a one-under 71 and capture the Triple Crown golf tournament Saturday at Mission Hills Country Club in Rancho Mirage.

Withstanding pressure applied by Jan Stephenson with whom she was paired, and Donna Young who played two holes ahead of her, Miss Blalock played steady golf to rack up back-to-back championships in the two-day 36-hole tourney.

The tournament features the 10 top golfers who competed in three Ladies Professional Golf Association events sponsored by the Colgate-Palmolive Co. in 1976.

The event also opened the 1977 LPGA tour.

First prize of the $50,000 event was $15,000 and a 1977 Chrysler station wagon which Miss Blalock gave to a friend. Her scores were 72-71 – 143.

In second place was Miss Stephenson, who stroked a 74-70 – 144 and Miss Young who had 76-68 – 144.

Mrs. Young's 68 was the lowest round in the event. Miss Blalock, whose mother, father and brother Jim, 22, from her home in Highland Beach, Fla., followed her, had a two-stroke lead after Friday's round. Miss Stephenson and JoAnne Carner were two strokes back in second.

Turning the corner with a 34, Miss Blalock was still two strokes ahead. But Mrs. Young, who started the day four strokes back, rattled off three birdies on the front nine, then birdied 10, 11 and 3 to pull within one stroke of Miss Blalock.

Mrs. Young, however, bogeyed the 14th and wound up with a 68 when Miss Blalock bogeyed the 15th.

Final results of the Triple Crown:
Jane Blalock, 72-71 143, $15,000.
Jan Stephenson, 74-70 144, $8,750, and Donna Young, 76-68 144, $8,750.
Judy Rankin, 76-69 145, $4,250, and JoAnne Carner, 74-71 145, $4,250.
Sandra Palmer 78-69 147, $2,500.
Chako Higuchi, 79-77 152, $2,000.
Kathy Whitworth, 76-77 153, $1,500.
Pat Bradley 74-76 150, $1,000.
Amy Alcott, 77-82 159, $1,000.

La Habra, Sonora Hockey Girls Win

Orange League powers La Habra High and Sonora, seeded one-two in the CIF girls' field hockey playoffs, advanced to the semifinals of the tournament Saturday morning.

La Habra took its second straight match on penetration time after tying Edison, 1-1, while Sonora, the defending CIF champion, blanked Foothill, 2-0.

In other quarterfinal action, Colton upset third-seeded University, 2-1, and Charter Oak handled Garden Grove, 3-9.

The semifinals will be held on Tuesday with the finals at Golden West College on Saturday.

Kathy Vigil scored a goal in each period to lead Sonora (10-0-1) to its win. Debbie Neff recorded her second straight playoff shutout while Val Uken also had a good game, according to Sonora head coach Ginny Dottl.

Shelly Holman scored for Edison but La Habra tied the contest on a free kick and then won the game on penetration time.

Although entering the playoffs as the top-seeded team, La Habra defeated Claremont on penetration time in the opening round after the two teams had battled to a scoreless tie. La Habra and Sonora also played to a scoreless tie in Orange League action.

Sue Walker gave University a 1-0 halftime lead but Colton bounced back with a pair of goals in the second half to pull out the win.

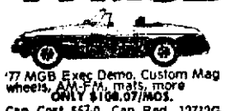
WHA Ponders Loss Of Saints

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) – The folding of the Minnesota Fighting Saints franchise and the dispersal of the team's players will be the top priority item before the World Hockey Association's Board of Trustees here as it gathers for meetings Tuesday.

The Minnesota franchise, which was moved from Cleveland before the 1976-77 season began, has folded, according to New England Whalers Managing General Partner Howard Baldwin. "Oh yeah. They're through," Baldwin said. But there remains a controversy over the future of the team's players and an uneasy situation regarding Tuesday's All-Star game.



Before the Fighting Saints announced Friday night that they were suspending operation for two games, they revealed the sale of seven of their top players to the Edmonton Oilers. Among them were center Dave Keon and goalie Lou Levasseur, who had been named to the East Division all-stars.

Their sale to Edmonton would put them in the West Division, however, leaving East Division Coach Jacques Demers two players short for Tuesday night's All-Star game. Demers, who coaches the Indianapolis Racers said Saturday he might replace Levasseur with his own goalie, Michel Dion.

That situation will be clarified Tuesday, however, when the Board of Trustees meets here to decide the legality of Minnesota's controversial sale of its seven players. The others sold were defenseman Bill Butters and forwards John McKenzie, Mike Antonovich, and Steve and Jack Carlson. But neither WHA Chief Executive Ben Hatskin nor league President Bill MacFarland has approved the deal.

The Whalers have protested the sale, claiming that after Edmonton purchased the athletes, they had asked New England if it was interested in the Carlson brothers.

Everything Ready At Irvine Coast

By ART PARRA

Irvine Coast Country Club is ready...and 72 amateur players are marking time. The only items needed to get the third annual Bing Crosby-Southern under way next Friday will be 72 professional players from the PGA Tour. It is a 36-hole event, closing Saturday.

This list will not be completed until late Monday night following final qualifications for the Monterey Peninsula event conducted by "Der Bingle".

When all exempt PGA players are counted along with those making the field through qualifications, the balance are eligible for the Crosby satellite. Then it becomes a matter of sifting out the eligible field to determine just "who" will make the trek south for a potential winning purse of $2000 or a part of the $10,000 being offered.

Officials for the local classic are hoping all pairings can be completed Tuesday night. According to a source close to the tournament picture, this will probably be the final tournament held here in conjunction with the Crosby Clambake. Various reasons were given for the potential demise. Lack of interest by touring professionals was the predominate.

The Crosby Southern is sponsored by the 552 Club of Hoag Hospital with proceeds from the event being used to purchase vitally needed equipment.

Tickets are now on sale, $2 each day (Friday and Saturday), at Irvine Coast Country Club, Bank of Newport, American State Bank, Balboa Bay Club and Hoag Hospital in Costa Mesa. Tournament details can be secured by phoning 642-1463.

Desert Classic Near

The Bob Hope Dessert Classic (Feb. 9-13) is drawing more than a fair share of internationally known headliners for the 4-day amateur show. Bob Hope tops the list, of course, but Jackie Gleason, Flip Wilson, Evel Knievel, Greg Morris, Lawrence Welk, Joe Gargiola, Bear Bryant, Andy Williams and Jack Lemon are but a few of his supporting cast. And, President Gerald Ford will be in the lineup come tournament day.

Judy Rankin capped her record-setting year by being named LPGA Player of the Year. Everyone knows that...but, how about Bonnie Lauer getting Rookie of the Year honors. Pat Bradley Most Improved of the Year and Marge Burns "Teacher of the Year."

The National Association of Amateur Golf, Inc. has a tournament slated for Saturday at the San Luis Rey Country Club near Fallbrook. The Anaheim based organization has four other events on the books. Murrieta Country Club (Jan. 29th); Gillman Hot Springs CC (Feb. 5); Quail Lake Country Club (Feb. 9) and Mission Viejo CC (Feb. 14). Entry fees run from $22 (Gillman) to $29 (Mission Viejo) which includes green fees, cart and prize fund.

Bert's Boys Gather

River View Golf Course in Santa Ana will be bustling with muscle Wednesday when approximately 70 professional basketball and football players gather.

The occasion is the Bert Blyleven Invitational Tournament, a charity affair benefiting the Santiago High School baseball program and Garden Grove Boy's Club. Blyleven was a star pitcher for the Santiago Cavaliers before being drafted by the Minnesota Twins. His move from the High school diamond to the big leagues was meteoric.

The tournament will begin at 11:30 sharp when Blyleven steps to the first tee with a shotgun. With the report from the gun, 144 players will begin play on all 18 tees. The tournament will be climaxed by an award dinner being held at Blyleven's restaurant (The Villa) in Santa Ana.

Chris Vs. Court For Singles Title

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) – Margaret Court, making a new comeback attempt at age 34, stopped Virginia Wade in straight sets Saturday to move into the finals against Chris Evert in a $100,000 tennis tournament here.

The Australian mother of two beat the second-seeded British veteran 6-4, 7-6, taking the second-set tiebreaker 5-3.

Top-seeded Miss Evert downed Sue Barker 6-2, 6-4 and will meet Mrs. Court today with a $20,000 first-place check at stake.

"Margaret served quite well today," said Miss Wade, 31. "Her ground strokes were much better than in the beginning of the week."

TURNING POINT – Once trends are established, they often are difficult to revise, and if Santa Anita is to enjoy as successful a meeting as originally hoped, the average daily attendance will have to pick up dramatically this week and next.

Through the first 13 days of racing, Santa Anita was down more than 72,000 customers from a comparable figure last year, which amounts roughly to an eight per cent decrease. Part of the blame on the slow start can be attributed to bad weather, which cost the track early season momentum. Last Saturday, however, with nothing attractive on television, with beautiful weather, and with no racing the following day to siphon any Saturday fans, Santa Anita attracted only 36,329, when it figured to draw at least 40,000.

Part of the blame for the slow start may be that although the quality of horse is better here than at any other track currently in operation, the "big horse" or super star has not yet surfaced. And the situation doesn't figure to improve until King Pellinore makes his seasonal debut, probably in the San Antonio Handicap Feb. 20.

SUCKER PLAY – Everybody knows future book betting is a ripoff, although it would be difficult to convince Raymond Guest of that fact. Guest was the fellow who owned enough insignt to wager 1,000 pounds of English money (about $2,800 in American green) that his colt, while still a yearling and with the race two years away, would win the famed English Derby.

Guest was given 100-1 odds, although the actual chance of any one yearling colt starting in a race two years later probably is at least five, maybe 10 times that great. Anyway, as Guest's luck would have it, the colt named Sir Ivor, managed to win the 1968 Derby and thus rewarded his owner with $280,000 of English bookmakers' money.

Don't expect that to happen to you, even if you're taken by the future book fever and find it necessary to drive 140 miles south to Caliente to place a wager on the Santa Anita Handicap. Without knowing how the horses will come up to the Big 'Cap, or even if they'll run in the race seven weeks hence, Caliente is offering such "generous" odds as 3-1 on King Pellinore; 5-1 on L'Heureux; 6-1 on Ancient Title and Great Contractor; 7-1 on Riot in Paris; and 8-1 on Life's Hope.

Of course, if you bet on say, King Pellinore, and he doesn't make it to the post, don't expect to get your money back. That's the chance you take in return for receiving a break in the odds. Or, at least, that's what all future book operators want their customers to believe.

WHAT QUALIFICATIONS – For the third-straight year racing fans will be able to determine the recipient of the Santa Anita-sponsored George Woolf Memorial Award, thoroughbred racing's most cherished trophy for riders. A list of five "qualified" jockeys was submitted by a groups of turf experts, who came up with Darrel McHargue, Frank Olivares, Ron Turcotte, Chris McCarron, Jorge Tejeira and Robyn Smith. Olivares, Ron Turcotte, Chris McCarron, , Jorge Tejeira and Robyn Smith.

If past performance means anything in the Woolf Award race, Turcotte, McCarron and Tejeira have virtually no chance of winning. Only once in the past 15 years – when Braulio Baeza won in 1968 – has a jockey who was not campaigning at Santa Anita at the time been named the victor.

That boils the race down to McHargue, Olivares and Miss Smith. McHargue, who'll probably win it, ranks among the top riders in America, while Olivares, a hard-working lad, has improved dramatically in recent seasons while not yet attaining star status.

How Miss Smith qualifies to be among the finalists in the Woolf Award contest is, well, open for debate.

Reportedly included on the nomination list at the insistence of one downtown Los Angeles turf writer-handicapper, Miss Smith certainly ranks as the most successful female jockey. But to place her on the same pedestal with the Shoemakers, Longdens, Arcaros, Hawleys and Pincays would be absurd.

Robyn Smith is not a great rider. To say she's good would be stretching the point. To say she's competent would be more like it. And, to say that, because she's riding locally and because she's a woman, she'll earn more votes than McCarron, an Eclipse Award winner, or Turcotte, a Triple Crown hero, probably would be accurate.

EXPERIMENTAL WEIGHTS – What would happen if there was, say, a million dollar race for newly turned three-year-olds next week, to be run under handicap conditions at one mile and one-sixteenth, and 228 of the best sophomores in the nation were nominated? How would one of America's most respected racing secretaries grade the nominees with respect to weight?

Each January, since 1933, the Jockey Club has commissioned a top turf authority – this year Tommy Trotter of the N.Y.R.A. – to compose the weights for the mythical Experimental Handicap, which serves as a measuring stick to compare last year's top juveniles with other great two-year-olds of previous years.

This year's high weight went to Seattle Slew, who was assigned 126 pounds to 125 for runners-up Royal Ski and Run Dusty Run. Local horses to be weighted included Visible (121), Any Time Girl (115 plus a five pound sex allowance for an actual (120), and Habitony (119).

In listing Seattle Slew at 126, Trotter has weighted him equally with such previous champions as Citation (1947), Tom Fool (1951) Never Bend (1962), Buckpasser (1965) and Riva Ridge (1971). The highest weighted colt was Count Fleet (1942), who was assigned 132 pounds. Secretariat, by the way, topped the '72 roster at 129.

Wily Shoemaker Guides Smasher To Stakes Win

ARCADIA (AP) – Wily veteran Bill Shoemaker kept his mount at the back of the pack for most of the race, then deftly guided Smasher through the jam and to a two-length victory Saturday in the $44,450 San Miguel Stakes at Santa Anita.

Smasher, second choice in the wagering, covered the six-furlongs in 1:10 1-5 in the test for 3-year-olds Derby hopefuls. The winner returned $9.80, $5.40 and $2.10.

Smasher, carrying 114 pounds, was tucked in behind his five competitors as they set a torrid pace out of the gate. But the others spread across the track in a mad scramble for first in the homestretch, and Shoemaker threaded Smasher through the crowd and to the front.

Mr. Condifence, with Ken Skinner aboard, finished second, 2½ lengths ahead of Replant, with Fernando Toro up. Mr. Confidence returned $7.20 and $2.10, and the Elmendorf entry of Replant and Text paid $2.10 to show.

The victory in the feature race was one of three Saturday for Shoemaker. Earlier in the afternoon he showed off another promising 3-year-old when he rode Yack Yack to a 1:10 2-5 six furlong victory in the sixth race.

Then Shoemaker, second in the Santa Anita jockey standings behind Laffit Pincay Jr.'s 29 winners, logged his 18th triumph of the meet with a victory aboard Nigretas Plesure in the ninth race.

Teenage Jockey Makes History

NEW YORK (AP) – Apprentice jockey Steve Cauthen made thoroughbred racing history at Aqueduct Saturday when he rode five winners, including Illiterate in the $54,100 Interborough Handicap, setting an all-time record of 23 winners for one week.

The 16-year-old rider from Walton, Ky., equalled the record of 22 set a year ago by Angel Cordero, Jr., when he scored with Illiterate. Then, he broke the record in the ninth and last race of the day, when he won with Amerongo, the 2-1 favorite.

Cauthen started his streak last Monday with two winners. He had a triple on Tuesday, five winners on Wednesday, another triple on Thursday, and five winners on Friday.

The 23 winners for one week included a string of 18 in four days, matching the record of Bobby Permane at Tropical Park 32 years ago.

J.O. Tobin At Santa Anita

El Peco Ranch's J.O. Tobin, acclaimed England's outstanding two-year-old of 1976 and accorded 133 pounds on the English equivalent of the free handicap for his division, arrived at Santa Anita Friday from owner George Pope's Madera farm.

The son of Never Bend was unbeaten in three starts in England, including a triumph in the prestigious Champagne Stakes before suffering his lone career setback in France. The colt has been at Pope's farm near San Francisco since late fall.

Major objective for J.O. Tobin will be the $150,000-added Santa Anita Derby on March 27.

D.J. Foster's Big Destiny, hero of a division of last season's La Brea stakes, has returned to training for trainer J.C. Newsom and will likely make his 1977 debut within the next month at Santa Anita.

The son of Power of Destiny was preparing for a start in the $100,000-added cornhusker when he sustained a hairline fracture of the cannon bone and fractured sesamoid simultaneously in a training mishap. Remarkable, after surgery to insert a pin in the sesamoid, the colt is back in action at Hollywood Park where he is stabled.

Big Destiny's 1976 campaign included a stakes win in the Dominion Handicap at Woodbine over Canadian horse-of-the-year Victorian Prince and near misses to George Navonod in Santa Anita's El Monte Handicap and Ancient Title in Hollywood Park's Caballero Handicap.

My Juliet, 5 Others In 'San Carlos'

Eclipse Award champion sprinter My Juliet, heroine of the Las Flores Handicap in her seasonal debut, carries high weight of 123 pounds when she faces B.J. Ridder's Messenger of Song and six other contentious horses in the $57,050 San Carlos Handicap, to be conducted today at seven-furlongs at Santa Anita.

Owned by George Weasel, My Juliet sprinted to major stakes victories in the east last season, her most impressive win coming at the expense of Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes hero Bold Forbes in the Vosburgh Handicap. On Jan. 1, the daughter of Gallant Rome scored in the Las Flores while shouldering a career high stakes-record high of 12 pounds, the weight which she will be carrying on the score in today's headliner. Her regular rider, Tony Black, will be up.

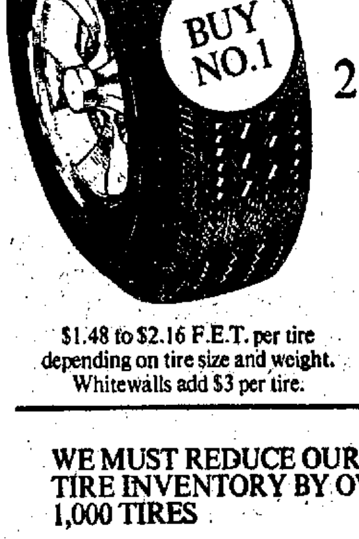
Voted the top sprinter here last season, Messenger of Song finished unplaced to Maheras in the opening day Palos Verdes Handicap after being away from the races since February. Last winter he captured the opening day stakes event and came back to down Avatar in the San Fernando several weeks later.

Also making a comeback is E.E. Fogelson's Thermal Energy, who finished fifth in an allowance sprint on Jan. 7 after being away since last February.

Buzzer Shot Lifts Deacons

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) – Rod Griffin's 22-foot jump shot with one second remaining in the game gave Wake Forest an 8482 come-from-behind victory over Clemson in a regionally-televised Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game Saturday.

Griffin's basket gave the seventh-ranked Demon Deacons their only lead of the second half as Clemson led by as many as 13 points with 11:23 remaining.



In fact, it was two free throws by Griffin with 2:57 remaining which tied the game at 82-all.

Clemson, ranked 17th, failed to score in the final 3:49 of the game when Wayne "Tree" Rollins picked up his fifth foul after putting on a brilliant display of shooting and rebounding.

Bowling Along

Bowling Derelict At Instruction

One thing the bowling industry never seems to supply enough of in recent years is bowling instruction.

Years ago there used to be quire a few classes for beginners, with occasional sessions for juniors, and there usually was a professional instructor on staff to provide personalized lessons to intermediate players. There isn't as much emphasis on instruction lately, probably because most bowling lanes are quite full with leagues and open play these days.

But the need for insturction is still here. There are youngsters and adults still seeking to learn the game and there are others wishing to improve their score. It's evident in the fact that the Professional Bowlers' book, "Guide to Better Bowling," published by Simon and Schuster, is now in its fifth printing, having sold more than 35,000 copies.

The book, authored by Chuck Pezzano, veteran bowling writer, features tips from gerat bowlers along with just about everything any bowler would want to know about the sport. The 224-page book is available in both soft cover and hard cover through book stores or the BPA.

Another recently published book that is also well written and illustrated is "Par Bowling" by Thomas C. Kouros, published by Progressive Bowling Development, Palatine, Ill. The 236-page book has more than 75 diagrams, charts and illustrations which help the text.

Kouros has been associated with bowling for over 30 years as a proprietor, instructor, promoter and classic league bowler. During a 20-year period, he conducted studies on the sport and consulted with leading pros and instructors. He formerly taught bowling instruction at the University of Illinois, De Paul University and bowling centers in the Chicago area.

Although the book uses a highly scientific method to bowl better, it is easy to read and understand. It is detailed. For example, more than 30 pages are devoted to the proper approach. It explains how to turn, lift, line bowl, stroke, swing, grip, release, etc. Kouros goes into how to correct and compensate when everything seems to go wrong.

The book is available through some bowling center pro shops.

Alan Post, founder and publisher of the Pacific Bowler, a weekly tabloid newspaper headquartered in Garden Grove, has sold the publication to his editor, Joe Lyou, who is now both the publisher and editor. Starting as the Orange County Bowler on Jan 3, 1962, Post's tabloid has grown steadily during the past 15 years, adding more news, advertisers and pages. The newspaper has played a significant role in development of Orange County as a leading bowling area. In recent years, the newspaper expanded to all Southern California. Lyou is a seasoned newspaperman, formerly bowling editor of the defunct Los Angles Mirror. He knows the bowling business quite well, having also served as a salesman for AMF. Post said he will continue to write his "Post-Time" column on a twice-per-month basis and maintain his office next door to the newspaper, where he runs a print show serving the bowling industry.

Earl Anthony's $10,000 title win the PBA's Lite Classic at Gable House Bowl, Torrance, was his 27th PBA tournament triumph. No other BPA bowler has won as many titles, but he trails Dick Weber in all-time earnings by some $44,000. Dr. Farrell Hinkle, the Santa Ana practicing orthodontist, finished fourth, earning $3,500. Qualifying leader Kevin Gannon of Long Beach won $2,400 for eighth place. Butch Soper of Santa Ana earned $1,250 for 16th place and added $100 for his 300 game. Garden Grove's Butch Smith won $1,250 for 19th place.

Angels Sign No. 1 Draft

Pitcher Robert Healy, the California Angels' No. 1 selection in the secondary phase of Tuesday's winter baseball darft, has signed a contract with the club's Quad Cities team in the Midwest League.

Healy, a six-two 200-pounder from Meramec Community College in St. Louis, Mo. was recommended by eastern states scouting supervisor Walter Youse and signed by midwest scouting supervisor Nick Kamzic.

"Healy has one of the better arms available in the draft," said scouting director Walter Shannon. "We're very pleased we were able to sign him."

Healy, 19, attracted attention with a strong performance in a Johnstown, Pa tournament and an all-Missouri JCAC berth. He currently is a member of the Meramec basketball team but will report to spring training in Holtville in March.

County Nines Busy Today

Southern California Baseball Assn. action resumes this afternoon with three games involving county teams taking place. Two will be traveling and one gets a home assignment.

Blas Marron's torrid La Fonda Stars host the San Francisco Giant Rookies at Villa Park High School.

Traveling will be the Placentia Merchants and Irvine Lions.

Placentia goes to the Sawtelle Veterans Administration diamond in West Los Angeles for a game against the Sawtelle Angels.

Irvine plays the Van Nuys Rockets at the Van Nuys City Park. All games are at 1 o'clock.

By The Associated Press

Here are some notable quotes from the sports world over the past week:

"Let's see – we've lost to Kansas City, Miami, Pittsburgh and Oakland. I guess we're going to have to keep looking for an AFC team we can beat." – Minnesota quarterback Fran Tarkenton after the Vikings lost their fourth Super Bowl.

"His not being here is like a slap in the face to every player taking part in this game." – St. Louis quarterback Jim Hart commenting on Tarkenton's decision to bypass the Pro Bowl.

"His excuses are wearing a little thin, don't you think? I think what he's doing is disgraceful." – Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach, also commenting on Tarkenton's absence from the Pro Bowl.

"My leg doesn't hurt, but they gave me a big scare in the Garmisch hospital. The German doctors said, 'We'll have to operate and put a screw into the bone.' I turned to the team doctor and said, 'Let's go, doc. I don't want any screw in my ankle.'" – Olympic bronze medalist Cindy Nelson after she broke an ankle in a downhill ski race at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, West Germany.

"I'm really kind of stunned. I don't know what's happened to her. If this is the Dorothy Hamill that she really is, I'm sorry Dianne de Leeuw didn't win the Olympics." – Skating coach Carlo Fassi who is suing Miss Hamill and her parents for $96,000 he claims they owe him for past lessons.

"My shooting was terrible, my timing was shabby and I ran out of breath at the end." – Center Dave Cowens after his first practice session since returning to the Boston Celtics after a two-month layoff.

"I've been involved in amateur athletics too long in this country to be optimistic." – Former Olympic sprint star Willye White reacting to wide-ranging recommendations for regulating amateur athletics by the President's Commission on Olympic Sports.

Palomino Bout Time 6:30

Olympic Auditorium boxing promoter Aileen Eaton has changed the starting time of next Saturday's world welterweight boxing card to 6:30.

"The fight is going to be televised to Mexico and now we are going to begin at 6:30 with a prelim match. I want the people to disregard the 8 o'clock time... it's 6:30."

The official weigh-in will be shown on home television.

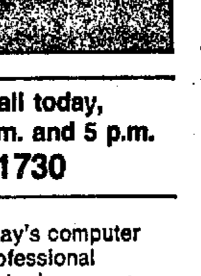
TOP INCOME & BENEFITS
The Ortho Sales Team is elite by any standards—performance or rewards. Joining us will bring you a top salary, a regular bonus program based on both personal and divisional achievement, all major benefits, a car for personal as well as business use. Plus free stock of our well known parent company, Johnson & Johnson, for those who qualify.

TOP CAREER GROWTH
Our established leadership, success and steady expansion gives you room to grow. Our clear policy of promotion from within—based on performance, and performance alone—gives you the opportunity. If you want to know how far a sales position can take you at Ortho, our President, our Board Chairman and more than 50 other top executives who started in sales can tell you!



TOP PROFESSIONAL STATURE
As the link between Ortho and the medical community, you will have an honorable, challenging career that combines dignity and recognition with financial satisfaction. To qualify, you should have a college degree plus some experience, or in-depth experience equivalent to a degree. Experience may be in sales, the armed forces or other responsible positions that clearly indicate your personal caliber and ambition. Training at full pay provided.

We have immediate openings in Fullerton, Orange County & other California markets if relocation is desired.

A successful career in today's computer field requires the same professional planning you'd use in developing a new program or system. Each step must be carefully planned to make sure you reach your career objectives on time while avoiding costly sidetracks. That's where the computer professionals at Source Edp and their new report, the 1977 Computer Salary Survey, can help.
This authoritive and up-to-the-minute report will allow you to compare your compensation directly with professionals across the country performing the same duties you perform. It also examines in detail the strategies and techniques thousands of successful computer professionals have used to enhance their careers. After fifteen years of experience, Source Edp knows how you can gain broader professional exposure, maximize your compensation and break into management.
It's all in Source Edp's new 1977 Computer Salary Survey and career planning guide. For your free copy:

in Woodbridge.
Woodbridge Pines Apartments may be the best-kept secret in this season's residential best seller, the Village of Woodbridge. And this rustic apartment community isn't easy to get to right now, either, with all the village construction going on.
But these one-, two-, and three-bedroom units, designed like early California bungalows, are well worth the effort. There are cozy built-ins, Fireplaces, Patios and balconies. Lots and lots of style. Plus all the wide-open village recreation and other goodness of Orange County's most exciting new place to live.
Follow our map. With determination. And visit soon. Before we're all taken, too.
